CITIZENS SOUGHT FOR HALL STUDY

Editor's Column

STUART R. PADDOCK

We have followed General Sherman's March to the Sea - only in reverse. We started at Savannah and went backwards to Atlanta.

We stopped at every bronze marker along the roadside to read the story of Confederate and Union armies. We have become very much interested in the story of the fall of Atlanta and the capture and destruction of town after town by Sherman.

We have come to believe that the Southerner of today gets as big a kick out of their defeat in 1865 as do the Yankee school children of today, when they read the story of that march that brought about the defeat of the South.

Southerners, from cab drivers to waitresses, seem to delight in kidding the Yankee visitors, but we notice they like the money the Northerners bring to town.

Steaks on a menu carried this announcement, "rare, medium, well done, or Sherman-ized-burnt to a crisp."

The Northerners get as much enjoyment out of the kidding they receive as the Southerners who do it.

It was 100 years ago that Lincoln became a candidate for the presidency. Starting last month the Atlanta Journal began a Sunday feature page about events leading to the Civil War. It is their intention to continue the story for five years.

A special eight page edition was printed for the editors attending their national convention this week.

We are passing on to our readers one of the stories told by a southern speaker at our convention today which explains why Lee surrendered at Appomattox:

"When Lee saw Grant approaching he noticed that Grant was not carrying a sword. As a southern gentleman he offered his own sword to Grant. Of course, southern chivalry prevented Lee from asking Grant to return the sword."

The greatest war cyclorama in existence today is visual story of the fall of Atlanta that is visited by hundreds every day.

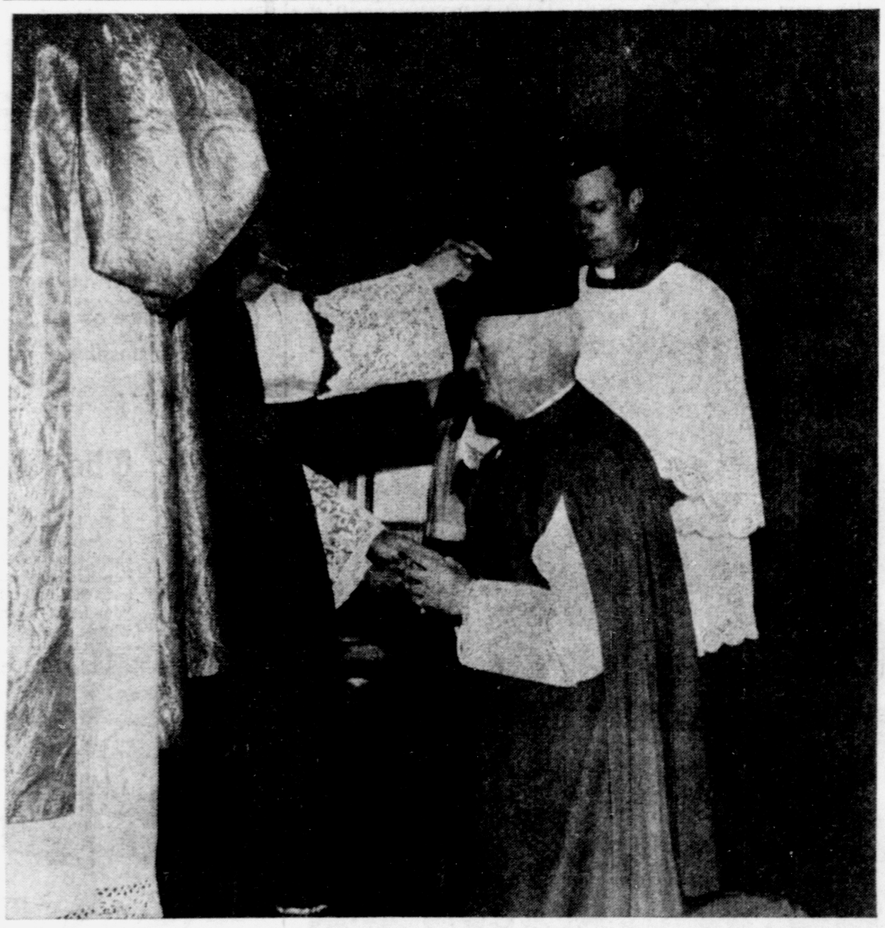
After seeing it and listening to the lecture we appreciate the truth of the words of Sherman that "war is hell."

The horrors depicted by the cyclorama is far better food for the youngster of today than the ones being shown on TV and we believe just as "satisfying" to a red blooded boy.

We leave tomorrow morning on a tour of Georgia and we expect to see the best and the worst of this state.

The mayor of Atlanta and Governor of Georgia welcomed the editors and painted pictures of the greatness of the state that we took with a grain of salt until we have a chance to see for ourselves.

General Sherman may have burned all of Atlanta in 1864 except for four churches, but today there are more mansions in its 'gold coast' than are to be found along the north shore from Oak street to the Wisconsin state line.



BIRETTUM IS placed on head of Monsignor George J. Stier by Bishop Raymond P. Hillinger, auxiliary bishop of Chicago. Father Stier, first monsignor in the northwest suburban area, received his vestments Sunday in his parish church, St. James in Arlington Heights.

A Destructive Thumb

Suburban Gardener Is Humble in His Defeat

by PHILIP NELSON

"I've got a purple thumb," I murmured weakly.

Laden with bags of peat moss, three kinds of fertilizer and guaranteed crab grass killer, I listened humbly to the greenhouse manager as she bawled me out for killing my last peony plant.

"You burned it, didn't you?" she charged accusingly, while I hid the rolling whites of my eyeballs. You could hear her across half of Du Page county. She was huge, and she towered threateningly over the tiny petunias, fluttering with multi-colored wings beneath her.

"I know what you did," she bullied, waving one huge dahlia of a hand. "You put fertilizer in with the roots, and then you watched it get smaller and smaller until it burned."

A COLONY of hollyhocks listened patiently with me while she took me to task, and some climbing roses climbed or crawled or whatever climbing roses did while she shook quiveringly and massively, her monumental form an ominous thundercloud.

Thirty-nine years had she labored on the soil, she told me. For 39 years, the caterpillars and the moths and the wasps had fled her heavy-treaded approach. She was no sylph, and the years had been kind to her.

As she talked of my peony blooms wasting away under my citified uncertain midwifery, I pictured her nursing shy violets and trembling aspens. And the unsold byproducts? She must stuff herself with these, I idly reflected. She was a miracle plant. Nothing dared die or wane — all must flourish.

"G--g-give me my pest killer," I finally gasped. "Please — the roses are waiting for me."

"THE worms and the cankers, you mean," she taunted, and shook the other sweet potato of a hand under my nose. "It's a waste of good seed," she thundered, as I loaded my supplies in the car.

I left her there among the petunias, pitiful little things, and went back to my little garden. "Drainage," I muttered to myself, "I must have good drainage," and surveyed the haphazard slope of my ground.

"Or maybe it's calcium," I second-thoughted, running a finger across my soil and licking the dirt in distaste. It did taste a mite sour, I ruminated. But perhaps it was the earthworms. What did earthworms taste like? I shuddered involuntarily.

Quickly, before the echo of the greenhouse manager could blast me from my plan, I skewered a hole in the earth and stuffed the peony plant into the ground.

THE TARPAPER will help it grow, I mused in satisfaction, watching my handiwork. Oh, my goodness, I forgot to water it, I exclaimed, half aloud and ran for the hose. Twenty minutes later, feeling half drowned (the wind had changed), but overripe with satisfaction, I looked at the gooey soil that trickled and bubbled about my peony. It was done, and I could sleep content with my day's work, I exulted. It was done.

Rerolling the hose, I surveyed my kingdom where strawberries, eggplants, lettuce, four kinds of roses and even dandelions disappeared under my careful and destructive gardener's thumb.

I sighed. Perhaps this one would grow. But even as I looked, it drooped, the buds appeared swollen with gluttony and the stem wilted and lay down, tired and apparently unhappy in its new home.

I WENT INTO my house, and tried to sleep. But swirling shades came to plague me. The Ghost of What Might Have Grown vied with the Ghost of the Horrible Goodness Knows What Is It, and grinning caterpillars crawled, hundreds and hundreds of their trampling feet, crawled over me and turned back to grin.

I woke with a start, and the perspiration trickled like a miniature Niagara down my back. I groaned.

A moustache, I reflected. Next time, I'll wear a moustache, so she won't recognize me. Am I really a killer? Why do plants shun me in the greenhouse? I must look up aphids and see if I'm related.

Experience Is Hard Teacher

Jeffrey Hoffman, 4, Elk Grove, learned something about cars and emergency brakes last week.

His family car was parked in the driveway of his home. Jeffrey spotted the emergency brake — let it go. While the car rolled down the drive, Jeffrey rolled out of the moving cark. He was taken to Northwest Community hospital with injuries to his rib cage.

Garment Left

An Arlington Heights housewife reported to police last week that she found an unidentified brassiere in her basement. She feared that a prowler might have left it there.

She was told to contact police if it happened again.

Schedule Committee Meeting

Arlington Heights trustees have decided to enlist the aid of a Citizen's Committee in their efforts to secure a new village hall.

Letters were received this week by 25 community leaders and 20 organizations asking them to attend a meeting in the village hall Monday, May 23, at 8 p.m.

The organizations, civic, home owner, and other groups, have been asked to send one representative. If all invited accept, the Citizen's Committee should have 45 members.

The Committee, according to Village Manager L. A. Hanson, will determine if a new village hall is needed, and if it is, the best time to submit such a project for a referendum.

THE LETTER notes that the work of the Committee should not extend beyond July of this year.

Trustees have been discussing for six years the need for a new village hall or renovation of the present structure.

The board decided to go after a new hall last year when they found it would cost nearly $80,000 just to keep the present one from falling to pieces.

LAND WAS purchased on S. State rd., an architect retained, plans drawn, and bids let, before the project blew up last month over the proposed method of financing the hall.

Trustees, however, are united in the opinion that a new municipal building is needed, and they no doubt feel that should a Citizen's Committee arrive at the same conclusion, a referendum for such a project will stand a better chance of passing.

Parking Meters Tell Us What We're Like!

Arlington Heights residents are well traveled, athletic, religious, artistic, and in many instances larcenous.

Who says so?

The village's nearly 1,000 parking meters, that's who.

For in these modern day hitching posts are deposited the evidence.

Take travel, for instance. In sifting through some coins recently collected from meters one finds a 20 centime piece from Belgium, five Mexican centavos, and a Canadian cent.

Further sorting reveals proof of "the strenuous life," five tiddly-winks.

AS FOR religion, there nestles alongside 16 washers and five slugs a token bearing the inscription, "The Gift of God Is Eternal Through Jesus Christ."

And there are several handfuls of pennies that have been filed down to give a dime's worth of time on the meters.

Rounding out the odd assortment are a couple of "good for amusement only" tokens, some play money coins, bus tokens, and a couple of hundred mutilated United States coins, many of them the recipient of some hammer and chisel art work.

ALL OF these objects were taken out of village parking meters within the past two months by public works department men.

The men, generally two and sometimes four, empty all meters each Wednesday. The coins from the street meters are poured into milk cans and transported to The Bank of Arlington Heights where they are sorted, wrapped, counted, and deposited.

Coins from parking lot meters are taken to the village hall where they are sorted, counted, and bagged for transportation to the bank.

The average take from all meters is $1350 weekly.

PARKING METER coins are sorted by Arlington Heights' deputy treasurer, Arlene Harting. Revenue from meters reveals such items as foreign coins and religious tokens.

Teen Girl Is Struck By Auto

An Arlington Heights girl, hurled 10 feet when she was struck by an auto Monday, escaped with multiple bruises and lacerations.

Peggy Hawley, 17, of 721 N. Highland, was struck on N. Dryden near Mayfair as she walked along the roadway with a girl friend.

Driver of the car, Frank Kuhn, 34, of 4841 W. Crestline, Chicago, told police he swerved to miss an oncoming car and hit the girl.

MISS HAWLEY, a student at St. Scholastica high school, was admitted to Northwest Community hospital.

Kuhn was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way to a pedestrian, driving too fast for conditions, and having no driver's license.

Garden Walk Set Saturday

The Arlington Heights garden club will hold its house and garden walk Saturday, May 21, from 2 to 8 p.m. The theme is "Invitation to Spring."

Horticulture, junior exhibits, and educational arrangements will be on display at Pioneer park fieldhouse from 2 to 6 p.m. Refreshments will be served. This display is open to the public free of charge.

Horticulture exhibits will include specimen flowers, vegetables, fruits and houseplants. The junior division will have entries of animals made from vegetables and/or fruits. Flower arrangements will be placed in toy containers and small baskets.

EDUCATIONAL exhibits will show the propagation of African Violets, sponsored by the Palatine African Violet Society. The Suburban Saintpaulia society will display African Violet plants and arrangements.

Horticulture classes are open to the public. Specimens must be grown by the exhibitor and house plants must have been the property of the exhibitor for at least three months prior to the show. All entries must be made between 9 and 10 a.m. the day of the show.

Homes and gardens to be toured are those of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Ruthenberg, 746 S. Walnut; Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert H. Krohn, 542 S. Dunton, Mr. and Mrs. E. Saunders Reinhard, 801 S. Walnut; Mr. and Mrs. Donald D. Florence, 1007 W. Euclid; Mr. and Mrs. Otto Lisec, 1122 N. Mitchell.

To Collect Rubbish in Community

Spring pickup of rubbish in Arlington Heights started this week.

Pickups will be made in the northeast portion of the village today and tomorrow; in the southwest section, Monday and Tuesday; and in the southeast Thursday and Friday of next week. Pickups have already been made in the northwest part of the village. The Chicago and North Western Railway tracks and State rd. are the dividing lines.

ALL RUBBISH should be placed at the curb in liftable containers. Large items should be piled in orderly fashion. Brush should be tied in bundles.

No dirt, concrete, or building materials will be picked up.

Okay Village Study Of Legal Department

A study of Arlington Heights legal department was authorized this week by village trustees.

In a split vote, trustees moved to set up a three-man committee to:

—study present legal needs of the village and the prosecutor's office.

—see if these needs are being satisfied under the present arrangement.

—make recommendations.

The suggestion for such a committee was made by Trustee Eugene Schlickman, who told board members, "It seems to me there has been discussion of the village's legal department to the extent that it is time for a study of the present organization to see if changes are necessary."

Schlickman urged that a committee be appointed of board members plus local attorneys to study the matter.

OBVIOUSLY not in favor of Schlickman's suggestion, Trustee Melvin Kurtz asked, "At no time have any inadequacies in our present set-up been pointed out. Why is such a study necessary?"

Schlickman noted that while he was not at this time recommending any changes, he was convinced that the village attorney should report to the village manager rather than to the board, as is now the case.

Schlickman further added there had been discussion of the village's legal department since publication of a Herald editorial last February that urged trustees to consider hiring a full-time attorney to serve as both municipal counsel and village prosecutor.

The editorial noted that such a move might benefit the village economically and help expedite village business.

THE question of reviewing the legal department arose when Stephen Jurco, village attorney and recently appointed prosecutor, asked the board to pass a resolution designating his three assistant prosecutors as such.

In a memo to trustees, Jurco noted that a question had been raised as to the legality of his delegating the prosecution of cases in Police Magistrate's court to assistants.

In voting on Jurco's proposed resolution, Schlickman passed, saying he was not convinced that it was desirable to have assistant prosecuting attorneys doing the work. Other board members present voted in the affirmative.

As for Schlickman's proposed review committee, Trustee Bukowski argued against bringing in local attorneys.

"As trustees, we can better judge the village's needs than a group of attorneys that have been sitting on the sidelines" said Bukowski.

WHEN Schlickman asked Bukowski if he would be prepared to move for a committee of just board members, the trustee answered in the affirmative.

When Kurtz expressed further opposition to a committee Bukowski said he hoped that, "if nothing else, such a study would stop the sniping that is going on in certain quarters."

Trustee William Sauer said he felt there were many phases of village activity that could be studied, and cast a "no" vote along with Trustee Kurtz against Schlickman's proposal.

But with Trustees Bukowski, Schlickman, and Wit voting in favor of it, a three-man committee was set up to study the legal department. The three trustees voting approval compose the committee.

Curfew Proposed For County Area

Coroner Walter E. McCarron says he'll ask the county board to have a new curfew law applied to unincorporated areas.

Boys and girls under 17 would have to be off the streets by 11 p.m. under the curfew.

McCarron says the programs throughout Cook county for dealing wth juvenile lawbreakers are inadequate

HE ISSUED his indictment during investigations of juvenile institutions touched off by the rape-slaying of a 16-year-old girl on Chicago's Northwest Side by an 18-year-old boy who was on parole from the Illinois Youth Commission camp at Marseilles.

McCarron says the county commissioners should insist on a more diligent patrol of the forest preserves to stem the tide of delinquency there.

And he says the state police ought to help the sheriff's deputies in keeping minors out of taverns in the unincorporated areas.

Suburbs to Confront Sociological Crises

A look at the social problems of suburbia 15 years from today was given to welfare workers from 17 area villages last Thursday at Pioneer Park in Arlington Heights.

The speaker, Thomas Sherrard, assistant professor of social work at the University of Chicago, warned that the foundation of American life may rest on how suburbanites react to these problems.

Addressing the group on "social planning in the suburbs," Sherrard compared the exodus to the suburbs to a "cancerous growth."

He noted that by 1975 maps will contain a large black patch bounded by St. Louis on the south, Milwaukee on the north, Pittsburgh on the east, and central Illinois on the west.

This whole area will be one "super-metropolis."

"EVERYONE wants to live in or near the cities," he remarked. "Americans have been moving from country to city ever since the country was founded.

"Urban sprawl cannot be escaped," he said. "The problem is how to live with it."

Assimilation of the lower class minority groups will be the biggest problem the suburbs will have to face in the future according to Dr. Sherrard.

"It is an unescapable fact," he commented, "that the most impoverished city groups move to the cities when they rise economically. The slums have always been a training ground for future suburbanites."

Negroes, and later Puerto Ricans and Mexicans, will be the next to migrate to the suburbs according to Dr. Sherrard.

"BARRIERS have been established against their moving to the suburbs," he noted, "but the urbanization of the Negro cannot be denied forever."

He commented that the number of Negroes in Chicago has doubled during the past 10 years.

"It will only be a matter of time before they break out of the cities and into the suburbs," he said.

The influx of the minority groups into the suburbs will result in the placement of more authority in the hands of the urban planner in his opinion.

As the need for the social planner becomes greater, he will not give in to the politicians as easily, Dr. Sherrard said.

"The planner will need more iron in his veins," he remarked.

"A PLANNER cannot come up with the answers to the ever-increasing problems just by using a mechanical computer and a set of statistics."

Dr. Sherrard emphasized that human values must also be taken into consideration.

"A machine can tell how many schools are needed and where they should be, but it cannot tell what kind," he said.

"When a super-highway is being built, a machine can tell how many restaurants are needed, but the answer is right in only certain areas. If there are to be separate restaurants for Negroes, obviously more will be needed. If the Negroes have to stand, less counters will be needed."

He stated that no problem can be answered entirely by professional planners or machines.

Rather, the most important decisions regarding the nation's future lie in the hands of the citizens. The people have the freedom to build the kind of communities they want.

"Community organizations can play an important part in plannings for the future," he noted, "but they must remember not to violate human values."

HE COMMENTED that citizens should look into their hearts to see the nature of their discontents, and then use their intelligence to transfer these ideas into the kind of services they want.

"We should not look to history to find the answer to our problems," he said. "Rather, we should look to today."

Dr. Sherrard compared a community organization to a two year old child, who, building with blocks, gets frustrated, knocks them down, and starts over again.

A community organization can best deal with problems that are possible to solve, including such things as mental health and the setting up of voluntary funds according to Dr. Sherrard.

"Urbanization is the new factor on which American life stands," he noted. "We can't stop it, but we can guide it."

"And it can't be guided without an adequate intellectual road map and a set of values."

Floyd Plumhoff Rites Saturday

Floyd Plumhoff of Palatine, the man who turned the first shovel of earth for construction of Arlington Park race track in 1925, and served as superintendent of grounds for over 30 years, died of a heart attack Wednesday morning at his home at 114 S. Greenwood, Palatine.

Floyd had compiained of feeling ill Tuesday night, and was found dead by his wife at 6 a.m. Wednesday. Remains will be at Black's Funeral Home in Arlington Heights until the funeral at 11 a.m. Saturday at Palatine Methodist church.

A NATIVE of Fairmont, Minnesota, Floyd settled in Arlington Heights in 1923, and joined the construction crew in 1925 that built the race track. He joined Arlington Park in 1927, and became track superintendent shortly after.

His long association with the track, including hiring of literally hundreds of high school boys to work summers, established friendships which still exist today. Many of these men often dropped in to see Plumhoff, recalling memories of by gone days.

BENJAMIN F. Lindheimer purchased the track in 1941, and became a close friend of Floyd's, always introducing him as "This is Floyd Plumhoff, Mr. Arlington Park. He is as responsible for the beauty and prestige of the track as any of us."

Animals Get Attention Of Officer

An opossum, parakeet, rabbit, and a "fat, red, male" dachshund were among the animals that received attention from Arlington Heights animal welfare officer this past week.

The opossum was reported stranded in a window well on N. Lincoln ln. He was picked up and set free at the edge of the village.

A WOMAN ON N. Dryden reported children playing with a dead rabbit in front of her house. The animal was removed.

The dachshund and his description were phoned into headquarters by a resident who complained that the dog was allowed to run at large.

Animal Welfare Officer Eugene Korn has his eye out for the dog. Chances are, however, he'll have little luck in finding the parakeet who winged away from his home on S. Belmont. (AF

Tax Bills To Double?

by TOM McSHANE

Illinois' taxpayers can expect their sales and property tax bills to double within 10 years if immediate steps are not taken to revise the state's revenue article.

This from Wayne A. Stoneking, research assistant for the Illinois Education association, in a study of the shaky tax structure completed this month.

And Joe Citizen can look for many resignations from qualified educators, and blanket shifts to half-day sessions in many school districts.

Besides, he is going to have to do more than save enough money to put his kids through college in the booming 1970s. He will also face the problem of getting them into schools that will be jammed with eager students.

STONEKING's forecast is not all gloom. He feels the state can solve its emerging educational problem with some fast action at the legislative level.

Tax reform is the answer. Stoneking, in his article, outlines the present tax structure, analysis the sources schools can tap for money, and brings out the system's weaknesses.

"It would be nearly accurate to say that tax revenue for Illinois public common schools comes from local property taxes, state sales and use taxes, and federal income taxes," the report reads. "The present approximate proportion of these is 73 per cent from property taxes, 24 per cent from sales and use taxes, and .3 per cent from income taxes."

There is a general feeling, the author says, that property taxes cannot continue to carry the load, but no one has been able to come up with an acceptable tax that would eliminate them.

Stoneking recommends revamping the assessment and collection procedures to make property taxes more equitable. He does not think the taxes will be eliminated, but he feels they can be kept stable by turning to other sources for tax funds.

(The much-talked about elimination of the personal property tax is, to Stoneking, impractical if this tax is not replaced with another that will return the same amount of revenue).

TO FIND other sources of tax revenue, the author turns to U.S. Department of Commerce records that show that there are three types of taxes that produce more than 94 per cent of all tax revenue collected in the country.

They are the individual and corporate income taxes, sales and gross receipts taxes, and the property taxes.

Stoneking's solution calls for a more balanced system of collection spread over all the possible sources.

"The major difference between Illinois and the average state . . . is that Illinois does not use individual income and corporation net income as state tax sources. It is also noteworthy that Illinois license taxes on corporations and businesses bring in only 1.8 per cent of the total state tax revenue. Such taxes account for 3.8 per cent in the average state, which also gets 6.2 per cent of its total revenue from corporation net income taxes," the report says.

(Gov. William Stratton has claimed that low corporation and business taxes serve to attract more industrial and commercial development to the state, and that the policy has enabled the underdeveloped areas in southern Illinois to raise their standards appreciably in the past eight years).

THE AUTHOR says that a two per cent tax on corporations would net about $50,000,000 a year. If a one per cent income tax were levied, it would bring in an additional $200,000,000.

Distribution of state funds to school districts also would ease the property tax burden, according to Stoneking.

Amendment of the constitution would be required to make some of the recommended changes.

"All adjustments could be made under amendments to Article IX agreed upon by a number of important statewide organizations.

"The principal changes recommended by these organizations are as follows: 1) personal property, both tangible and intangible, could be classified for tax purposes; 2) food for human consumption could be exempted from sales and use taxes; and 3) income could be taxed at rates not to exceed five per cent on any part of the income. The limitation on rate for income tax purposes would eliminate fears of enactment of highly graduated income taxes; any graduation would probably be between one and five per cent. Actually, experience has shown that it is not necessary to use high income tax rates for state purposes," the report says.

ILLINOIS, which ranks seventh out of 48 states in individual income per capita, is perfectly capable of supporting good public education and other necessary government services, Stoneking claims.

"Illinois state and local taxes are not generally high;" he says, "They are poorly adjusted."

And unless adjustments are made immediately (any constitutional revisions approved in next year's legislative session would not become effective until 1964) the state will fall behind a huge educational eight ball that will tell in the lives of our youngsters.

The author concludes:

"Instead of broadening and increasing the knowledge of children and youth at a time when knowledge is considered necessary for survival, the learning process may be severely curtailed. It is appaling to think that there could be any possibility of these things happening." (B8

Social Agency Aids Troubled

(This is the first in a series of three articles to acquaint readers with the work of Northwest Family Service, the social counselling agency which serves Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Palatine and Des Plaines.)

Linda K.'s world lay at her feet in a fragmented crumble of dashed dreams; she looked to the future with mounting desperation.

The attractive, dark-haired Arlington high school senior was pregnant; a doctor had verified the fact in the third month of what was to be the greatest ordeal of her young life.

Her emotions ran a jarring route from fear of disclosure to social censure to a blind, clutching fright which magnified the bleak prospects of her future.

This was the face of fear that Mrs. Mary Nicklaus saw when the distraught youngster first appealed to her for help in the cubical of an office Northwest Family Service occupies at 214 S. Emerson st., Mt. Prospect.

THE PROBLEM was not new to Mrs. Nicklaus, director of the social agency and its only full-time counselor, who daily meets the aggrieved of marital strife, the problems of the senior citizen and anxieties of the unwed mother.

Linda K. has been referred to Family Service by her physician. With the girl is her mother, who has just learned of her daughter's condition. The mother is extremely upset, repeating as if in assurance to herself that she couldn't believe "this could happen to my daughter."

Mrs. Nicklaus' first step in meeting a problem of these dimensions is to arrange for medical care and housing through the appropriate agencies.

But throughout future counselling sessions the question which looms over the proceedings is the decision the girl must make concerning the unborn child. "It is probably the most important decision that they (the unwed mothers) have ever made or will make in their life," Mrs. Nicklaus says.

The alternatives of marriage and adoption are discussed; if the girl decides to place the child up for adoption, a licensed child placement agency is consulted.

THE FATHER of the child is also a high school senior whose family resides in the northwest suburban area. The boy's family is also aware of Linda's plight.

The middle child of a moderate income family, Linda and the boy reach the decision that neither of them would be able to take on the responsibilities of marriage and family.

As she enters her seventh month of pregnancy, Linda enters a maternity home, but continues her high school studies so that she may graduate with her class.

"We help the girl to maintain a confidentiality so that she may fit back into the community after having the child," Mrs. Nicklaus explains.

A DETAILED history of both families is obtained for the child placement agency, and the young mother signs relinquishment papers before she leaves the home.

While she is in the maternity home, Linda's every need is met to "minimize the trauma as much as possible," Mrs. Nicklaus says.

When the child is born, she is allowed to see it. "This is so that she can see the baby is well and happy. It's for her own adjustment as well," the Family Service counselor pointed out.

Counselling continues after the child's birth to give Linda insights into why the event occurred to bring about changes in her own behavior.

By now, an empathy has developed between client and counselor. Mrs. Nicklaus is someone Linda can "talk to." Her family is also consulted further on the problem, often developing an understanding of their own as to their child's problems and many of the reasons for their existence.

"Some boys see the girls through the entire period; others become frightened themselves and cannot cope with the situation," Mrs. Nicklaus noted.

LINDA continues to seek out the counselling services of the social agency for about a year. During this period she begins to see for the first time some of her potentialities.

"She realized she had more capabilities than she ever realized she had before," Mrs. Nicklaus related.

Linda decides to continue her education and enrolls in college. The crisis of her past begins to fade into shadowy outlines as her future unfolds in brighter perspectives.

Her nine-month ordeal was cushioned by the fact that she could turn to Family Service for professional help.

IF SUCH agencies did not exist, however, the question arises as to what would happen to the Linda Ks? It has been demonstrated that such reactions run full course to such extremes as suicide and black market adoptions.

"Our goal," Mrs. Nicklaus explains quietly of Linda K, "is to help her become a self-sufficient and well-adjusted individual."

As the old refrain goes, who could ask for anything more?

(Next week: the school and Family Service jointly seek a solution). (B8

MRS. MARY NICKLAUS, director of Northwest Family Service, is shown above in counselling situation. The counselling goal, whether dealing with the problems of unwed mothers or marital strife, is to help the individual to become self-sufficient and well-adjusted. (B8

Four Major Road Projects Started

Four major road paving and resurfacing projects in northwest Cook county will get underway soon. Contracts totaling $1,188,120 for the work were awarded Monday by the county board.

Kirchoff road in Rolling Meadows will be paved into a four-lane, 46 foot wide street through the heart of the city from Hicks to Wilke roads, a distance of 1.6 miles.

THE LONG - awaited proect will be undertaken by Milburn Bros. of Mt. Prospect for $659,584, the low bid.

Lake-Cook road from Ela to Rand roads, a distance of 3.2 miles, and Mt. Prospect road from Oakton street to Golf road, a distance of 1.8 miles, will be resurfaced by Rock Road Construction Co., low bidder. The cost is $155,887 for the two roads, both two lanes wide.

A 24 foot wide roadway will be constructed for West Bartlett road from the county line in Hanover township to Sutton road, a distance of 2.9 miles. Allied Asphalt Paving co. submitted the low bid of $372,649.

MONDAY'S board session was a special meeting, called primarily for the awarding of the road contracts. The bids were opened May 3. All told, contracts totaling $2,230,672 for 11 road projects were let.

"Although the next regular meeting of our board is set for June 7, we did not want to wait that long to start repair work on our winter-damaged secondary roads, which is why we called the special meeting," Daniel Ryan, president of the board, explained.

"Because of action at this meeting, the contractors can begin work on the projects immediately," Ryan said.

Bus Pickup at All Schools Set for YMCA Day Campers

Boys and girls from this area who are planning to attend Northwest Suburban YMCA "Day Camp Adventure" will have convenient bus pickup service at all of the grade schools in Mt. Prospect, Arlington Heights, Palatine, Rolling Meadows, Elk Grove, Prospect Heights and Des Plaines. This extensive service plus a well-organized day camp program under direction of three YMCA staff professionals and numerous 'Y' trained counselors is offered at a low fee only because the YMCA is operated as a non-profit organization.

The 'Y' day camp begins Tuesday, June 28, and runs in three 2-week periods through August 5, on 4-day per week basis, Tuesday through Friday. Registrations are now being accepted for boys and girls 7 through 12 years of age at the 'Y' office, 1488 Miner st., Des Plaines, VA 4-4156.

CHARTERED United Motor Coach buses will pick up youngsters on a scheduled route between 8:30 and 9:15 a.m. and return them to the same point at approximately 5 p.m. Campers not convenient to grade schools may make special arrangements to be picked up at another convenient location along the bus route by calling the 'Y' office.

"Day Camp Adventure" is designed to be educational as well as recreational, featuring the opportunity to learn new skills in swimming, games, nature craft and other healthy outdoor activities which boys and girls enjoy. The outdoor site is a reserved section at Deer Grove, complete with a shelter, and swimming is done, without worry of inclement weather, at Maine Township high school pool.

CAMPERS bring their own lunch, a swimming suit, towel, and blanket or cloth for rest periods each day. Milk, swim admission, craft supplies, insurance, transportation and all other expenses are included in the nominal fee. There is one instructor for every 10 children or less, which gives the youngsters personal attention in swimoing as well as outdoor activities. Each child will receive instructions in swimming according to his ability and will finish off the day with recreational swimming "just for fun."

Improvement in strength and coordination through the Kraus-Weber tests is also included in the program. At the start of each camp period all campers will be given a series of six muscular ability tests. Games and physical activities will be slanted toward strengthening weaknesses and improving coordination, and parents will receive a progress report at the end of each period.

REGISTRATIONS are being made for the three periods by the following dates: first period, June 28 to July 8; second period, July 12 to July 22; third period, July 26 to August 5. For boys and girls who wish to keep busy on Mondays the 'Y' offers a Monday "Trip and Dip" program during the camping season. Further information on the entire program may be had by calling the 'Y' office, VA 4-4156. (B9

THIS WAS THE scene last Sunday at Arlington park race track. Normally a race track features horses, but the bangtails have been supplanted by lovely damsels and hard working Rolling Meadows Jaycees for the next month, in preparation for the third annual Northwest Home and Garden show scheduled for June 3, 4 and 5. The pretty gardeners are, left to right, Diane Thorson, Arlington Heights, Niki Abrams, Palatine, Queen of the 1960 show, Linda Clark and Lynne Smith, Arlington Heights, Lynda Wilds, Palatine, and Linda Mittag, Arlington Heights. Home and Garden Show June 3 to 5

One time a race track will pay off to everyone is the 1960 Northwest Home and Garden show, scheduled for Arlington Park Jockey club June 3, 4 and 5, under the auspices of Rolling Meadows Junior chamber of commerce.

At the show, 130 exhibits featuring different products for use in both home and garden will be displayed. More than 100,000 suburban dwellers are expected to attend. Profits will be turned over to qualified charities.

BESIDES THE exhibits, many free gifts will be given away to show-goers. Nobody will leave empty handed.

For milady, there will be a giant summer fashion show. For the children, John Conrad and "Elmer the Elephant" will entertain. There will be a full scale night club review conducted by the "Party of Six" from Northwestern university's famed Wa-Mu show.

This will be the first official appearance of this Wa-Mu group in the area. Several of the original songs from the review have been purchased by Leonard Sillman for his "New Faces of 1960," and the talented young people have already been ticketed for a fall spot on the Dinah Shore "Chevie Show."

School Workshop Planned Tuesday

A general workshop based on the theme, "Quality Schools for All Illinois Children," will be held Tuesday, May 24, at 8 p.m. at Prospect high school, according to Kenneth Gill, coordinator of the project.

The program will include the following discussion topics: public school finances, securing and retaining good teaching personnel, meeting the individual differences in children, utilization of the school plant, and what to expect from your schools.

THE PROGRAM has been drawn up by the Legislative Action Steering committee, which is composed of representatives from the townships of Barrington, Palatine, Elk Grove, Hanover, Schaumburg and Wheeling.

The Legislative Action committee workshop is open to all residents of all areas involved. Everyone is invited to attend.

The committee is sponsored by the Illinois Education association, the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers, and the Illinois School Board association. (B8

Why Is City Driving So Confusing? More Traffic

What's so confusing about city traffic to the non-city driver?

"Chiefly — more traffic," is the answer given by the National Safety Council

An upsetting collection of noises — roaring buses, blaring horns, policemen's shrill whistles.

"It's enough to make the visitor from the rural area give up and head for home," commented the Council.

WHILE the age-old picture of the rural resident certainly is outdated, said the Council, city driving can be terrifying and hazardous to people from farms and small communities — and to city folks as well.

"It's largely psychological, of course," observed the Council.

"City driving, for the inexperienced, is pretty grim business," it said.

"Rule No. 1 is — don't panic!

"Get a firm grip on your nerves. Decide that no matter what happens, you're going to stay calm."

THE second rule, said the Council, is be alert for pedestrians, especially in the middle of the block. Pedestrians may dash from the curb without warning. Give them the right-of-way. Wait for them even though horn-honkers behind you become impatient.

Other National Safety Council tips to help the person not accustomed to city driving:

1. Don't follow the car ahead too closely.

2. Don't make sudden movements or changes of direction. Stay in one lane.

3. Keep your eyes peeled on what's going on around you. Keep checking the rear view mirror. It can warn you of a situation developing which may involve you.

4. Keep in mind that busy, multi-lane boulevards probably are safer than narrower streets.

5. Don't rubberneck and drive at the same time. Park if you want to look at some thing.

6. Watch out for suddenly opening doors while driving alongside parked cars. Even in residential areas, you may find the streets solidly lined with parked cars — so beware of children darting into the street.

Blue Birds Advanced At Grand Council Fire

Arlington Heights Camp Fire Girls advanced nearly 100 Blue Bird "fly-ups" at an annual grand council fire ceremony.

A colorful friendship tepee was theme of the ceremony, which is patterned after the ritualistic tribal council fire of the American Indian. It was held Sunday afternoon in the girls gymnasium of Arlington high school under the direction of Mrs. Charles W. Johnson.

The 10-year-old Blue Birds who were advanced in the Camp Fire program were affiliated with the following groups: Mrs. J. Dolan's Blue Butterflies, Mrs. W. Treutler's Minnetonka Blue Birds, Mrs. R. Seng's Indian Princesses, Mrs. R. Platt's Little Fawns, Mrs. W. Whiteside's Fireflies, Mrs. E. Jackson's Busy Blue Birds, Mrs. J. Nelson's Bonnie Blues, Mrs. W. Heddesheimer's Hummingbirds Blue Birds, and Mrs. I. McDougall's Honey Bears.

RECOGNITION was made of 53 girls who had passed "trail seeker" rank during the year, and 19 members of the Okiciyapi Camp Fire Girls were present to receive the "wood gatherer" rank. Presenting the award was Mrs. Robert R. Roth, guardian of the group.

Receiving the certificate of rank, 10 purple beads, and the "wood gatherers" ring were Patricia Ayres, Christine Baldassari, Lynn Carter, Nancy Chlupsa, Linda Crittenden, Linda Genevich, Joy Hruska, Rose Marie Kelly, Karen Lifquist, Linda Lorenz, Kathleen Lynch, Bonnie Marks, Candy and Sandy Ormsbee, Jo Ellen Ottenghëime, Shirley Owen, Nancy Roth, Paula Schomburg and Diane Sharp.

THE "TORCH bearer craftsman" rank was presented to Lynne Schomburg and Nancy Staadt by Audrey Diakiw, Chicago Area council field representative. Both girls have been active in the Camp Fire program since 1954. They earned this highest award in Camp Fire by special projects: Lynne made a special study of American heritage and Indian lore, and Nancy completed a special project in hand craft.

Both girls were additionally honored with the national "torch bearer" award.

Other honors conferred at the annual session:

—Mrs. Glen Rubenking incoming district chairman, and Mrs. Harold Purvine, incoming leaders association chairman, were introduced and presented with adult membership pins; and —Mrs. George Hawkins, leaders association chairman, and Mrs. Roth, district co-chairman, were recognized for their service to the local organization.

How to Insure Happy Old Age

The Mail Man's Corner -St How to INsure Old 2-36 bold

LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

One of the problems of aging is to keep alive an active interest in things going on about us. To grow old, and to have no interest in or feelings about the things that are happening about us every day, is to endure a living death. Once the zest for living is gone, life becomes dull and uninteresting, and we have to all purposes ceased to live.

We have a minister in our town who is retired, but who is the liveliest retired person I have ever known. Since he retired, he has helped to establish several churches, has been active in local affairs, and given many talks. Not long ago he finished a new history of Park Ridge which appeared in a local paper. To talk with this reverend man, even to be with him, is to find inspiration and encouragement. His personality has had an impact on many local citizens; his advice has been sought and heeded, and his council and help sought by many organizations in our city. This man is more alive and alert than many a young man in our community, and certainly more so than this writer.

A SHORT, heavy set man, he has an infectious smile and a bounce that sets him apart in any crowd. Kind and patient, he can slso be determined and persistant. He is the kind of man I want to be when I reach his age—well over eighty. Last year, word came to me that he was bucking up the wood of a large tree for use in his fireplace!

If you and I can live like that, and can have a faith like his, life can go on indefinitely for us, and we can enjoy every second of it; for to such a person, youth is eternal.

AND THAT is the way that God intended us to live —spending ourselves for others, spreading sunshine wherever we go, getting important things done, inspiring, pushing where need be to further the work of God in the lives of men.

Man was so created by a loving God: to live by and through spending himself for others through his work and life. To grow old gracefully and happily, we must be needed and useful. To be needed and useful, we must strive to make ourselves so. If we do not, ours will be a miserable and unhappy old age.

Area Housewife Attends Better Living Congress

A northwest suburban housewife was one of 100 homemaker delegates attending the third national Congress on Better Living in Washington, D. C., this week.

Mrs. Albert J. Mikkelsen, of 153 Crest st., Elk Grove Village, was selected by Mc Call's magazine to attend the Congress conducted in the nation's capital on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

CENTEX Construction company, developers of Elk Grove Village whose Correlaire and Mediterranean model homes have received McCall's certification award, were local sponsors of Mrs. Mikkelsen for the national sessions on homemaking.

—Mrs. Mikkelsen and her husband, an auto salesman for Roto Mercury-Comet Sales, 1410 E. Northwest hwy., Arlington Heights, have one daughter, Jeanne, 11.

In addition to filling a part-time sales position with Muriel Mundy apparel shop, 28 S. Dunton ct., Arlington Heights, Mrs. Mikkelsen engages in gardening, coin-collection and writing, both poetry and fiction.

She is active in the Rupley School Mothers' club in Elk Grove Village, and interested in real estate.

THE 100 DELEGATES who attended the Congress represented all sections of the United States, and met in a three-day discussion of American households which ranged from home construction and automobiles to health and beauty care, food preparation and household appliances.

Last fall, McCalls sponsored regional meetings of the Congress in 150 cities reaching from Anchorage, Alaska to San Juan, Puerto Rico to Honolulu.

Fifteen hundred women participated in this sampling of household needs, and the national congress focused its attention on the findings derived from these regional meetings, according to Bill Youry of McCall's.

Prior to leaving for Washington, Mrs. Mikkelsen said: "I think what will be discussed will be important to the average homemaker once they realize this isn't a publicity stunt."

She said panel discussions planned ranged from cosmetics to copper tubing in plumbing to the layout of streets and shopping facilities in communities.

DISCUSSIONS would be "frank and unbiased," she promised before her plane's departure. She added that she was not going to the Congress to plug the local builder's products.

Builders in the various areas of the country selected persons whom they thought would qualify as delegates. McCall's then mailed questionnaires to these candidates, and after studying their answers, sent out their select invitation list.

"My father and two brothers are builders. I should know something about home construction," Mrs. Mikkelsen said.

Never did I dream when I entered the drug business that I would have to be a "jack of all trades" so to speak. There are many facets to this business, and it behooves me to be able to handle the situation.

Every once in a while there is a minor crisis in one of our departments, and I wind up washing dishes or stocking merchandise — just like in the old days of the late forties and early fifties when we were building toward our present stores. Sometimes customers kid me about it, but I'm proud of the fact that there's nothing in this store that I can't do. Besides it keeps me young and we don't lose the common touch. Brownies and guests, numbering 430, attended the annual father-daughter banquet in St. Paul church earlier this month. Group singing, led by Mrs. Guy Courtney, was enjoyed and guests were entertained with skits and songs presented by each of the 13 troops present.

Representatives from each troop were introduced and they in turn gave troop contributions to the Juliette Low Friendship fund to the neighborhood chairman, Mrs. Eugene Gallup. Mrs. Betty Nordlie was chairman of the banquet.

Troop 499 entertained its mothers at a tea last week, for which the scouts made and served the refreshments and provided the decorations. A candle ceremony was held and several badges were awarded. Remainder of the evening was spent singing songs, discussing a recent overnight at Camp Pine and reports were made by Chris Blomberg, June Montgomery, Marcia Ross, Janice Schimek, Kathlee Shaw, Pam Sinclair, and Barrie Walker who attended the senior conference in Park Ridge last month.

A MOTHER'S day tea was enjoyed by troop mothers this month when girls from troop 477 entertained. Refreshments were prepared by the scouts and as part of the requirement for the second class rank, one of the patrols Pottery factory highlight-A trip through Haeger Pottery factory highlighted the troop's activities in April.

Scouts from troop 401 enjoyed their first overnight last month when they camped at Camp Pine. Outdoor activities centered around second class rank requirements.

Elk Grove Village

As a special treat for Mother's day, Brownie troop 4 entertained mothers with a movie from Girl Scout council. Refreshments and presents were made by the girls.

Troop 78 hiked to Jarosch bakery in Elk Grove where they viewed the baking operations. Susan Ross, now in Children's Memorial hospital, would be happy to receive cards.

JUNE 1 IS the deadline for all leaders to send a list of service projects, inter-troop activity and the badge work of the Girl Scouts to Mrs. E. Cavalle, neighborhood chairman. At the same time, each leader should turn the name of three parents who will be willing to solicit for the Girl Scout fund in the fall.

June 4 is the date of the Brownie Song Fest at Busse forest preserve at 10:30 a.m. In case of rain the event will be held at Higgins school at 1 p.m.

Palatine

Saturday, May 7, troop 488 went on a bike hike to Deer Grove. Even though the weather was bad, the girls and their leaders, Mrs. Richard Wallace and Mrs. Paul Jenson, decided to go through with the trip which had already been postponed once. Two brave parents, Mrs. Glen Olsen and Paul Jensen, biked along with the girls and Mrs. Jensen. They bucked a northwest wind all the way to Deer Grove and when they arrived it was raining.

Mrs. Wallace drove in the station wagon, bringing supplies of dry wood for a fire, dry boots and food.

THE GIRLS proved to be good scouts and good sports. There was no complaining in spite of having to build the fire and cook in the intermittent rain.

Coming home the wind was at their backs all the way and the trip was made in half the time.

TROOP 524 with its leader, Mrs. Elmer Bruns, Mrs. Perry and Sandy Bruns took the train into Chicago May 14 and saw "Please Don't Eat the Daisies."

Troop 488 said goodby to Christine Myers who is moving to Philadelphia. Chris was one of the original members of the troop and will be missed by all the girls and their leaders.

Modern Etiquette

Q. Is one supposed to mail out the wedding invitations with or without the tissues that accompany them from the printer's?

A. With the tissues in place.

Q. What is the proper length of time for a young woman to wear mourning for her father?

A. There is no "proper" length of time, this depending upon her feelings in the matter. The custom of wearing mourning is not nearly so strict as it formerly was, and there are now many people who do not consider it necessary at all.

Ridge Park–Sherwood

FROM SHERWOOD

Marie and Tom Specht, 1118 Watling, are delighted with the engagement of their son, Tom, to Sharon Meehan, 110 Burton pl. Tom is working at the Union Special Machine Co., Chicago, after two years at the University of Illinois, where he majored in metallurgical engineering.

With summer just around the corner several Sherwood ladies who play bridge once a month decided to bring the year to a close by having a final bridge luncheon Friday afternoon. Doris Spindler entertained in her home and after a lunch she and her guests, Isabelle Chodera, "Oak" Kuhnheim, Jean Hogan, Evelyn Brogan, Claire Port, Marilyn Shuman, and Jean Sundstrom, played bridge the rest of the afternoon. The ladies have enjoyed their Thursday evenings of bridge so much that they plan to continue in the fall.

SHERWOOD AND the rest of Arlington Heights extends a hearty welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Getter, 1220 N. Harvard, who moved to that address the first of last month after having lived in Cincinnati. Three children help make up the Getter family: John, 10, Joy Lynn,12, and Betty Ann, 15 months. John is a fourth grader at Ridge school and Joy is in seventh grade at South Junior high. Their move to Sherwood is the result of a promotion for Mr. Getter, who has been appointed district sales manager of the Chicago Office of Arnco Steel Co.

Because Mr. and Mrs. Donald Paluch are two of Alicia Martin's favorite people, she wanted them to come to a family dinner Sunday celebrating her 12th birthday. Mr. Paluch was her fifth grade teacher at Ridge and Mrs. Paluch is now her gym teacher at South Junior high, much to the delight of Alicia. A 3 o'clock Campfire Council Fire for Alicia interrupted the celebration at home, yet made the rest of the day complete for her. Alicia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Martin, 1409 N. Yale.

DR. AND MRS. Patrick J. Barrett and their son, Robert, are visiting the Raymond Sheridans, 1130 N. Patton. The Barretts will be here until Sunday, when they return to their home in Minneapolis. It is always a treat for the Sheridens when they come home.

After all the rain we've had, it is quite a novelty to see someone with a nice tan, but Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wood, 1106 Clarendon, have one. They acquired it after spending 11 days in Hawaii as a 25th wedding anniversary present to themselves. And they want to go back, too, they enjoyed their visit that much! They stayed at the lovely Halekulani hotel on Waikiki Beach, only a stone's throw from the water.

They found it wonderfully convenient to take a short dip before breakfast or dinner, sun on the beach, and spend the rest of their time sightseeing. Dining on the terrace of the hotel they found to be especially pleasant with the surf pounding against the shore only 20 feet away. After they had had their fill of swimming and lounging on the beach, they flew to the island of Hawaii and took a trip to see the volcano craters, the orchid farms, and rainbow falls.

ANOTHER DAY they rented a jeep to tour the island of Oahu and Cocoa Head, which is used by many of the movie companies to make films of the south seas. Mrs. Wood says she can understand why, because it is a paradise of lagoons, grass huts, colorful birds and exquisite shrubs and flowers. Another day they toured the Pearl Harbor area and visited some still active craters, which hold quite a fascination for tourists because of their enormous size. When they arrived in Honolulu, as is the custom there, they were presented with lovely leis made of plumeria, a lovely and very fragrant flower the name of which means friendship.

So when the Woods packed for home, they brought with them several plumeria and also some carnation leis for their family as a momento of their trip. They have other momentos too, pictures of their stay in Hawaii, through which they are reliving their trip.

FROM RIDGE PARK

Bill Frost is responsible for more copies of Seventeen being sold this month too. His picture is right there with Molly Miller, his date for the Lake Geneva-senior prom weekend last year. A thousand pictures were taken for this article, so Bill and Molly have the right to be quite pleased that theirs was chosen. Ridge Park was well represented that weekend too. Bill, a freshman at Carbondale, is the son of Eleanor and Bill Frost, 1225 Oakton.

Several boys were made happier as a result of Dennis Luxion's birthday party Saturday. Dennis was 8 and celebrated the day in grand style by inviting Warren Rudy, Danny Cannell, Danny Grey, John Holloway, Fred Halek and Dennis' brother Billy and sister, Ardythe, to a rootin' tootin' lunch of hamburgers with all the trimmings. They liked the idea of eating in the back yard, but better still they were overjoyed when each one was served lemonade in his own canteen, which took the place of a party favor.

The fun didn't end there, either. They all trooped off to the local cinema for a hilarious few hours watching Jerry Lewis in "Visit to a Small Planet." Ice cream cones were waiting for them when they came back to the Luxions, home, but they were so much impresed with the canteens they went on a hike with them.

Over the weekend, several families were planning outings. After all, when you've got a good canteen, you've just got to use it. Dennis is the son of the Bill Luxions, 821 N. Princeton.

JOEY HEINZ has been talking about his birthday for a month, and when it finally arrived, May 10, he was completely satisfied with it. His grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bergman, came for a family dinner in his honor, and when than the guest of honor. Joey's brother has a turn coming up before too long and is getting in practice for his party. The boys are sons of Joanne and Joe Heinz, 906 N. Patton.

The Bob Abbotts, 933 N. Yale, ushered in the summer season by going to Sawmill Lake, Ind. over the weekend to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Abbott, who have a house on the lake. A little too cool for swimming, the children went fishing instead.

SATURDAY THE Lawrence Geislers, 816 N. Ridge, tried a new type of bowling, couples bowling, at Golf-Mill bowl in Glenview. They joined friends there and after an evening of bowling, all enjoyed a buffet supper. Last Tuesday they went to a bowling banquet at Grier's Supper club, finishing off a year's bowling for his league.

They spent the balance of the evening at the Casablanca with friends. There was another bowling banquet Wednesday evening at the Golf-Mill. This particular banquet terminates another bowling league to which Mr. Geisler belongs. They will rsume bowling in the fall and because they are such avid players, have polished up their game quite a bit this past year.

Bette and Ray Howes, 945 N. Kaspar, couldn't think of a better way to celebrate his birthday Saturday than to invite friends in for an evening of dancing. Fourteen gathered in their basement for a variety of dancing, square, ballroom, etc. When the Swingin' Squares held their last dance of the year Sunday afternoon at Recreation Park, Bette and Ray were there helping to make it a success.

A pot luck supper was held first and after an assortment of food, the music started, and everyone square danced. Bette and Ray's interests also lean toward bowling and last Wednesday they attended a bowling banquet in Old Orchard country club. Ray bowls with the Rolling Meadows league and upon learning of the Fourth place prize money, were quite pleased.

LITTLE DID THE ladies know, when they planned their final bridge luncheon for the year, that it would also be in the form of a farewell party for Louise Trendle, who is moving to Calfornia very soon. Jean Kunberger, Lil Lurtz, Eleanor Searfoss, Helen Rathsam, Doris Walker and Joyce Lewinski play bridge once a month during the year. Because they are going to miss Louise, they presented her with a lapel pin to remember them by. The luncheon was held in the Crabapple, Old Orchard.

Friday Helen Krilcic, Killy Shaffer, Velda Splitt, Grace Ekstrand and Lil Lurtz feted Eleanor Searfoss at a farewell luncheon in the Milk Pail. Eleanor and her family are also moving to California and she, too, will be missed at the bridge table and other places of social interest when she leaves.

THE COTERIE CLUB gave its final dance of the season Saturday in the form of a dinner dance in Brookwood country club. Lil and George Lurtz, Virginia and Eddie Elstee met at Jessie and Bill Bledsoe's home for cocktails preceding the dance and met several Ridge Parkers at the club. Grace and Dick Ekstrand, Louise and Howard Trendle, Helen and George Krilcic and Velda and Ray Splitt were there, enjoying a gourmet dinner and excellent dance music.

The welcome mat is out to Dr. and Mrs. George D. Olver, who have moved to 705 N. Kennicott from Des Plaines. The Olivers have two children: Eddie, 3, and Beth, 2. Dr. Oliver is a dentist and practices in Des Plaines. Mrs. Oliver plans to join Newcomers club and as far as hobbies go, hers is getting her home in shape. It's a new, split level.

ELEANOR AND Bill Frost, 1225 W. Oakton, had a surprise visit last week from Dr. and Mrs. J. N. Gill of Chattanooga. The two couples are friends of long standing and because it had been six years since they had seen each other, spent a very pleasant evening catching up on news.

For a long time, Virginia Bartik and her son, Tom, 643 N. Kaspar, had been looking forward to Fr. Burke's first mass, and when they attended St. James at 12:30 Sunday, it was all and more than they expected it to be. Fr. Burke's mother is Tom's fourth grade teacher at St. James, which made the mass even more meaningful for Tom. They had planned to go to the reception in the evening, but unexpected visitors changed their plans.

SYMPATHY IS extended Mr. and Mrs. John Raitt, 928 N. Fernandez, on the death of his mother, Mrs. Vie Clinton Raitt, May 11. A frequent visitor at the Raitts, Mrs. Raitt, who was 65, died of a heart attack. The funeral was in Black Memorial home Friday and after cremation, her ashes were sent to her home in Melbourne, Australia. Mrs. Raitt's husband died 8 years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Briscoe, 930 N. Patton, were chairman of the successful "superstition" ball held Friday the 13th in the Fellowshp hall of St. John's United Church of Christ. There was dancing to the music of Wally Hahnfeld's band and refreshments served throughout the evening in surroundings of black cats, ladders and all the gimmicks that keep the supersititious ones home in bed on this date. Besides the Briscoes, the Roy Winkelmans and the George Lurtzes were there having a wonderful time, completely oblivious of what day it was.

Steven Vetter celebrated his third birthday Monday in a way he doesn't want to repeat. He has a good case of measles ,only he doesn't think they're so good. The purple cake with purple candles he asked for will be coming up once he starts to feel better. Steven is the son of Mary and Charles Vetter, 813 N. Patton.

CAMP ALPINE, the ULC Illinois synod church camp, located near Richmond, has announced its summer schedule for 1960. The schedule runs through June, July and August, and many young members of Our Saviour's annually participate in the summer program which is open to school age children 9 through 18.

The annual Family camp weekend is planned for September 2 through 5. Rev. John Spaid of Elmhurst is in charge of the program and sends word that usable telescopes, binoculars and tank vacuum cleaners are needed at the camp for "star gazing" and "dust chasing." Anyone wishing to dispose of such articles can call Mrs. Harry Wickstrom, CL 3-3423, Camp Alpine representative for Our Saviour's.

THE WOMEN'S guild of the church, under the co-chairmanship of Mrs. Marvin Henrickson and Mrs. Charles Oman, served 34 members of the Men's club their second annual chicken dinner May 13. Aldous Huxley (born 1894) said:

"LIVING IS AN ART"

In former years the average person's main concern was to earn enough for the necessities of life while saving for his later unproductive years. Good health was often sacrificed to these efforts.

Now your chief problem is to keep your body healthy enough to enjoy the extra years medical research has added to your life. Helping you to live better is your physician, who can prescribe needed medication, and your pharmacy, where you can obtain all the necessary medicines and health-aids. We welcome the opportunity to help.

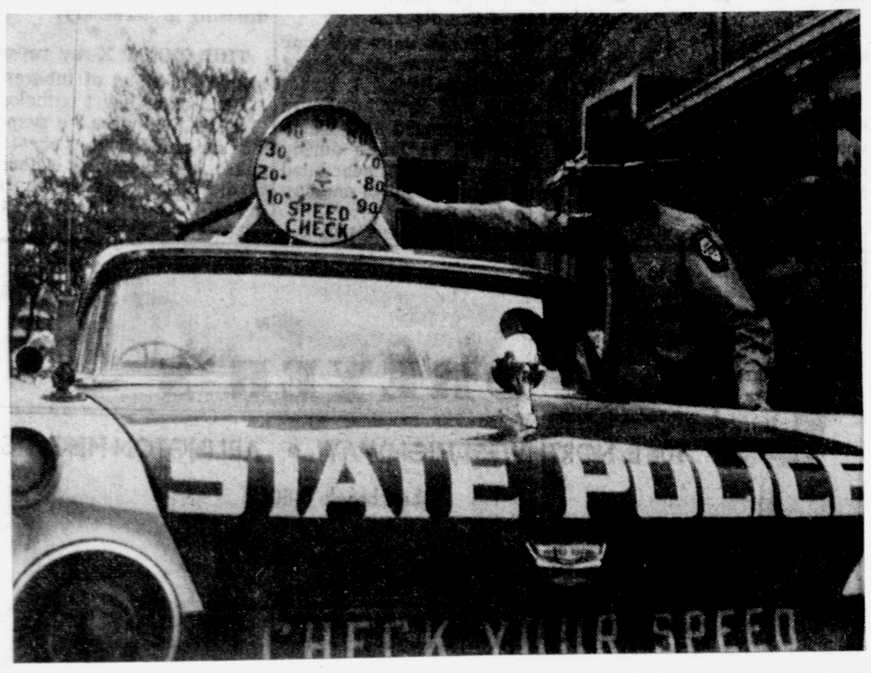
State Police Offer Speedometer Check



POINTING OUT District 3 state police's speed indicator by which northwest Cook county motors may check their speedometers during the week is Trooper James Smrz, 716 Wilshire ln., Arlington Heights, who is in charge of the car. (B8

A state police squad car with a huge speed indicator mounted on top so that motorists can check their speedometer readings arrived here this week, and will be in the Cook County area for the next few days.

William H. Morris, Superintendent, Illinois State Police is making this car available for a visit to areas throughout the state to offer the residents an opportunity to check the accuracy of their speedometers.

State Trooper James Smrz who is driving the car, said the king-sized speedometer is calibrated so it shows the exact speed at which the car is traveling.

Trooper Smrz, of 716 Wilshire ln., Arlington Heights, said, "The speed indicator causes much comment as the car travels on major highways throughout the state.

"IT CALLS attention to the speed at which a person is traveling," he said, "and it seems to remind drivers to stay within the state speed limit of 65 mph."

The speed indicator is mounted so that it can be read by motorists approaching the squad car from the rear. Drivers behind the police vehicle can compare speedometer readings and determine whether their own is correct.

'It's not likely that the one on the squad car is wrong, Trooper Smrz said, "as it is calibrated at least once a day by radar checks."

'The car will travel every mile of primary highway in Illinois within the next few months," Trooper Smrz added.

Hospitals Treat Mental Illness

One of the most significant developments in modern health care is the realization that mental illness can often be treated in a clinic or general hospital through the teamwork of physician, psychiatrist, pastor or other persons who have a sympathetic understanding of the causes of such illness. No longer is mental illness something to be hushed up in the family until the dread day arrives when the victim is committed to a far-away institution.

It is now known that much mental illness is susceptible to first-aid treatment and relatively brief periods of care in a general hospital. Here exhaustive tests can be made to run down causes of the trouble and modern drugs can be administered under careful supervision. Many cases of alcoholism, which is now recognized as a kind of mental illness, can also be treated in this way.

WITH THESE advances in mind, the new Lutheran General hospital at Park Ridge has designed a full floor as a neuropsychiatric department which will serve the community in the mental health field. In this department psychiatrists and physicians, as well as clergymen trained in clinical pastoral care, will concentrate on the treatment of mental patients in the stages where they can receive relatively quick help and be spared months and years in a mental institution.

When this department opens at Lutheran General, it will help bring into being an idea of total health care which is one of the principal purposes of this new hospital. Sharp division between mental and physical causes of ill health will be erased. Doctors of internal medicine and surgery will be encouraged to give full attention to the psychological causes of illness and thereby make their own work more effective. Psychiatrists who treat mental trouble will be encouraged, on the other hand, to use the facilities of the hospital to run down nutritional deficiencies, allergies, glandular or other physical troubles that may contribute to the mental upset.

This team approach to discovering and correcting health troubles is in growing demand among leaders of medicine.

White Elephant Auction Sunday

A huge assortment of pale pachyderms will be assembled at Lions park in Lake Zurich next Sunday, when the local Lions club will hold its annual white elephant auction.

All that's needed to make the affair a huge success is 1,000 people and fair weather.

PROCEEDS WILL be used to support the club's youth program, which includes music camp scholarships and educational scholarships for college bound students.

The lunch stand will be open so families may make an all-day outing of the old-fashioned country style auction. Table sales begin at 12:30 p.m., and the auctioneer will start his sing-song ritual at 1 p.m.

Numerous species of "elephants" have been collected. There are a juke box, all kinds of household goods and appliances, books and bric-a-brac, nursery stock, some mystery packages for a blind auction, and such special services as a tow job, an afternoon's horseback riding for two, and automobile servicing.

Pies, coffee cakes and home baked bread will be sold at a special booth presided over by a Lion who is a connoisseur of fine foods.

Performance Tells Story of Builders

Builders are doers, not talkers. Joseph T. Carp, Inc., is good proof of these axioms.

The construction firm, well known in the Chicago area for their many builders, has built many of the Rolling Meadows business structures as well as all of the individual homes.

THE BANK of Rolling Meadows, Jewel Tea company and the Rolling Meadows fire department building were all erected by Carp construction.

The individual residences in Rolling Meadows are real "proof of the pudding" for Carp construction. The concrete work, the masonry work and the carpentry work for more than 2,700 homes were done by Joseph T. Carp, Inc.

As a further testimonial to the quality of Rolling Meadows construction, Donald Carp, a member of the firm, is a city resident. Carp, chairman of the city Plan commission and president of the Lions club lives on Heron ct.

JOSEPH T. CARP recently marked 40 years in the construction field. Included in the firms for whom Carp has built many structures is the Oscar Mayer company; Clauss Industrial district; Charles Pfizer & co., Inc.; E. I. duPont de Nemours & company; Ciba company, Inc.; Borg-Warner Co.; Union Twist Drill co.; Royal Binding Corp; Bostitch - Central Inc.; and many others.

Resting on past performances is not the nature of Carp construction. Above the desk of Joseph T. Carp hangs the sign "To rest content with results achieved is the first sign of business decay.'

WADE GUSTASON, 918 N. Princeton, neighborhood scout commissioner, will present the charter.

Two big events will be the derby car and the kite contest, with trophies and first, second, and third place ribbons presented to the top finishers.

TB Struck in Eight Area Towns in 1959

Eight northwest suburban towns were the homes of tuberculosis victims during 1959 according to a report recently released by the Suburban Cook County Tuberculosis Sanitarium district.

Towns with patients included Arlington Heights, which had seven hospitalized at a total cost of $10,408; Elk Grove Village, one at $3,652; Mt. Prospect, six at $16,280; Palatine, three at $8558.

Prospect Heights, one at $2,794; Rolling Meadows, four at $17,292; Roselle, two at $7,216; and Wheeling three at $1,518.

A total of 509 persons were hospitalized with tuberculosis in suburban Cook County during 1959.

OF THESE 509 patients, males outnumbered females 314 to 195. In every age group except 25 to 40 there were more male patients. Even in the 25-40 group, females outnumbered males by only two or three.

At the age of 30 there is a sharp increase in the number hospitalized with TB, and the number continues high until the 60 age group is reached.

The age group with most TB cases was 40 to 50 with 97 patients. There were 92 persons with TB from 30 to 40, and 93 from ages 50 to 60.

THE AVERAGE stay of a TB patient today in a tuberculosis sanitarium is six to eight months, compared to years of hospitalization required before the advent of modern drugs.

But this is long enough to jeopardize a bread-winner's career, separate a family, and cause discouragement and fear in the hearts of both parents, according to Dr. Edward A. Piszczek, field director of the Cook County sanitarium.

"It takes less time to cure tuberculosis if it is found in an early stage," said Dr. Piszczek.

"With modern surgical techniques and drug treatments available at the sanitarium, patients can be returned to a normal family life after a few months. The public can best protect itself from this infectious disease by cooperating to help us find all cases early.

WHEN THE MOBILE unit is in your town or near where you work, take the time to get a chest X-ray. It can save your life."

The Tuberculosis Institute of Chicago and Cook County, will open the annual community X-ray survey on June 6 to find previously unknown cases of the disease.

Three mobile units will tour the suburbs from the opening date through October 7. Exact locations and X-raying hours will be announced next week.

Stops will be made during the summer in 58 scheduled towns from periods of one day up to four weeks.

Free chest X-rays will be given to all adults who take the one-minute necessary to go through the unit. No undressing is necessary.

THE CHEST X-ray reveals suspicious signs of tuberculosis and other chest pathology.

If the findings are suspect TB or some other chest disease, the person is referred to the district clinics for larger X-rays to determine the correct diagnosis.

New Zone Law Blocks Homes' Construction

Cook county's new zoning ordinance is blocking construction of homes in more than 100 countryside subdivisions, it was disclosed at a hearing Wednesday.

Owners of vacant half-acre lots have discovered to their sorrow they no longer can build under the same set of rules their established neighbors enjoyed in subdivisions where homes are equipped with individual wells and septic tank sanitation systems.

Such unimproved lots now must have access to public water and sewage disposal systems before the owners can get a home building permit, under terms of the new zoning code. But many of the subdivisions were not designed or planned for this.

TO EASE THIS hardship somewhat, County Zoning Administrator Daniel Ferrone proposed an amendment allowing a lot owner to put up a home with a well and septic tank in subdivisions where at least 25 per cent of the lots already have homes with these facilities. It was taken under advisement by the County Zoning Board of Appeals.

Three county commissioners—William N. Erickson, Fred A. Fulle, and Charles F. Chaplin—expressed views at the hearing that the proposal didn't go far enough or in the right direction.

"The size of the lot has no bearing whatsoever on safeguarding the public health," Chaplin said.

FULLE pointed out the county health department now okays wells and septic tanks on lots smaller than a half acre if the land passes soil percolation tests.

"A small sandy lot is better for a septic system than a large rocky lot," Chaplin said. "I suggest the decision rest with the rules and regulations of the health department. Let the soil condition of the lot determine whether a well and septic tank may be put in safely."

Erickson added: "These people bought lots in good faith. If the health department says it's safe to put in wells and septic tanks, let them build."

JERRONE OBJECTED.

"There will come a time when septic tanks pollute all of the land," he warned. "What we're trying to do is hold the line." He added:

"If there's no restriction, it means every 25 foot lot of record could be built on. Such lots could support a septic system without a health danger, but only up to the time other surrounding 25 foot lots are developed."

Many of the 25 foot lots are in Worth and Stickney townships, he said. Ferrone said home building is at a standstill in more than 100 subdivisions of half-acre lots and that his amendment would give relief to about 80 per cent of them.

REPRESENTATIVES of developers and property owners in subdivisions of half-acre lots urged the total lifting of the ban on individual wells and septic tanks.

Subdivisions represented included Deer Grove in Palatine township and four developments of the Branigar Organization of Bensenville, land subdividers, three of the subdivisions in Schaumburg township and the fourth in Elk Grove township.

Robert Meyer, village superintendent of La Grange, was the only suburban official present to request time for filing the views of his village board. He was given until May 25.

Donkel was charged by police with traveling too fast for conditions. Police estimated damage to his vehicle at $2,000.

—Five persons were injured in an accident on the same date on Illinois 59 and the Northwest Tollway a mile north of Illinois 58. Taken to Northwest Community hospital for treatment were:

Gary F. Kane, 20, of 448 Ann st., Elgin, driver of one of the cars, who suffered a fractured arm, and a passenger in his car Wayne C. Otte, 304 Dundee rd., Elgin.

DRIVER OF the other car, Gerhard H. Kroll, 35, of 5 Evergreen ln., Carpentersville, his wife, Lieselotte, 36 and a second passenger, Ray L. Para, 38, of 523 7th blvd., West Dundee, were also treated.

Police said that Kane's brakes failed as he attempted to turn left onto Illinois 59 after leaving a tollway exit and was struck by Kroll's car, headed south on Illinois 59.

The impact knocked Kane's car into a guard rail. Kane was cited by police for having faulty brakes, damaging state property and not having a driver's license on his person. Damage to his car was estimated at $300, with $1,000 damage done to the Kroll automobile and $100 damage to the guard rail.

—On May 10, police charged Wesley W. Schmoldt, 32, of 102 N. Prospect manor, Mt. Prospect, with traveling too fast for conditions after he ran into the rear end of a car stopped for a school bus while traveling on Illinois 83 a quarter of a mile from Illinois 72. The impact knocked the stopped car, driven by Therese Flood, 65, of 127 Davison, Joliet, into a semi-trailer truck driven by Isom Hildurn, 31, of 3525 W. Madison, Chicago, who had also stopped for the bus.

THE FLOOD woman was taken to Resurrection hospital for treatment of injuries suffered in the mishap. Police estimated damage to her vehicle at $900, with $450 damage done to Schmoldt's vehicle and $50 damage to the truck.

—On the same date, police cited Robert Helfvogt, 29, of Rt. 2, Box 104, Algonquin rd., Palatine with failure to yield the right-of-way after he pulled out from a stop sign going south on Roselle rd. and was hit by a car going east on Palatine rd. driven by Rita E. Helfvogt's vehicle was described as a total wreck while there was $1,700 damage to the Newell car.

THE JUNIOR PARENTS club of Prospect high school turned the former Mt. An elaborate floor show, featuring the talented Alan King, the singing Boyd Twins, the dancing Rhythm Kings, Disk Jockey Milo Hamilton, and Don Carson's band, along with a southern style chicken dinner, will highlight the party.

Q. When the coffee or tea is extremely hot, is it proper to sip from it with the spoon?

A. No. The spoon is only for sitrring and when that has been done, it is placed in the saucer — and remains there. All you can do is wait until your beverage is sufficiently cool for comfortable drinking.

Q. Is it necessary or proper for a woman to rise from her chair when acknowledging an introduction?

A. While this is not considered necessary, nor is it generally expected — it certainly is not out of order, and it does indicate a genuine pleasure over the meeting.

After the christening ceremonies a gathering was held at the Hanner residence, which included his godparents; grandparents, Mrs. Hattie Andree of Arlington Heights, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hanner of Chicago; and aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wilson of Roselle.

On Sunday Mrs. William Cormier returned to her home at 707 N. Hickory ave. after spending two weeks in Cincinnati visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gratsch. The children, Kathleen, Mary, Peter and Mark accompanied their mother to their grandparents. Mr. Cormier remained at home, but he did get two round trips out of his family's vacation as he drove them to and fro Cincinnati.

Visitors at the Jack Anderson home on Lincoln lane for an indefinite time are Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Anderson, Jack's parents. The Andersons, who are from Oak Park, have just returned from a six months' stay in California.

Kristen Newquist, who recently had her tonsils removed, is back on the sick list again. After being in school for just three days she started running a temperature, so she has been ordered to bed again to recuperate. Kristen is the 6-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Newquist of 407 N. Hickory.

While Mr. Moore was away on a two-week business trip, Mrs. George Moore flew with him as far as Detroit where she spent a week visiting her sisters and her father. Mr. Moore's mother, Mrs. Priscilla Jones from Chicago, stayed in Arlington Heights while her son and daughter-in-law were away.

The "Heighters," original tournament bridge group in Arlington Heights, held its annual season-end award dinner Saturday night at Cooper's restaurant, formerly the Essen House. Out of the 20 couples in the group, four are from the Eastwood section - Mr. and Mrs. Lee Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Inman, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Conley Stewart. Paraplegic Leader VFW Award Winner

Dwight D. Guilfoil Jr., Arlington Heights manufacturer recently honored in Washington, D. C., has been selected by local VFW Post 981 to receive its annual Citizen of the Year award. Post Commander William Kopplin will make the presentation on Memorial Day at the ceremonies in Memorial Park that traditionally conclude the annual holiday parade in Arlington Heights.

Guilfoil, 37-year-old president of the Paraplegic Manufacturing Co. of Franklin Park, was notified of the VFW's choice at his home, 633 S. Burton, upon his return last week from the nation's capital. In Washington vice President Nixon presented him the President's trophy as "handicapped American of the year."

GUILFOIL'S late father, Dwight D. Sr., a World War I veteran; and his late brother, William, killed in 1943 over northern Italy, were members of the VFW. His brother, Jack, 801 S. Chestnut, Arlington Heights, survivor of the Bataan death march, is a VFW member.

Dwight is not, however. VFW membership is limited to those who saw overseas duty. Guilfoil's crippling illness came just as he was preparing for overseas duty with the air force.

Until recently Guilfoil was active in the American Legion serving as junior vice commander of the ninth district.

3 Prize Books Are at Library

Three books which recently won natonal prizes in the field of fiction, non-fiction, and poetry as outstanding American Works are available at the Arlington Heights Memorial library.

The books, all winners of the 11th Annual National Book Awards in New York, are Philip Roth's short novel and five stories, "Goodbye, Columbus;" Richard Ellman's biography, "James Joyce," and Robert Lowell's book of poetry, "Life Studies." The winning books were selected by an independent panel of judges in each of the three categories.

THE FICTION jury said that Roth's book, which depicts various aspects of American Jewish life, was "notable for its assurance, its rare high spirts, and its clarity of vision."

The non-fiction judges called Ellmann's biography of Joyce "a vital and monumentally complete biography of one of the most significant writers of the 20th Century."

The poetry prize was presented to Robert Lowell "for his poems of fierce and immediate compassion."

Sponsored by the American Book Publishers Council, the American Booksellers association and the Book Manufacturers' institute, the awards are administered by the National Book committee, a society of citizens devoted to fostering the wiser and wider use of books.

Park District Softball Leagues Have Openings

Openings exist in all three softball leagues being sponsored by the Arlington Heights Park district this summer.

The classic league, the ost highly organized of the most highly organized of the three, will play every Tuesday at 7 p.m. beginning June 21.

At least $10 of the entry fee and a complete roster must be turned in by each team before June 14.

First six teams to register at the Park District office, 500 S. Fernandez, will be eligible to participate in the league.

An individual entry fee of $3 per player is assessed. Each team must furnish its own equipment, with uniform colors reserved at registration.

PIONEER, Recreation and Arlington Greens parks will be the sites for the 10 game schedule. Professional umpires are used.

The Sportsman league, a more informal group, will begin a 10 game schedule Wednesday, June 22, with all games set for Wednesday at 7 p.m.

No entry fees are required. However, each team must bring a $5 forfeit fee to the park district office and give the name, address, and phone number of the manager and co-manager.

Forfeit fee will be refunded if the team finishes the season without forfeiting more than one game. The first eight teams to register will be accepted. No rosters are required.

Games will be played at Pioneer, Recreation, and Arlington Greens parks.

AN INFORMAL league for women and high school girls will play games at Pioneer park every Tuesday at 7 p.m.

Interested teams and individuals may register by phoning the Park district office, CL 3-0620, and by coming to the organizational session June 21 at Pioneer park.

Spare players will be assigned to teams and a schedule to begin that evening will be drawn up.

There wil be no fees or rosters.

SHOPPING FOR A CHURCH
It is encouraging that so many people "shop around for a church" these days. Do the shoppers know what they are looking for? Do they want to find truth, or helpful friends who will lead them in the good life? Do they want a church school for their children? Do they look for a field in which they may do Christian work?

Painting Is Made Easier

Homemakers who have rolled their own colorful coats of water-thinned latex paints on walls from attic to basement can now demonstrate their skill in the open. Latex paints, which make indoor painting so easy, are now available for the outside of the house. Specifically designed for use on exterior wood as well as masonry, they can be applied with roller or nylon brush even in near freezing temperature.

Weather problems are kept at a minimum, because these paints can be applied after a rainstorm, or after heavy dirt has been hosed down, while the surface is still damp. They dry in less than half an hour. This makes for a rainproof, dust-free and bug-free coat of fresh paint in record time.

AMATEURS, LIKE PROFESSIONALS, simply add water according to label instructions to achieve a smooth coat with color retention as well as resistance to fading, peeling and blistering. Plain soap and water cleans hands and paint tools. Spots wipe off with a damp cloth if attended to promptly.

Manufacturers recommend the new latex paints for suitably primed or previously painted sidings of wood or metal. These paints are their own primer on exterior masonry, stucco, asbestos and asphalt shingles.

PARTICULAR HOMEMAKERS can round out their spring outdoor improvements with a clean-up campaign for patios and garden accessories. To remove winter grime brush the flagstone or cement surfaced patio with a solution of dry chlorine bleach (one-half cup to a gallon of water), then hose it down. This also works for stone or cement flower urns and bird baths.

HERE IS AN unusual meat filling for turnovers. It is canned meat ball stew, which makes this a convenient as well as thrifty dish to serve your family. As a perfect partner to this hearty meal, try an herb sparked salad of greens mixed with a simple olive oil dressing also featured this week. (SH

Unusual Turnover Recipe

The smart way to make both ends meet, budget and diet, is to plan thrifty menus that are appetizing and nutritionally sound. One answer to this problem is to serve a taste-tempting canned meat ball stew. This thrifty one-dish meal boasts rich beef meat balls, potatoes, carrots and peas all perfectly seasoned in a savory gravy.

Besides being a nourishing and tasty main course, it is remarkably easy to prepare. Thanks to the ingenuity of a famous chef serving stew is no longer a time-consuming chore. You just open the can and heat the contents. The result is a meal in a minute with a chef's touch.

With a bit of imagination, you can also make use of this handy stew in other ways, too. One way that your hungry family will surely enjoy is this recipe for delicious Meat Ball Stew Turnovers. They are crisp triangles of herb-seasoned pastry with a filling of meat ball stew. When serving them you may also spoon canned mushrooms and gravy over them for an added chef's touch.

MEAT BALL STEW TURNOVERS

1 package pie crust mix
½ teaspoon poultry seasoning
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 tablespoon chopped chives
1 (15½-ounce) can meat ball stew
1 (20-ounce) can mushrooms in brown gravy

Prepare pie crust according to directions on package. Before adding water, fold the poultry seasoning parsley and chives into the dry ingredients. Roll out a square of dough 12" x 12" and cut into 4 squares. Place a large spoonful of meat ball stew on each square. Fold into a triangle. Prick with a fork. Bake at 450° F for 15-20 minutes. Heat mushrooms in brown gravy and pour over baked turnovers. Makes 4. (SH

Storing Olive Oil

When you buy olive oil, keep it stored in the same container in which you bought it, whether metal or glass, advises the Spanish Olive Oil institute. It is important to keep the container covered, or stop up the opening in a metal can with a wad of paper towel, for the oil must be kept clean. It is impurities, such as dust from the air, which cause olive oil to grow rancid. Refrigeration is not necessary. (SH

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

by Edward Rentz

Alaska, with a population of less than 200,000, consists of small towns and, consequently, small restaurants. These restaurants are much the same as those found in the other 48 states. Although prices are higher, they are, of course, down from the time when eggs were a dollar apiece and gold nuggets and dust were legal tender.

Fresh salmon, shrimp, and other fresh fish are supplied locally, but most of the other food served must be imported from Seattle. So, of course, menus depend on the supply of food available.

Mental Hospital 'Idea' Is Becoming Obsolete: Doctor

by PHILIP NELSON

An English psychiatrist told an enthusiastic overflow crowd of 1800 state mental health workers and guests that the "idea" of a mental hospital was becoming obsolete.

He pointed to his own country, where he said the new mental health bill "does away with the designated hospital and any hospital may now have psychiatric beds where patients come and go without any formality whatsoever." His talk was given May 2 at the 12th annual mental health dinner at the Hilton hotel.

Dr. Maxwell Jones, a consultant in mental health, World Health organization, Geneva, Switzerland, and Commonwealth visiting professor in psychiatry at Stanford university, went on to say:

"Even the voluntary forms have been dropped. A patient may walk out after 10 minutes if he doesn't like it."

ONLY TWO medical certificates will be required and "no legal involvement at all" for commitments, and "virtually all mental hospitals in Britain offer out-patient facilities to the areas which they serve."

Psychiatric specialists "make frequent domiciliary diagnostic vsits (22,809 such visits were made in 1958) to the patient in his home."

In an amazing evaluation of the new "therapeutic community," towards which mental health is groping and of which he is a pioneer, Dr. Jones suggested that the mental hospital is "already beginning to feel bypassed," and "nurses are asking for roles that are more community-centered."

The small diagnostic unit attached to the general hospital is stealing the thunder of the hospital itself and has become the center for teaching, psychiatric assessment and short-term treatment, he said.

PICTURING the long-stay annexes in a completely different light than the typical mental health hospital one visualizes, he asked:

"Given patients, who as a group, will, in most cases, be capable of only a marginal adjustment in outside society, if at all, then what sort of social organization should be evolved to give them the optimal social conditions compatible with their mental state?"

His answer, and this is his pet project, was "something more like a village settlement than a hospital will emerge. Already, several mental hospitals have demonstrated the feasibility of employing even disturbed and hallucinated schizophrenic patients on paid production work in a hospital factory doing contract work for outside firms."

AND HE SHOULD know. Author of the book "The Therapeutic Community," Dr. Jones reports on his work in the industrial neurosis unit at the Belmont hospital in London. His therapy included the entire working day of the patient and included all of his contacts with other persons.

The patients studied were regarded as unemployable for personality reasons, and some were regarded as beyond treatment. Despite the hopeless possibilities, he met with results showing 44 per cent had good records of health, family life, work experience and general adjustment, one-third failures and 22 per cent making "fair adjustment."

He cited an example of a British mental hospital in Southern Nigeria, where Dr. Lambo found the natives viewed a hospital where one went to die. "Not having had mental patients in the past, they were unaffected by the custodial excesses which we associate with mental hospitals in the West during the past 100 years."

THE DOCTOR studied the village culture, and feeling that the patients would be happier and improve sooner if they lived in familiar surroundings, "found a village which was prepared to absorb mental patients and their families. This has proved to be so successful that two other village settlements have been started."

He predicted the social structure of the future hospital as more ordinary "village settlements," with their own factories, the "maximum possible range of role playing opportunities, and a large degree of self-determination."

However, before we plunged totally into this new concept of mental treatment, as opposed to what he called the "Dark Ages" of custodial care in large institutions, he cautioned that it was necessary to "know much more about community attitudes to mental health and how, if possible, to modify these in ways favorable to the betterment of mental health."

AT THE banquet over which Dr. Otto Bettag, director of the Illinois Department of Health, presided, Dr. Jones spoke in a (by American standards) diffident, modest manner, softly and yet with such humor that the audience often roared with laughter.

In typical British dialogue, at one point he was speaking of the "therapeutic community in the hospital," and added: "if it isn't, then it jolly well ought to be."

"I don't think we need take the mentally ill too seriously," he said at another point. "If the mentally ill person escapes and does some anti-social act, why is it news? It happens on the outside. Why not on the inside (of hospital patients) If Granny gets out of the hospital and runs about in her nighty, what's the news?"

Again, he said: "We must ask ourselves — what is a mental hospital? Why call it such? If we dropped the term hospital, we might think in a more objective way. This is a heritage of the Dark Ages — custodial methods."

ALSO — "We could change the mental image, which is distorted. The same applies to the criminal. The violent sexual maniac is very rare."

And — "We must know what the man in the street thinks before we apply this (progressive methods). This is a most exciting dimension, a most exciting age to live. We must be more logical.

"What is our attitude to subjects like the homosexual? Who's wrong, the homosexual or us? Well, I'll leave that with you."

And leaving his audience with his unanswered provocative question, he concluded as the crowd of 1800 applauded vigorously amidst an uproar of laughter and smiles that attended many of his sallies delivered in an off-hand manner.

Less than a week later, Chicago State hospital, 6500 Irving Park, which Dr. J. Herbert Maltz, superintendent, had said: "functions along the same lines as the therapeutic community with treatment teams as outlined by Dr. Jones for the past 3½ years," became the center of a controversy.

A murder of a cab driver had been committed by a patient at the hospital out on a night pass, and the state's attorney threatened to launch an investigation of the manner in which patients slipped in and out of the institution.

Delicious Breakfast Finale: Mrs. Auld's Rum Pecan Rolls

by LOIS SEILER

Coffee Cakes and Short Cakes are the specialty of our good cook-of-the- week.

Mrs. John K. Auld of Arlington Heights believes variety is the spice of life, or at least in the food line it perks up appetites and makes for more interesting meals. And thus she has shared with us two excellent recipes for a basic yeast dough and a short cake, both with variations.

With the basic yeast dough, all sorts of tempting breakfast delicacies can be prepared. Too often this most important meal of the day is neglected because homemakers claim their families won't eat it. Perhaps this is because the effort isn't made to make this meal attractive and interesting.

WITH JUST this one recipe of Mrs. Auld's you can have an appealing selection of breakfast baked goods to last of couple of days. Two coffee cakes, rum butter rolls or pecan rolls can be made. Couple this selection with scrambled eggs, fruit and cereal and you'll have a nourishing and delicious breakfast the most stubborn nonbreakfaster couldn't resist.

The coffee cakes made from this yeast dough are filled with white raisins and nuts and flavored with cinnamon and brown sugar. The rum-butter rolls are baked in tiny muffin tins and are also excellent to serve as luncheon rolls with a fruit salad. They may be served for dinner, too, along with plain rolls.

WHEN MRS. Auld prepares this dough she often triples the recipe, making a half-dozen coffee cakes or perhaps a couple of cakes and some of the variations. These she freezes, and they are available at a moment's notice. Often, upon arising in the morning, she will remove a coffee cake from the freezer and pop it into her electric skillet. Thus, when the family comes to breakfast, the coffee cake has defrosted and is toasty warm.

There are any number of interesting variations possible with this dough. Try your hand at experimenting and you may be pleasantly surprised with the results.

Mrs. Auld's dislike of repetition even runs to desserts, and her short cake recipe can be prepared in a variety of ways.

The cake may be baked in a pie tin and served topped with strawberries and whipped cream. Her family likes the cake cut in two layers, filled with strawberries and topped with more berries and whipped cream. Or the dough may be cut in large circles and baked on a cookie sheet for individual biscuits.

BLUEBERRY kuchens may also be prepared with this dough. Two pie tins are used, and each cake is spread with blueberries and covered with a streussel topping.

This cake is delicious served warm, and is just as good made in advance and re-heated. It is an elegant Sunday morning breakfast cake, and is a delightful dessert as well. Try it for a ladies coffee party or an evening dessert, dressed up with a dab of whipped cream. You'll enjoy the cake and the compliments!

IN ADDITION to her homemaking activities, Mrs. Auld manages the Toy and Hobby Shop in Arlington Heights. She is also a member of the Republican Women's organization.

The Aulds live at 1009 Watling rd. in Arlington Heights. They have two sons with hearty appetites, who thoroughly enjoy the above recipes. They are Robin, who is 15, and James, 12.

Basic Yeast Dough

1 cake yeast or 1 package dry yeast
1 cup lukewarm milk
¼ cup sugar
1½ cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, beaten
¼ cup salad oil or melted shortening
1½ cups flour

Dissolve the yeast in the lukewarm milk. Add the sugar and flour, mix together. Cover and let bubble. Then add the salt, beaten eggs, salad oil and flour.

Beat thoroughly and let rise in a warm place until double in bulk. This is a soft dough.

To make the coffee cakes, turn dough out onto a floured board and divide in half. Pat each half into a long rectangle. Spread with melted butter and sprinkle with light brown sugar, cinnamon, white raisins and chopped nuts.

ROLL UP each rectangle as you would for a jelly roll and form into a circle. Place on a greased cookie sheet.

SUCCESSFUL HOMEMAKING

Take a scissors and cut into the dough at two-inch intervals. Turn the pieces on their sides.

Bake in a 350 degree oven for 15 minutes. Makes two cakes.

To make the rum-butter rolls, pat out the dough and spread with rum butter which is available at specialty shops and the "Stop and Shop" in Chicago. Sprinkle with cinnamon and chopped nuts.

Make a long narrow roll and cut in slices. Place the slices, cut side up, in tiny, 1½-inch, greased muffin tins.

Bake in a 350 degree oven for 10 minutes. When done, spread with a thin confectioners sugar icing, which has been combined with 1 teaspoonful of rum butter.

Makes two dozen rolls.

Short Cake with Variations

2 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 tablespoon sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1/3 cup shortening
1 egg, slightly beaten
¾ cup milk

Combine the flour, baking powder, sugar and salt. Cut in the shortening as you would for pie dough.

Combine the egg and the milk and stir into the flour-shortening mixture.

Pat the dough into a circle to fit a 9-inch greased pie tin or cut in large circles with a cookie cutter or a glass for individual biscuits.

BAKE IN a 375 degree oven for 30 minutes or until golden brown.

Sweeten one quart of fresh strawberries. (frozen berries may be used). Spoon the berries over the short cake and top with whipped cream.

The cake may be cut in two layers, filled with berries and topped with additional berries and whipped cream.

Blueberry Kuchen

Prepare the above short cake dough and divide into two equal portions. Pat into two greased 9-inch pie tins.

Take one pint of fresh or frozen whole blueberries and spread over the unbaked dough. Cover with the following streussel topping:

1½ cups sugar
1/3 cup butter
¼ cup flour

Cut the butter into the sugar. When mealy add the flour. Sprinkle over the raw berries.

Bake in a 375 degree oven for 35 minutes.

When serving as a dessert, this cake may be topped with whipped cream, if desired.

Makes two blueberry coffee cakes.

Artichokes With Oil

Fresh artichokes make their own dressing when cooked this classic Mediterranean way: trim the chokes by slicing off top and ½ inch of stem. Place in kettle with 1 cup each Spanish olive oil and water, ½ lemon, 1 or 2 cut garlic cloves and 1 teaspoon salt. Boil until artichokes are tender, about 30 minutes. Drain by placing upside down on rack. Cook down sauce until thickened, then cool to room temperature. Serve cold. (SH

Old Creole Gumbo

Seafood Favorite

A savory gumbo full of vegetables, crab and shrimp, tastefully seasoned with basil, bay leaf, garlic and chili powder makes a robust meal all in itself when served on a platter of rice.

This easy recipe for an old creole favorite takes advantage of two kinds of handy soup mixes. They perform a double service by supplying the nourishment of several vegetables as well as an extra dividend of flavor.

Served with a tossed salad, this delicious gumbo makes an interesting and nutritious Spring meal. You're sure to find the family passing their plates for more.

CRAB-SHRIMP-OKRA GUMBO

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 clove garlic, minced
½ cup slivered green pepper
1 3-ounce can sliced mushrooms
1 package frozen okra sliced in ½-inch slices
2 tablespoons flour
2 cups canned tomatoes
1 package tomato-vegetable soup mix
3 tablespoons (½ package) onion soup mix
3 cups water
¼ teaspoon each dried basil, black pepper, chili powder
1 small bay leaf
1 12-ounce package uncooked frozen shrimp
1 6½ ounce can crab meat

In large saucepan melt butter or margarine and saute garlic, green pepper, mushrooms, and okra five minutes. Sprinkle flour over vegetables and blend. Stir in tomatoes, tomato-vegetable soup mix, onion soup mix, water and seasonings. Continue to stir until boiling, then cover and simmer 20 minutes. Add shrimp and simmer five minutes and stir in crab meat. Serve with rice and garnish with chopped parsley. Makes 8-10 servings.

GUMBO ON A BED OF RICE is an old Creole favorite that will appeal to your family. This recipe is chock full of vegetables, crab, shrimp and is made in handy fashion with two convenient soup mixes for extra nourishment and flavor.

Wetter Water Useful

Fire fighting experts say that "wet water" is one of the most effective means to bring forest fires under control. Water is made "wetter" by the addition of some household detergent. This makes the water more effective - causing it to penetrate and spread more quickly.

In fact, it is estimated that 25 per cent less water is required if detergent is mixed in. Isn't it surprising to hear about the important "outside" uses performed by our faithful household helper — detergent? (SH

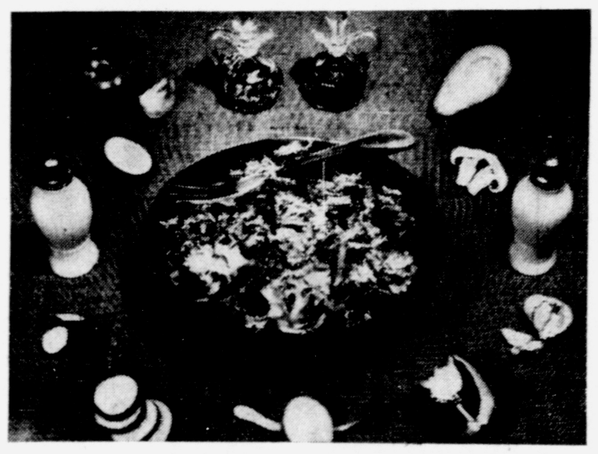
Olive Oil, Vinegar Perks Spring-time Salad Greens



Remember 'way back when salad was looked upon as a kind of sissy food? Now most American men not only demand salad as part of the meal, but may take over the mixing of the greens themselves. The blending of the salad dressing has turned into a regular ritual with some amateur chefs who jealously guard the secret of their pet recipes.

If you want to astonish your family and guests with a special new salad dressing try this trick. Buy a very fine Spanish olive oil and a fine wine vinegar and for seasoning, use nothing else but salt and pepper. We predict those who taste this simplest of all salad dressing will beg for the recipe--it's that good.

The olive oil is added first - this makes the leaves glossy and helps them to es glossy and helps them to absorb the seasoning. The classic proportion is three parts olive oil to one part vinegar. It's a mistake to use too much dressing; three tablespoons of oil is enough for 4 to 6 cups of salad greens.

AFTER YOU have tossed in the oil, sprinkle salt from a shaker over the greens (unless you prefer to measure the salt in which case measure it right into the spoonful of olive oil). Then grind out black pepper and finally add the vinegar. Give the mixture a few deft tosses for good measure and you're finished.

If you like a faint whiff of garlic in your salad, make your own fresh garlic salt by crushing a firm, green garlic clove and covering it with as much salt as it will absorb. Place this in a tightly covered jar in your refrigerator and use a pinch of the aromatic salt for salad (and other culinary enterprises) as needed. Another trick is to rub a piece of crusty bread or roll with a fresh-cut garlic clove, then toss the bread with salad greens. (The garlic is thrown away, it has done its duty.)

The avocado turns ordinary salads into party food whether added chopped up in dice or cut in thin slices or served as halves on salad greens. For the latter, it's best to marinate the pared avocado halves in an olive oil dressing, both for flavor and to prevent the exotic fruit from turning brown; use the same basic dressing of oil, vinegar, salt and pepper for the marinade.

Raw fresh mushrooms have become increasingly popular as a salad ingredient. When very fresh and firm these may be added just as they are to the salad bowl, but usually they are tastier if marinated first - again in the basic dressing, but with added paprika and a pinch or two of an herb such as oregano or basil.

RAW ONIONS thinly sliced added to the salad provide particular zest. And try this for a new way with tomatoes: chop ripe fresh tomatoes, combine with thinly sliced onion and cover with a dressing of two parts Spanish olive oil, one part vinegar, salt and pepper. Let these marinate for an hour or more before combining with salad greens.

Since the olive oil is such an important ingredient in this classically simple dressing, make sure you choose one that suits your taste, for olive oils differ considerably in flavor, density and color, regardless of what country they come from. This is because the oil is processed from the fruit of over 450 varieties of olive trees. Some oil is light in color and bland in flavor; it varies all the way to greenish heavy oil with a potent flavor.

Most of the olive oil on your grocer's shelf comes from Spain, more than from all the other olive producing countries combined. The light, golden olive oil, bland in flavor, is preferred by most Americans, but some whose forbears came from Mediterranean countries may like a heavier, stronger-flavored olive oil better. If the first olive oil you try does not appeal to you, try others for flavor.

DO SOME experimenting with vinegars, too. Wine vinegars vary as much as olive oil, depending to a great extent on the wine the vinegar is made from. You may like an herb-flavored vinegar, such as tarragon; or make your own herbed vinegar by placing a sprig of fresh dill or fresh tarragon in the bottle. The important thing is to use the best of these basic ingredients and your dressing is certain to be a success, whatever seasonings you add. (SH

Recording Pioneer Recaptures Past

FINEST record collection in the Midwest belongs to Lew Green, N. State rd., Arlington Heights, who also played a role in the history of early recordings as musician and composer. Above, among old posters and phonographs is also a penny juke box, one of the nation's earliest. It is the second machine from the right with the single selection of "Pretty Rainbow." (B8

'ALMOST STEREO' is what Lew Green calls this two-horned Duplex phonograph. It represents an early attempt to produce stereophonic sound. Above, Green looks on as his wife, Elsie, places needle on record. (B8

ONE OF THE first juke boxes in the country was this Regina Hexaphone, of 1906 vintage, which sits in the Greens' living room. It has six selections of record cylinders. (B8

Top Collector Knew Edison

Viewing Lew Green's vintage collection of records, phonographs and juke boxes is like taking a wistful but meaningful journey back to the era of bowler hats and barbershop quartets.

But to Green, who lives on N. State rd., Arlington Heights, it holds more than just historical significance; he played a major part in the history of early musical recordings.

A member of the Green Brothers, who made more records than any other musical group, Lew was on speaking terms with Thomas Edison, and can number as intimates in the field just about every major musician, composer and producer of popular song.

The Green brothers (they were actually brothers) provided the music and sound effects for Walt Disney's first three sound movies; they made records for every recording company in existence under different names; artists from the Dorseys to Glenn Miller at one time played in the Green Brothers' band.

LEW GREEN, however doesn't just reside with his memories. An advertising executive, he still keeps his hand in the entertainment field by producing industrial shows featuring Broadway talent for the Independent Grocers' Alliance (IGA) every five years shows were presented in 1951 and 1956, with the next one planned for 1961).

Green, who has probably the most complete representation of early records and phonographs in the Midwest, is chairman of the Chicago chapter of the Society of Early Recorded Music.

Bits of this assembly of musical Americana were handed down through the Green family; Lew's grandfather was one of the deans of American violinists; his father, George, pioneered to popularity the concert band in the Middle West.

AND LEW'S two sons are also collectors, insuring the retention of these historical instruments in Green hands. The oldest, Joseph, 25, who is with the Milton college choral group, is studying graduate chemistry at the Wisconsin school.

Lew, Jr. 21, plays trumpet with the Salty Dog Dixieland band of Purdue University, a contingent which shares musical billings with such notables as the Kingston Trio, George Shearing and others.

"The purpose of the society," Green tells you, "is to provide a line of communication between collectors of records, phonographs, antique instruments and sheet music."

Throughout the country there are about 1,000 collectors, he added. "But it's a hobby which has grown at an accelerated pace in the last five years," Green observed.

HE CONFIDED that some collectors only gather relics in the fields of folk music or jazz. "Ray Phillips, a Los Angeles collector, has nothing but phonographs from 1898 and earlier," he pointed out.

Green, however, does not limit himself in such fashion. His record collection, while it numbers in the thousands, is selective in that it has been culled from years of search.

Phonographs run from an 1878 Edison tinfoil to a Duplex two-horned phonograph which Lew calls "almost stereo." It was made by a Kalamazoo blacksmith. His records include the old cylinders and Edison's half-inch thick diamond disks. Among them is the first recording of John Phillip Sousa's band ever made: "The Libertybell March" (in 1896). Herbert Clarke's classic cornet solo, "Carnival of Venice," as well as this rendering by every other top cornet player, are also among Green's collector items.

A 1906 Regina Hexaphone, one of the nation's earliest juke boxes sits in the Green living room. In excellent condition, it has six selections of cylindrical wax recordings.

Lew has a number of the penny juke boxes which have one cylinder selection. One of them is factory new. The tavern owner who ordered it died before it arrived, and the family still had it packaged when Green obtained it.

But he'll inform you that there's nothing new in the recording business which wasn't produced years ago. "Edison introduced the long playing record at 78 rpms in 1926," he said. Magnetic tape was exhibited at the 1898 World's Fair, and talking (record) books came out in 1919.

TRUE, THREE - channel stereophonic sound was also an Edison invention, but "prohibitive cost was the prime cause of its failure" when first developed, Green said.

Lew, however, won't feel that his collection is complete without the rare Victor dog trademark phonograph which has an upright crank in the resembling a coffee grinder. He admits: "I'm trying desperately to locate one."

Of the many inquiries Green receives concerning the value of particular items, he will refer the party to the proper source. "Persons with a record they suspect of having value should make a list including the name of the selection, its label, the artist and serial number," he pointed out.

GREEN IS presently engaged in the chore of writing a book about the recording business which he promises for publication "by 1965." It will recall many of the lighter incidents which have occurred in the recording field, he said, although he added that "I'm following legend back to the truth."

His task is simplified by the fact that he has a rich vein of experience he can mine for the documentation. Green came here in 1943 to produce the "Breakfast Club" radio show. He has worked with or been associated with Kate Smith, Fred Allen, Ferde Grofe, Victor Young, Ethel Merman, Paul Whiteman, Cole Porter, the Andrews Sisters, Phil Silvers, and other notables of Broadway and the broadcasting and recording business.

When James Melton left the Green brothers' band as a soloist he was replaced by Frank Parker; the two singers' stars were to later rise to prominence.

The first three Disney sound pictures which the brothers produced music and sound effects for were: "Steamboat Willie," "The Opry House" and the first Silly Symphony, "The Skeleton Dance."

THE BROTHERS, George, Joe and Lew, started in 1916, making records under various names, e.g., The All-Star Trio, the Green Brothers' Novelty band.

"Many people's favorite singer at the time was Walter Scanlon; others preferred Walter Van Brunt. He was the same man, but there was actually a rivalry built up between the two" performers," Green chuckled.

The death of Joe disbanded the Green brothers band. George, whose xylophone instruction books are considered the "bible" of the business, lives in retirement in Woodstock, N.Y. He has been teacher to the likes of Lionel Hampton, Red Norvo and Jan August.

The brothers, however, left an indelible mark on the recording industry before Joe's untimely death (of lung cancer). They pioneered in the field of recorded transcriptions, being the first band to record on Muzak, the wired music laced through restaurants today. They were among the first performers to contribute to NBC's thesaurus, the broadcasting company's library of recordings. Joe also was featured soloist for Sousa's band.

Presently, besides his book, Lew is preoccupied with the next musical production he is planning for IGA. "We hope to have it at the Lakefront Exposition in Chicago," he confides. In the two previous musical comedies the firm sponsored, Green also wrote the book and music for the production.

Lew's collection also affords him the opportunity to tape old renditions off cylinders and disks for use by various schools throughout the country.

A MEMBER OF the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers (ASCAP), he recalls the time when bands used to have to play a piece 30 times in order to produce 30 cylinders in a day for the public consumption.

"In a five day week, they'd have a total of 150 cylinders. Production was increased by playing several recording machines at one recording" Green said. For this effort, musicians received the regal sum of $1 to $2 a week.

"Herbert Clarke, the greatest cornet soloist who ever lived, received $4 for making a solo recording," he added.

Musical artists, however, struck Eldorado with the "Caurso Contract." Green said when said when Victor offered the great tenor $1,000 per recording, Caurso countered with the demand for 10 per cent of the royalties, and netted millions.

With opera stars to pop singers insisting on Caurso contracts, "the trend alerted all artists to the fact that a lot of money could be made in records," Green noted.

COMPOSERS next organized for their share of the royalty frosting off the recording cake under Victor Herbert into ASCAP.

Lew, who admits to being "fiftyish," has started sketching a wall mural in his home which will eventually include all the recording and stage stars of his acquaintance. At one time, he illustrated his own syndicated sports sketches for newspapers throughout the country.

A big, amiable man whose closely cropped hair has started to gray, Green had this one final piece of advise for neophyte record collectors or just persons rummaging through grandpaw's belongings in the attic:

"The records by great artists who didn't sell in their time are much more valuable than the ones that did. The recordings of Bohumir Kryl, cornetist, and Arthur Pryor, trombonist, are worth much more than those of Caurso's."

Anyone desiring information about old records or machines may write Mr. Green at P. O. Box 234, Arlington Heights.

Former Area Pastor To Speak on Japan

The Women's Association of First Presbyterian church, Arlington Heights will greet Rev. and Mrs. Victor Brown at their monthly luncheon meeting May 25. Rev. Brown was pastor in Arlington Heights from 1947 until 1955, when he left to serve as pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Gary.

Because so many women wish to extend their personal welcome, Rev. and Mrs. Brown will be in the church library from noon to 12:30 p.m. for a period of fellowship.

REV. BROWN will speak on "Mission to Japan," using colored slides taken during the summer of 1959. At that time, he ministered to the needs of the rural primitive communities of Yamato and Kukushima-Ken, for whose benefit his talk will be given. "It will be interesting, as well as educational, to gain some insight into the lives of a people whose culture is so remote from our own," commented Mrs. Alfred Benedix, president of the association.

Luncheon will be served at 12:30 in Fellowship hall by members of circle 4, under the direction of Mrs. Harold Henry, chairman, and Mrs. Esther Johnson, co-chairman and the association business meeting will follow. Members unable to attend the luncheon may come to the chapel at 1:45 for the program.

Mrs. Brown will lead the devotions before her husband is introduced by Mrs. W. L. Box Sr., program chairman. Guests are invited and should make reservations by phoning the church office. (AK

Spring Luncheon For St. James Guild

At the annual spring luncheon of St. James Catholic Women's guild held May 18 at Villa d'Este, Mrs. James Murphy, president, presented the guild's gift to Rt. Rev. Msgr. George Stier. Msgr. Steir, Fr. John Lane and Fr. George Roth were guests of honor.

Mrs. Murphy also introduced the new president, Mrs. R. E. Yochem, who in turn, introduced the other new officers:

Mrs. J. Mutti, first vice president; Mrs. W. Bergin, second vice president; Mrs. A. Pucetti, recording secretary; Mrs. R. Schaefer, corresponding secretary; and Miss Florence Brehm, treasurer.

THE GUILD invites all senior women members of the parish to a tea in their honor from 2 to 4 p.m. Thursday, May 26, at school hall. The guild believes that the tea will afford an opportunity for women who no longer have family responsibilities to make new friends and social contacts. It is hoped that a senior citizens' circle can be formed to carry on any activities the members themselves wish to pursue.

Those needing transportation to the tea or those wishing further information may call Mrs. Yochem at CLearbrook 3-8701.

Organ Firm Replies To Solicitor Gripes

Carmelo Montegne, proprietor of Northwest Organ Co., 214 E. Northwest hwy., Arlington Heights, and his outside salesman, Ernest Thorsen, told Paddock Publications they believe an article in last week's editions refers to them.

The story dealt with parents who are persuaded to purchase accordions for their budding prodigies after a brief series of trial lessons.

Thorsen, who said he had no musical background, was the spokesman. He said they solicit appointments by phone, and when they visit the home offer a six-week trial program.

ONE COMPLAINT has been that although over the phone the voice says a children's band is being formed, when the salesman calls at the home he convinces the family the child is best suited to play the accordion.

Thorsen said the band referred to will be an accordion band "after we get going here." They even intend to do recital work.

Carmelo as the proprietor is known professionally, said it is a "youth opportunity program."

"We only solicit to give the opportunity to every boy and girl in the community to find out if they like music and have talent. If they do we give them for a very small fee six weeks of lessons with the instrument furnished free. They are trained to play in front of the public.

"At the end of the six weeks, if the child doesn't have ability to play the songs, the program is extended free of charge to where the child has the ability to play the trial course."

THORSEN SEEMED to feel at the end of the period they are either interested or not.

The youngster is given a talent test at the end of the course, or sooner if they are making progress. There is no adjustment in price if the course is less than the six lessons.

"Most parents know if the youngster is doing good they will have to buy an instrument," commented Thorsen.

"It is up to the parents if they want to purchase an instrument or rent one," said Carmelo. "The rental fee varies according to the size of the instrument."

ONE PARENT claims the only instruments available on a rental basis are small ones. The larger instruments must be purchased.

The rental plan is used for the trial program so the instrument can be turned in if the lessons are not continued. Many people, Thorsen said, are interested in purchasing a piano or organ, but when neither mother nor father can play, "they don't want to go out and buy a big instrument and then find out the kid doesn't do any good."

"When I go and call on a family," Thorsen said, "if they aren't interested I turn around and walk out." He said no high pressure methods were used. He said families have asked him to call back in June, next fall and even next year.

Lesson rates are fair, he claimed. "Lessons run a buck and a half a week for semi-private. We have private lessons too, but most of those who keep on coming are usually two in a class."

ANOTHER complaint was that price jumped to $3.50 for semi-private lessons unless the accordion is purchased from Carmelo.

Purchase of instruments can be financed over a two-year period. Carmelo said he sells instruments at lower than list price, and each one is guaranteed for life to the original retail purchaser.

He said he has been operating for the last 25 years, and has studios in Hillside, Lombard and on Archer ave. in Chicago. (ACM

Final Concert Is Planned Friday

Prospect high school music department will present its final concert of the school year, Friday, May 20, at 8 p.m. in the gymnasium.

The spring concert is an annual presentation by the music department displaying to the public the entire department's vocal and instrumental ensembles.

Choir, Boy's Glee club, and Girl's chorus, under the direction of Miss June Leick will represent the vocal department.

THE 55 piece Symphonic band, directed by Edward Volz, will play some selections.

Girl's chorus, numbering 70 voices, will sing the "Waltz Of The Flowers" from Peter Tschaikovsky's "Nutcracker Suite."

Boy's Glee club will sing the hymn, "God Of Our Fathers," and "Syncopated Lullaby."

THE SYMPHONIC band will open the program with the march, "Pride Of the Pacific." Two of the movements from Handel's "Water Music" have also been chosen. The band's featured selection will be "Primiere For Band" by Frank Erickson.

Selections from Morton Gould's "Windjammer" will also be presented.

Mixed choir will sing two selections from the operatic repertoire, a chorale from Wagner's "Die Meistersinger" entitled "Awake," and "The Anthem for Spring," from "Cavalleria Rusticana." Another of their featured selections will be "The Creation" by Bruce Robb.

OF SPECIAL inteerst will be a novelty featuring the percussion section in a selection entitled "Serenade to a Sand Dune." This will employ nine drummers accompanied by the band.

The musical interest centers around rhythm patterns with a Latin American flavor.

The concert will be climaxed by the combined vocal and instrumental students performing Julian Work's "Processional Hymn." Nearly 225 students of the music department will perform this selection together which is based on the familiar hymn "Gaudeamus Igitur."

Admission for the concert is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students. Tickets available at the door. (ACM

Birthdays, Impromptus Create Partying Mood

Reports of local sociability the past week suggest that Arlington Heighters were in a partying mood. Maytime birthdays are apparently abundant and non-birthday-type parties neatly filled in any empty places in the week's schedule. The weekend too was replete with impromptu get-togethers as neighboring cookouts merged across lot lines and hot dogs, ambrosia and children were exchanged.

Tracy Huntley had a whee - I'm - three birthday party Saturday that was complete with grandmother and grandfather Huntley, here for a week's visit from Eldora, Iowa. Everyone was in on the fun at 421 N. Wilshire except big sister Pat, a coed at Northern Illinois university. A quick trip to DeKalb Sunday with picnic lunch and brand new birthday cake gave her a chance, too, to happy birthday Tracy and visit a bit with her grandparents.

SUZANNE AMBERG had 13 guests at the celebration of her 13th birthday a week ago Saturday and there wasn't a jinx to be seen all day long. A bowling session with spares and strikes in lovely abundance began the party happily. From the bowling alley the guests returned to the Amberg home, 612 S. Walnut, where a barbecue supper appeased young appetites, then had to be worked off dancing. Dads who came to call for daughters at a prescribed hour were wound around 13 little fingers so they stayed on awhile and hosts, guests and chauffeurs all shared the fun of winding up a dandy long birthday party.

Pat Webster, 5 W. Olive, celebrated her May 12 birthday with a dinner party in her home last Thursday evening. Her dad, chicken barbecuer and orchids-to-my-girl-giver, did much to make the occasion festive and the dinner tasty. Extending congratulations to Pat were neighborhood friends, Miss Margo McAniff, Miss Marilyn Martin and Miss Kay Wright.

HANK TAYLOR was 11 last Thursday and had the necessary fun-and-food session in his home, 1201 N. Dunton, after an unusually long school day. Jeff Miller, Steve Gleckler and Bob Edgerton helped their pal celebrate the end of a long day and the start of another year.

Eleven Chicago and local family members were guests Sunday in the Richard Graczyk home, 718 S. Chestnut, at a party to celebrate Christine's 10th birthday. Christine had fun and so did great grandpa John Patulski and grandparents, the Walter Tondrowskis and Mrs. Jean Graczyk, all of Chicago. The celebration a family tradition, was not unexpected but what happened Tuesday at suppertime was. A parade of Christine's neighborhood and school friends backed into the Graczyk home with their clothes on backwards, shouted, "Surprise"—or maybe, "esirprus" — and had a backwards dinner that started with dessert. A backwards party is lots of "nuf" and always a "sseccus."

SIX LITTLE girls had a party luncheon together May 6 to celebrate the birthday of the hostess, Candy Lewis, who was 6, of course. The little sixes left the Lewis home, 1142 N. Mitchell, in time for school where late in the afternoon the whole class enjoyed the cake and ice cream treat of Candy's mother. Best way to end a school day anybody ever tasted.

Jody Grabow was 6 years old Friday the 13th but celebrated the Saturday before in order to have a theatre party and see "Toby Tyler." Only 12 guests were invited but the jinx of Jody's birth date came along too, and the "no more a gay evening gayer. seats available" man appeared as the party approached the box office.

The guests returned to the Grabow home, 1201 N. Mitchell, where no games or prizes were planned and a measles-ey member of the family was hurriedly put into isolation with Dad for company. Mrs. Grabow thinks the party was jinxed but none of Jody's guests can understand why she feels that way. They had a good time.

A TRADITIONAL family gathering in the Earl Riley home that celebrates three birthdays and a wedding anniversary was short one celebrant and his family this year. The Riley's nephew, Billy Cowan of Palatine, was home with mumps Sunday instead of at 738 S. Mitchell being happy birthdayed as usual. Those who did make the grade, happy and healthy, were the Rileys' son, Dick, and his wife, of Arlington Heights, celebrating a May 12 wedding anniversary and a birthday apiece.

The groom's birth date coincides with his wedding date, Mrs. Riley's birthday is today and their two children love Maytime cuz there's so many reasons to have a party. The young mumper of Palatine observes a May 11 birthday, when he's able.

A visitor this week at the Newell Crockett home, 802 S. Chestnut, is Mrs. Crockett's mother, Mrs. H. N. Ames of Fort Madison, Iowa.

MR. AND MRS. Frank Tribbey, 721 S. Mitchell, hosted 10 local couples at an after-the-dance supper party a week ago Friday night. The dance itself was delightful and the post-dance sociability at the Tribbeys' was just right to make along too, and the "no more a gay evening gayer.

FATHER PAUL BURKE, the priest to be ordained from St. James parish in Arlington Heights, prepares to enter church to say his first mass. (A

Last Saturday evening the James McNamaras hosted seven couples at a pre-dance cocktail party in their home, 722 S. Mitchell, then left with their guests to attend the Coterie dance.

Mrs. George Rickerson and Mrs. Warren Schwartz were hostesses last Friday afternoon at a welcome-to-the-neighborhood party in the Rickerson home, 1015 N. Dunton. Thirteen guests enjoyed "coffee and" with old friends and new ones.

Co-guests of honor were Mrs. William Chase whose household was moved May 1 to 1007 N. Dunton from Kansas City, Mo., and one-time Arlington Heights resident, Mrs. Richard Burham, 1002 N. Dunton. The Burhams lived here about a year ago and returned from a residence in Greenville, S. C. the first of the month.

MR. AND MRS. Edward May returned home to 1007 N. Ridge Sunday night after a 10-day business and pleasure trip to the east. They attended a convention in Philadelphia that was as much fun as business and enjoyed a visit with friends in Pittsburgh that was all pleasure.

Claudia Connery, 303 S. Gibbons, and her neighboring cousin, Susie Thorstad, 340 S. Prindle, shared a family party a week ago Saturday following their first communion in St. James Catholic Church of Arlington Heights. Eighteen family members congratulated the young ladies and enjoyed the "transient" party that moved between the Connery and Thorstad homes.

Mrs. Chet Smith, 1304 E. Eastman, was the guest of honor last Thursday evening at a baby shower given by Mrs. Robert Bliss, 1307 E. Eastman. A stork in the center of the gift table dispensed gifts to his potential customer whom he plans to call on late this month.

Guests in the Bliss home were neighborhood friends Mrs. John Freeberg, Mrs. Scotty Robinson, Mrs. Tom Boylan, Mrs. Helen Hahn, Mrs. Joe Pedersen and Mrs. Harry Davis.

SIX LOCAL couples honored Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Smeed, 533 S. Evergreen, with a surprise party Sunday night in celebration of the Smeeds' silver wedding anniversary. Keen plotting and fine timing brought the Smeeds to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles VanNess, 542 S. State, where the party awaited them.

A buffet supper, a shower of gifts of silver and a happy evening with good friends filled the schedule. Co-hosts were the Dan Mussers, the Ralph Clarbours, George Lynches, Lebert Shultzes and the Maurice Klotzes, all of Arlington Heights. Special guests were the Smeeds' daughter, Marlene, and her fiance Phil Meisenheider of Robinson, Ill., who will be married here June 4.

TWENTY LOCAL couples who make up the Heighters bridge club ended the card-playing season with a banquet last week at Cooper's restaurant. Last year's champions, the Raymond Driscolls, planned the social finale and announced the current first and second place winners the Robert Warneckes and Conley Stewarts. The latter part of the evening was spent in a final round of bridge with white elephant prizes going to the winners.

Mrs. Charles Opela, 636 N. Dunton, outgoing president fo the Wilson school PTA, was honored at a luncheon given for her in Old Orchard country club a week ago Tuesday. The Opelas were in Wilson school district until their very recent move to N. Dunton and Mrs. Opela served out her term as president. In appreciation for procedures instituted by their president, 29 members and frends of Mrs. Opela presented her with a wrist watch, past president's pin and a corsage.

MR. AND MRS. Thomas Mathews, 711 N. Dunton, returned over the weekend from a 2-week vacation in Miami Beach and Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. During her parents' absence, Lynne was the guest for a week in the homes of two neighborhood friends.

A guest last week in the home of the John Farrs, 407 N. Drury, was a Dallas friend, Mrs. Jim McKay. Sunday the Farrs bade bon voyage to Mr. Farr's aunt, Mrs. John Farr of Chicago, who is a frequent visitor here.

She left from O'Hare airport on a jet flight to London and will spend the summer in Weisbaaden, Germany. Mrs. Farr will visit relatives whom she hasn't seen since her last visit to Germany 20 years ago.

Ten neighborhood friends of Mrs. H. T. Lemmons, 624 S. Walnut, accompanied her to a luncheon and fashion show in the Palmer House last Thursday afternoon. The affair was for the benefit of the Florence Crittenden Anchorage home for retarded children and was presented by a United Airlines stewardesses group of which Mrs. Lemmons is a member. She was among the models in the fashion show.

SATURDAY VISITORS in the G. Melvin Eakins home, 407 N. Chestnut, were their son, Jerry, and his wife and children, Mary Alice, Bobby and Christine of Harvard.

Guests this week of the J. R. Walsh family, 509 W. Euclid, are Mrs. Walsh's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Kershner of Ironwood, Mich.

A visitor last week in the Mark Rightmire home, 116 S. Walnut, was Miss Janet Rightmire's guest, Doug Sorensen, son of former Arlington Hts. residents now of Omaha. Mr. Sorensen arrived here by plane a week ago Saturday and returned to Omaha this Saturday.

A DOUBLE celebration was in order at the Junior Edward McKowns, 206 S. Gibbons, May 12. While Mr. McKown received congratulations on his birthday at a family gathering, he also received a citation and a wrist watch from American Airlines for having flown over a million miles and has become a member of the Million Miles club.

A Message from J. T. Keefer, "Your Pharmacist"

SENATOR KEFAUVER PRAISES PHARMACISTS

On April 18th he said - quote - "The pharmacist only adds his profit on to what the manufacturer charges him. He is entitled to make a reasonable profit and is not the one to blame." End of exact quote.

THANK YOU SENATOR KEFAUVER.

We know you are now more familiar with drug economics than when you started your investigation. Soon, we hope, you will also learn that the ethical drug manufacturers are due much praise for their research developed new products that are helping us live a longer, healthier life. They too must make a profit.

WE WANT TO THANK OUR CUSTOMERS.

You never "criticized" us about the sensational newspaper headlines. You always had complete confidence in the fairness of our prescription prices. You know our policy is to add to the cost of ingredients only the amount of profit needed to operate a good pharmacy — no more.

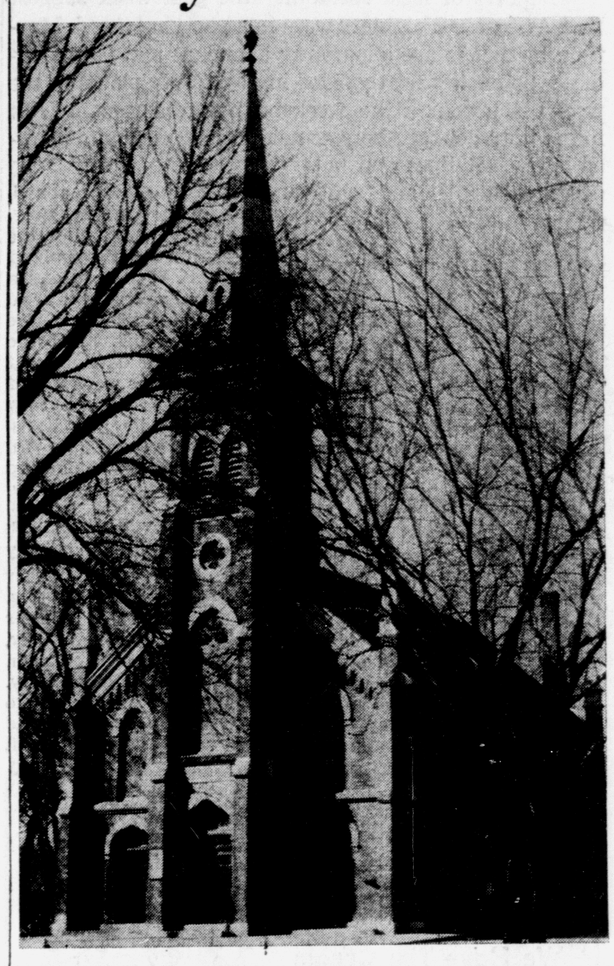
Pageant to Depict History of Church



THE OLD ST. PETER Lutheran church, which stood at Northwest hwy. and N. Highland in Arlington Heights from 1882 to August, 1959, will be one of the feature subjects in the "Pictorial Pageant" planned for this Sunday at 8 p.m. by the church. St. Peter is now located at 111 W. Olive, Arlington Heights.. (A

A 'Pictorial Pageant' will depict the 100 years of St. Peter Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, this Sunday at 8 p.m.

Under the direction of Roland Kiel, youth counselor, the pictorial presentation will include pagentry by the pupils of the congregation's parochial school, pictures of the old church projected on a screen, and other pictures dating back beyond the turn of the century.

St. Peter Lutheran church was founded in 1860 by seven families living in the Dunton area, now called Arlington Heights.

The first church building, completed in November, 1860, was located on S. Evergreen. Rev. Bartling was the first pastor.

On October 22, 1882, a new brick church was dedicated, which stood at Northwest hwy. and N. Highland until 1959 when it was razed.

SEVEN PASTORS have served the parish since its founding - Reverends Bartling, Schmidt, John Roeder, Carl M. Noack, H. C. Fricke, Luther Stephan, and presently, R. O. Bartz.

A new church plant, including church, administration building, school and activity building, is under construction at 111 W. Olive, and should be completed by mid-December.

This pictorial pageant marks the second of 12 centennial services planned by the congregation in connection with its centennial year and the proposed dedicatory service of the new plant. (A Missionary to China To Speak Here Sun.

DR. F. O. STOCKWELL

Rev. Dr. F. Olin Stockwell, an educational and evangelistic missionary to China and Singapore for 30 years, will speak at First Methodist church, Arlington Heights, Sunday, May 22.

Dr. Stockwell was the last Methodist missionary to leave the mainland of China after the Communist takeover. He was held prisoner by the Communists for 23 months, part of the time in solitary confinement, on false charges of espionage. Out of his months in prison came two widely-read books, "With God in Red China" and "Meditations from a Prison Cell."

AFTER THREE YEARS of rest and of speaking in the United States, Dr. Stockwell returned to the mission field, this time to Singapore where he remained until late in 1959. He taught and did administrative work at Trinity Theological college, a union institution of Methodists, Anglicans and Presbyterians.

A native of Perry, Okla., Dr. Stockwell is a member of a Methodist family that has given missionaries to China, India, Burma and Argentina, and a number of ministers to the United States.

HE ATTENDED Ohio Wesleyan university and was graduated in 1922 with a bachelor of arts degree. He was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic honors fraternity. He did theological study at Garrett Biblical Institute, Evanston, and received the bachelor of divinity degree in 1954. He was awarded an honorary doctor of divinity degree by Ohio Wesleyan in 1954. He was a pastor in Oklahoma five years before becoming a missionary.

Dr. Stockwell now makes his American home in Chicago.

Family Service Director, Guest of St. Peter Moms

Robert Maxwell, director of Northwest Family Service, was guest speaker May 13 at the monthly meeting of St. Peter Mother's club, Arlington Heights. He told of the needs and necessity of such a counseling service in the community and how personal problems in marital relationships, child-parent adjustment, old age, mental and physical handicaps and other human difficulties are solved.

"The nature of the service is completely free," said Maxwell, "and anyone with a problem should feel free to come to the office at 214 S. Emerson, Mt. Prospect, which serves Des Plaines, Mt. Prospect, Arlington Heights, Palatine and most of Palatine township." He went on to say that no one is refused because of lack of funds, which presents the problem of needed financial support to help the Family Service stay in operation.

AFTER MAXWELL'S talk, election for vice president and treasurer of the Mother's club was held. Officers for 1960-'61 are Mrs. William Maienschein, president; Mrs. John Mundell, vice president; Mrs. Richard Bokelmann, secretary; and Mrs. Elmer Meyer, treasurer.

Mr. Rush, co-administrator for the school, gave a calendar of events which included a centennial pageant to be presented Sunday, May 22, at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium. This is the centennial year for St. Peter congregation and the pageant will depict highlights of the church during the past 100 years.

Fall kindergarten registration for children who will be 5 before December 2 will be held from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. May 26 in the Activity building.

EIGHTH GRADERS will travel to Springfield June 2 and 3. Kndergarten graduation will be June 3 at 7:30 p.m. and will also mark the closing of school for the kindergarteners.

The annual church picnic will be held at 10:45 a.m. June 5 at the Tagge farm. June 6 is the eighth grade dinner. Closing service for all children of the school will be at 9 a.m. June 10. Eighth grade graduation exercises will be that same day at 8 p.m. in the auditorium.

Another "red letter" day for St. Peter will be at 4 p.m. June 12, when O. A. Kolb will be honored for completing 50 years in the teaching profession, 40 years of which have been dedicated to St. Peter school. Mr. Kolb is retiring at this time. (A

Virginia Terrace News

Family of the week . . . is that of LaVerne and Bud Reichert, who, with their boys, Terry, twins, Dennis and Michael, and Jimmy, have lived at 1208 N. Chicago five and one-half years. It so happens that the Reicherts are celebrating their 15th wedding anniversary today, and it all began, says LaVerne, when they met at a church youth dance held in honor of St. Patrick. Although they were born and raised in the Chicago area, they married hurriedly in Battle Creek, Mich., during the war, when Bud thought overseas duty was imminent. At the time, LaVerne was stationed there in a hospital, having made nursing her career. All are parishioners of St. James Catholic church here, Bud being a member of the Holy Name society, LaVerne a member of the Catholic Women's guild and the boys rendering their talents to the church choir.

Bud busies himself, when away from his job in the communication's department of the telephone company, by being quite a do-it-yourself man, as well as indulging in his hobby of making up floral arrangements and improving the landscaping at home. Although LaVerne enjoyed her tenure as a Cub Scout den mother last year, she is once again putting her spare time to use in painting and creating murals, having done four of the latter in various rooms in her own home.

The boys attend St. James Catholic school, from which Terry will soon graduate as an honor student, have been active recently in the boy scouts Little League and midget football teams. The Reicherts enjoy visiting their respective parents in Chicago, and generally enjoy doing things as a family group. All thrive on travelling about to see this country, swimming, and spur-of-the-moment picnics and wiener roasts. LaVerne and Bud also enjoy entertaining at home, whether it be having practically everyone they know to an out-of-door barbecue, or a formal dinner party for an intimate group of six. A perfect evening out for them includes cocktails, dinner and hours of dancing.

AN IMPROMPTU get-together a week ago Saturday proved to be a day of fun for the Bill Gunnison family, 1407 Clarendon, who were guests of Polly and George Herbert and their children, 1227 N. Chicago. After viewing the Kentucky Derby, the adults played cards, followed by dinner, after which the children were tucked into bed. The Herberts, together with Cathy and Bill, then went off to spend several hours bowling.

Phyllis and "Sully" Soultanian, 1400 Clarendon, bade neighbors a fond farewell recently and invited them to come and see them soon in their new home in Park Ridge.

Little League activities kept the celebration of Mike's eighth birthday at a minimum this year, but a family dinner party, complete with birthday cake and ice cream, was enjoyed last Tuesday evening with his parents, Ruth and John Griffith, 1326 N. Race, and sister, Julie. On his natal day, May 11, Mike and Julie were treated to a viewing of "Toby Tyler" at the Arlington theatre.

Jo Hult, 1108 N. Chicago, and her daughter, Jane, were guests recently at Jo's mother-in-law, Mrs. A. J. Hult, Park Ridge, at a Mother-Daughter banquet at St. Luke Lutheran church there.

Thrilled with their new home, to which they will move this Saturday, are Carolyn and Robert Burra, 1223 N. Wilke, and their children, Nancy and Robert. Their friends are pleased that they will only be moving to another section of Arlington Heights.

Jane Coleman, 1411 Clarendon, together with her co-hostess, Carolyn Parkin, 1511 Clarendon, entertained their monthly bridge group last Thursday evening, and although regulars Mary Ann Geer, Mary Funk and Eileen Brown were on hand, Cathy Gunnison, Marva Kuhl and Mary Burkhardt had to substitute for Dorothy Henneman, Pearl Trummer and Carol Glatz, all of whom had to miss out because of illness in the family. The evening was concluded with dessert and coffee and the awarding of a prize to top scorer, Carolyn Parkin.

Due to an error, the names of Mary Lou and Ray Crouch, 1228 N. Chicago, were not included in the guest list mentioned for the party Pat and El Lechelt, 1247 N. Race, held prior to the Junior Women's club dance at Inverness country club.

MARY HEALY, 1329 N. Chicago, entertained several friends at a practice bridge session last Wednesday evening, and although it all seems like hard work now, Elaine Kohler, Florence Paul and Julie Jano, Rolling Meadows, agree it's fun getting together anyway.

A welcome is extended to newcomers Rae and Robert Martin, 1614 W. Oakton, who, with their daughter, Sara Ann, 9 months, moved here from Evanston. Bob is branch administrator for Continental Casualty Co., Chicago, but a weekend hobby, when weather permits, is playing golf. Although Rae is busy getting settled in her new home and caring for the baby, she enjoys painting in her spare time. The Martins will attend St. James Catholic church.

The third birthday of Nancy, daughter of Audrey and James Ostler, 1216 N. Yale, was celebrated last Saturday at a family dinner party attended by her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Charles Ostler, and uncle, Fred Ostler, both of Melrose Park. Also included were her brothers, Jimmy, Raymond, Tommy and Robert.

Eddie, son of Ruth and Edward Broderick, 1233 N. Illinois, entered his teen years last Monday, but it was Sunday his best friend, Danny Quane, Arlington Heights, helped him celebrate. The boys went bowling at Beverly Lanes and then returned to the Brodericks' for a birthday dinner party, duly attended by Eddie's brother, Bill, and sister, Ruth. A birthday cake was in evidence Monday night, too, making Eddie an official 13 years old.

A teddy bear cake, ice cream, games and favors comprised a happy afternoon for the guests of Bryan, son of Pierrette and Walter Leckie, 1429 N. Chicago, last Monday as he celebrated his fourth birthday. Lending assistance in blowing out the candles were his brother, Bruce, cousin, Stephen Balow, "Skipper" Fluhrer, Cherie McKey, Shelley Hayes and Gary Martin.

Lynne Marie, infant daughter of Esther and Andy Turner, 1525 Clarendon, was baptized Sunday in St. James Catholic church, at which Rev. George Roth officiated. Andy's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Turner, Hometown, are the baby's godparents. A dinner party was held later in the day in honor of the occasion; present were Lynne Marie's sister, Jill, brother, Steve, and paternal grandmother, Mrs. E. Turner, LaGrange.

Because Steve is still recuperating from chicken pox, his sixth birthday was celebrated quietly Monday evening at a family party.

MARY ANN and John Geer, 1515 Clarendon, Carolyn and Bob Parkin, 1511 Clarendon, and Sandy and David Yates, 1522 Oakton, attended the cast party last Saturday night at the Supper Club, Palatine, by Music on Stage, Inc., which recently produced "South Pacific," in which the feminine half of these couples participated. It was a festive occasion, says Mary Ann, with members of the Navy band providing the dance music.

Viewing the matinee at Arlington theatre, followed by a seventh birthday party at home, was the order of the day last Saturday for Tommy, son of Charmaine and Charles Sayre, 1204 N. Race, and his guests, among whom were his sister, Lauren, brother, Billy, Larry and Mark Larson, Robert and Ronald Dolejs, Bill Jacobsen, Tommy Lyons and John Van de Merkt. The children enjoyed birthday cake and ice cream, played games, and each received a favor to take home.

Although his birthday had actually been the day before, Friday the 13th, threat of a jinx didn't prevent his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Forsland, Chicacago, from being on hand to celebrate.

Another seventh birthday celebrant over the weekend was Patty, daughter of Adelaide and John Fairfield, 1333 N. Illinois. At her party Saturday afternoon were Leslie Bang, Karen Garland, Cheri Clarkson, Joan Kohler, Linda Cech and Mary Beth Martin. The girls participated in a scavenger hunt and enjoyed birthday cake and ice cream sundaes, concocted out of their own imaginations.

Paternal grandfather, Leslie Fairfield, Chicago, and brothers, Jeff and John, were present Sunday afternoon at the dinner party in her honor.

It was an exciting weekend for the Fairfields, as, not only was the said birthday celebrated but their 10th wedding anniversary which was May 13 was properly celebrated with an evening out and a quiet dinner for two.

ANN, DAUGHTER of Evelyn and Albert Schmitt, 1321 N. Illinois, requested and received permission to celebrate her 15th birthday last Friday evening by entertaining Judy Whipple, Marcia Cech and Jean Guderley at dinner, which proved to be a pizza party, complete with brthday cake.

Saturday, the Schmitts, including Ann's brother, Al, left for a weekend at Lake Villa, where Evelyn's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Gernhardt, operate Hickory Knoll, a par 3 golf course, the scene of this family's fun. However, Evelyn reports that they did take time out from golf to have a party honoring Ann's birthday.

Betty Cech, 1402 N. Chicago, was hostess to her bridge-canasta group a week ago Monday. Enjoying an evening of card playing, conversation, dessert and coffee were June Visk, Joan Donath, Mary Healy, Barbara Mayland, Phyllis Fluhrer, Betty Sorensen and Elsie Sorensen, Arlington Heights.

Fourteen candles were on the birthday cake of Bob, son of Geraldine and Donald Gardner, 1302 N. Race, last Saturday at a family dinner party, which included his brother, Craig, paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Gardner, Antioch, and aunt, Mrs. Shirley Kath, Arlington Heights.

An afternoon of fun, followed by a buffet supper party out-of-doors, was enjoyed by guests of Marilyn and William Owen, 1452 N. Yale, who entertained in behalf of their daughter, Carol, who was celebrating her fifteenth birthday. Maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Johnson, Palatine, and aunt and uncle, Joan and Ken Herrmann, and their four children, Virginia Terrace, were on hand for the festivities, as well as quite a group of Carol's schoolmates and other relatives. The boys and girls enjoyed ping-pong, darts and dancing to music provided by Carol's new stereo-hi-fi.

It was a dual celebration for Rae, duaghter of Lorraine and Ray Kunstman, 1309 N. Chicago, as she celebrated her 10th birthday, for Saturday her parents entertained her paternal grandfather, Charles Kuntsman, and aunt, uncle and cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kunstman and Christine and Karen, all of Chicago, at a supper party, after which the group was joined by Rae's maternal grandfather, Joseph Schlicht, and his wife, Arlington Heights, and other close friends for birthday cake and ice cream. Her cousin, Christine, remained to spend the night with the Kunstmans, as per a birthday request.

The following day, all ventured into Chicago to spend some time with Rae's grandmother, Mrs. Charles Kunstman, who has been ill, and to have a quiet celebration with other members of the family, after which the three girls were treated to an afternoon of fun at Riverview park before calling it a day. 65 Prep Trackmen Qualify from Evanston District!

ONE OF THE highlights of the district track meet at Evanston last Saturday was an amazing anchor lap by Arlington's Mike Dundy in the mile relay. Dundy (left) made up 20 years and edged New Trier's Wendy Carpenter at the finish. With the Cardinal speedster unofficially clocked in 48 seconds flat, Arlington's mile relay unit won in the record time of 3:25.0.

Arlington Lands Four State Slots

Saturday's district track meet was the same "time worn" story as last year. In 1959 so many boys bested the qualifying times, distances and heights that state officials lowered the standards in many events this year.

One of the biggest "offenders" in 1959 was Evanston with 61 qualifiers in comparison with some districts which might qualify only 28 boys. Again this year Evanston was the big "offender." Despite tightening the qualification marks, a banner number of 65 boys are making the trip to Champaign-Urbana this weekend from the ETHS district.

In only one event, the 100-yard dash, were the times of the top two finishers above the state qualifying mark. There Theo Cox of Zion-Benton, the day's big point maker with firsts in the 100 and 220 as well as an anchor lap on the winning 880-yard relay team, equalled the state qualifying mark of :10.2.

IN THE OTHER direction, the 440-yard dash — probably the toughest race in track — had eight qualifiers led by outstanding Mike Dundy of Arlington. Dundy, one of the day's two heroes, not only won in :50 flat but ran an astounding unofficial 48 seconds flat to anchor Arlington to a new district record of 3:25.0 in the mile relay.

Other "offending" events saw six qualify in the shot-put where the qualifying mark was pushed up a foot to 50 feet and a like number in the discus. Five men qualified in four events — the 880, 880 relay, 180-yard low hurdles and 220-yard dash. The high hurdles and high jump had four qualifiers each and the mile run, broad jump and pole vault three each.

Though the trackmen were qualifying for the state meet in mass numbers, there were few thrills for the nearly 1,000 fans who witnessed the Evanston district track meet.

THE ONLY outstanding feat early in the day came when massive 18-year-old Sophomore Bob Pickens on his final try heaved the shot a record 56-2. This broke one of two records set last year when Maine's Bob Neuman put the 12-pound steel ball 56-1¼. Until the put, Pickens was in second place, Mike Hill of Libertyville pacing the weightmen with a 55-8¼ effort.

Pickens' record put was all muscle. Coming across the concrete ring with amazing speed, he sent the shot out to the record distance while at no time having it more than seven feet off the ground. In baseball lingo, it was a line-drive home run.

The afternoon's track events were "dull" during the early part though the times were outstanding. Bill

Three State Meets on Weekend Slate

KICKIN' IT AROUND

By BOB FRISK

PEOPLE IN MORTON, Ill., witnessed a strange sight at times last fall when a 5-9, 135-pound boy jogged along in a track uniform listening to music from a transistor radio strapped high on his right arm.

It seems Allen Carius, the track phenom, was out on another of his long, lonely jaunts in cross country. He had a unique means of combating boredom during his effortless victories.

But no one laughed at the boy who eventually finished second in the state cross country run behind New Trier's Weymouth Kirkland. Carius is a dedicated performer who not only is a strong runner but who also has tremendous leg speed.

Several prep trackmen will be in the spotlight Friday and Saturday in the state finals, but you can be sure a lot of attention will be focused on the little runner from Morton, Ill. The mile run always appeals to people and when a record is a definite possibility, the interest picks up even more.

AL CARIUS

Carius has already bettered the state mark of 4:20.7 with a season best of 4:18.4. He won his district test last weekend in 4:19.8.

Jimmy Bowers, state record holder in the mile, feels that Carius will break the distance standard. "I've worked with Al a number of times," Bowers noted, "and I know he's a fine runner. His leg speed is better than mine when I was in high school and he can turn it on in the stretch if he has to."

Carius was originally a 440 man, then switched to the 880 last year and after cross country last fall to the mile. He had a :51.1 quarter as a sophomore and boasts a 1:59.6 880 this spring.

Although both Kirkland of New Trier and Rich Taylor of Wheaton broke 4:30 in the mile last weekend, it doesn't appear Carius will have too much trouble in the state. He'll have to set his own pace as Bowers did when he was running for DeKalb.

At the outset of the season Carius set his mile goal at 4:26. He's well past that mark and is shooting for 4:15 in the state. With favorable conditions he could reach that goal!

Libertyville's Boys' Club is sponsoring a Lake County track club for boys during the summer. . . . The program is for boys ten years old through college graduates with both a junior and senior division. . . . The club secured permission to use the school's track facilities. . . . The Cook county American Legion Junior baseball finals, a four-team double elimination tourney, will be held Thursday through Sunday, July 28-31, at the Chicago Heights AA park. . . . Arlington hosted the legion finals for 1958 and 1959 and would like to land a state tournament.

The Illinois State Register in Springfield is conducting a survey to determine whether there should be more than one class of competition in Illinois high school basketball play. There are three alternatives on the ballot: the present one-tourney plan; the two (A and B) classes, 500 students and above for Class A; or three or four (A B, C, and D) classes.

Our Air Force (Reserve) commitment forced us to miss the district track meet at Evanston Saturday, and we're sorry we weren't a part of the crowd which witnessed Mike Dundy's amazing anchor lap in the mile relay. . . . The verbal accounts of Mike's performance reminded us of a warm Saturday afternoon six years ago when LaGrange's Hal Caffey came out of nowhere to give the Lions the mile relay and team title in the state track meet. . . . Caffey was about 30 yards behind when he took the baton but he made up the distance and was unofficially clocked in :47.4! . . . Two outstanding prep basketball players are apparently leaning toward the University of Illinois. . . . Glenbard West's Denny Hansen and Ottawa's John Love have both indicated a definite interest in Illinois for college. . . . Arlington's Bob Inman, a basketball and tennis standout, appears headed for Harvard.

When Maine township's Chuck Mohr cleared 6-6¼ in the Evanston district last Saturday, it wasn't the state's best jump in history as many people believed. Mohr's leap did top the state mark held by Arlington's Bill Palmer, but in 1942 a Centralia prep named Dike Eddelman registered a brilliant 6-6¾ effort in the Bridgeport district. Eddelman, who went on to win 12 letters at the University of Illinois, was hampered by rain and cold in the state test that year and only went 6-4½, less than an inch shy of a mark then held by Lowell Spurgeon.

Al Kruse Qualifies In Golf

Arlington's Al Kruse will carry the area's hopes for state golf honors this weekend as he vies for the individual title in the Illinois Interscholastic meet in Champaign.

Kruse earned his trip downstate with the medalist crown in the Arlington Heights district test last Friday at Old Orchard golf club.

Sixteen teams will match talents in the links affair which opens at 8:30 a.m. Friday at Savoy, the University of Illinois course. The finals will be held Saturday at 8:30 a.m.

A NEW TEAM champion is assured as 1959 titlist Highland Park failed to qualify for the '60 playoffs. Back to defend his individual crown is Elgin's Dave Huske, runner-up to Kruse in the Arlington district.

Any player who is eligible to compete in the state tourney, either as an individual or as a member of a team, will be automatically eligible for individual honors.

Elgin high school sent its team downstate with a five-stroke victory over Ralph Meyer's Arlington Cards in last Friday's district. The Maroons recorded a four man total of 307.

ARLINGTON'S 312 was good for second and Maine township finished third with 317. Barrington and Prospect tied for fourth with 319 and Palatine gained the fifth slot with a 320 total.

Rounding out the team places were East Leyden (327), Maine West (331), and St. Edward of Elgin (333).

Kruse's 71 led the individuals in the district as he combined nines of 36 and 35. Elgin's Huske, individual champ in last spring's state meet with a 147, finished in the runnerup slot with a 74 and Prospect's Chris Bersted registered a 75 for third.

IN ADDITION to Huske's 74, Elgin had Rod Rasmussen with a 76, Jerry Meier with a 77, and Craig Sorenson with an 80.

Kruse's 71 sparked the Arlington Cards with Ralph Ibbotson and Al Grotefend recording 80s. Rog Haenggi came in with an 81.

Bersted paced Frank Wright's Prospect Knights with his 75 and Jim Palmer fired an 80. Reg Hawkinson and Jeff Louthain rounded out the PHS total with 81 and 83 respectively.

Coach Gary Clendenny's Palatine Pirates had two boys shoot in the 70s with Dave Howland at 77 and John Seehausen at 79. Jim Mellin toured the course in 81 and Steve Hicks recorded an 83.

PENTANE GAS won the championship of the Paddock Classic Traveling League with all six bowlers on hand to take home their loot at the annual dinner of the league Saturday night at Martinetti's Restaurant in Crystal Lake. Holding the big award were sponsor Vincent Kreft and league promoter Bob Paddock. Bowlers pictured are Ed Duff, Al Valentino, Al Walter, Ward Siewert, Ernie Koche and John Ribando.

Impressive Field In Cinder Test

by BOB FRISK

An impressive field of schoolboy trackmen will assemble in the University of Illinois' Memorial Stadium Friday and Saturday for the 55th annual state track and field meet.

Weather permitting, a major assault on the record books is expected from the prep athletes with at least five marks in immediate danger.

Season and district performances this spring indicate that new standards may be established in the 880 yard run, mile run, high jump, pole vault, and discus throw.

Preliminaries will begin at 1 p.m. Friday with the finals Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Bloom high school of Chicago Heights will be shooting for its fifth straight state crown, but the title road has some formidable obstacles this spring. Such schools as Moline, Alton, or New Trier could snap the Trojans' reign and even Arlington of the immediate area might have the class to surprise.

MOST OBSERVERS feel the 1960 team champion will compile less than 20 points as the field is so well balanced this spring.

The area's best hopes for state crowns appear to rest with Arlington's Mike Dundy, Dan Striegel, and mile relay team and Willowbrook's Fred Falkner.

Also making the trip downstate will be the Cards' Chuck Phelan in the 880; Palatine's Don Smith in the shot put and Bill Smith in the discus; Willowbrook's Rich Janssen in the 880 and its mile relay unit; and Prospect's Daryl Boyd.

DUNDY IS FACED with a strong field in the 440, including defending state champ Elzie Higgenbottom of Bloom, but the Cardinal senior could come home with the top prize. Mike's best effort is :50.0, but he's capable of cutting that time down with some stiff

Loop Meets Face Cardinals, Knights in Spring Sports

Both the West Suburban conference and Interim association will stage their loop meets for golf, tennis, and track next week as the curtain comes down on the 1960 spring sports campaign.

The Interim will crown new champions in each meet as the association is in its initial year of operation.

On a varsity level, Arlington high is the defending WSC golf and track titlist while Hinsdale's Red Devils rolled to the loop's tennis championship in 1959. Froshsoph champs were Hinsdale and LaGrange in tennis, Maine in track, and Downers Grove in golf.

PRELIMS IN frosh-soph tennis will get underway Monday in the Interim association with the frosh-soph golf test also slated for May 23. The West Suburban's varsity and frosh-soph golf meets are set for Acacia country club, south of La Grange, on Monday.

Tuesday's schedule finds the varsity prelims in Interim tennis and the varsity finals in Interim golf. Varsity and frosh-soph tennis prelims in the West Suburban will be held at LaGrange and Hinsdale.

On Wednesday's card are the WSC tennis finals at Riverside and the West Suburban track meet at Riverside.

THE INTERIM association will wrap up its loop meets Thursday with the finals in varsity and frosh-soph tennis and the conference track meet at Glenbrook high school.

Hinsdale appears capable of holding on to its varsity tennis championship in the West Suburban but it's questionable whether Arlington can repeat in track and golf.

Coach Russ Attis' cindermen boast some talented individuals in Mike Dundy, Dan Striegel, and Chuck Phelan but don't appear to have the depth for a track repeat. The Cards edged Maine by one point in the '59 meet but such point-winners as Rich Bader, Ed Whitelaw, Charley Yager, and Ken Courter graduated.

GLENBARD WEST'S Ron Menely ranks as the favorite in both sprints with Dundy, last year's 880 champ, ruling the 440. Arlington's Chuck Phelan and Maine township's Jack Kragie should battle it out for the 880 title.

Glenbard's Dave Stineback, Hinsdale's Bill Walsh, Downers Grove's Bill Bulet, and LaGrange's Hank Crawford head the mile field with Glenbard's Jerry Martin and York's Jim Elliott the hurdle favorites.

Hinsdale's Pete Martin, Arlington's Striegel, and York's Mike Psaltis finished 2-3-4 in last year's shot put battle and are back this spring, and Striegel copped a second in the WSC discus.

LAGRANGE OR Glenbard West should rule the 880 yard relay with Arlington heading the mile relay field. Glenbard West and Downers Grove also boast impressive mile relay units.

LaGrange's Tom Atkinson ranks as the broad jump favorite with Glenbard West's Dick Carroll and LaGrange's Ray Ingersoll outstanding pole vaulters. Maine township's Chuck Mohr appears in a class by himself in the high jump.

Arlington could repeat in golf if Al Kruse and company experience a successful afternoon but it's questionable. Kruse and Downers Grove's Ray Barnhardt should rule the individual competitors in the 1960 meet.

WHEATON IS favored in the Interim association golf meet but Frank Wright's Knights could threaten if they display the form evident in last Friday's district test.

The Interim association tennis meeti is a toss-up, and Maine West is expected to head the varsity track affair.

A preview to the Interim track meet will be included in next week's paper as the cinder test is held on Thursday, May 26.

Evanston Favored In Tennis

Hinsdale's Red Devils will open defense of their state tennis title Friday morning on the University of Illinois courts, but the champions may have a rough time repeating.

Several prep units, headed by a strong Evanston outfit, are expected to turn in impressive showings in the 1960 state meet in Champaign with the Wildkits given the best chance to snap Hinsdale's reign on Illinois tennis.

The Red Devils have won four straight state titles, and Marty Riessen has captured three straight singles crowns. Riessen is a top-heavy favorite to repeat but after the Hinsdale ace, it's questionable if the state champs have enough strength for a repeat.

PRELIMS WILL get underway at 9 a.m. Friday on the University courts with the semi-finals and finals Saturday at 9 a.m. on the Library courts.

No area boys will be represented in the state net meet. Last spring Arlington's doubles unit of Bob Inman and Jim Erickson captured the runnerup slot behind Evanston's Ken Paulison and Skip Gage.

MAC SAYS

by G. A. McELROY

WILL BLOOM REPEAT as state track champion? The 75 points they scored in the district last Saturday would seem to make them the favorites. The only problem is that their best boys are not up to the class of the last three years when they have breezed to the statetitle. However, last year four of their top-flight first place athletes were ineligible, injured, or out for other reasons and they still had an easy time of it. Saturday Coach Ralph Stebens' boys won eight first places in the district. Except for defending champ Elzie Higgenbottom's :49.2 quarter mile, Bloom marks were not up to the standard of the Evanston district where their strongest competitor, New Trier, competed. On the other hand New Trier won only three first places and none of the three are real sure bets to win at Champaign.

ITEMS FROM HERE AND THERE

Did you know that 421 teams are competing in the state baseball eliminations this year? This exceeds by 16 the competing teams of 1959 — Bob Menke, Crystal Lake cage mentor has resigned to go into business. He won one championship and had a won lost record of 66-37 in 4 years directing the Tiger cagers. With a full team of regulars returning Crystal Lake is set for a big year under a new coach but may not go far in state competition due to the lack of a tall man. — Bill Skea, 6'9" center at Batavia is enrolling at the University of Iowa, a school which seems to specialize in Illinois athletes. Jack Brens of St. Charles who stands 6'7" is as good and leaves Illinois to enroll at Wisconsin come next September. — There have been 24 no hit prep games pitched in the Chicago area the past season . — Mike Pyle of New Trier who holds the state record of 58'3½" in the shot did not break the district record while he was competing. This record was broken by Pickens of Evanston this last week at 56'1¼". — Pyle is captain of the Yale University football team. — St. Charles won the Kane County track meet for the first time in the 42 years the meet has been staged. — August 29 has been set as the first day practice may be held for the 1960 football season in Illinois high schools. A boy must practice 14 days before he may compete in a game. Basketball practice may not be held until October 1, The North Suburban goes farther than the state rule by prohibiting any practice before November 1.

20 YEARS AGO (May 17, 1940)

Anton Cipri won the district 440 in :51.8 and John Senne qualified, though sixth, with :53.2 for the state meet at Champaign. Palatine was 5th in the district ranking ahead of Waukegan, Arlington, Lake Forest, Libertyville, and Barrington. — Bob Busse allowed only 2 hits while the Cards got 10 of which 5 were for extra bases and submerged Warren by 15-0 — Arlington leads the Northeast Conference undefeated. Palatine whipped Niles 86-20 in track to keep the dual met rcord intact Bensenville is favored to repeat as Northwest Conference track champ in the meet to be held May 24 at Palatine. Palatine's marching band will compete in midwest competition at Battle Creek Michigan next Thursday night so John Senne will pass up the state track meet to compete with the band. There is no over emphasis on athletics at Palatine High.

10 YEARS AGO (May 19, 1950)

Bensenville has taken the lead in the Northwest baseball race as they beat Wauconda 10-1 while Ela was beating Barrington 4-2. Arlington has joined the West Suburban Conference. — Palatine golfers beat Arlington 8½-6½ for the ninth straight win for Coach McElroy's team which he promotes as a side line to being school principal. Gordon Busse won the 220 and broad jump at the district and is a real threat in the state meet. His jump of 22'7½" was the best of his career. — Palatine took second in the district golf tourney at McHenry just two strokes behind New Trier, the champ. Palatine was one stroke ahead of Waukegan, who with 10 straight wins, was the district favorite. Palatine's team was made up of Charley Briggs and Chuck James, freshmen; Tom Smith and Harold Klapp, sophs; and Shelby Stewart, Jr., senior. Palatine finished ahead of Waukegan, Highland Park, McHenry, Niles, Elgin, Northbrook, Arlington, and Evanston and had a lower score than the Chicago and La-Grange district winners.

Maine Units Top Locals In District

Arlington and Prospect both suffered first round defeats in the district baseball competition that finally received a break from the weatherman last week.

Coach Bob Baker's Cardinals saw their seven game winning streak snapped by Al Carstens' Maine West Warriors, 4-2, and Chuck Aldrich's Knights fell to defending state champion Maine township, 5-2.

Glen Van Proyen's Blue Demons then went on to win the district championship with a 10-inning, 6-5 victory over West on Friday afternoon.

ARLINGTON'S Cards only collected a first inning triple by Gregg Beckway in the loss to Maine West. Right hander Bob Kunkel was in complete command after Beckway's blast drove home two runners.

Baker's Cards, second place outfit in the West Suburban, had runners on in five of the seven innings but they couldn't push across any marker after the first frame.

Maine West countered three times in the fourth on two walks and two hits and added its final tally in the fifth on a walk, stolen base, and single by Dan Humay.

KUNKEL FANNED five and walked six in besting Arlington's Gene Dahlquist. Dahlquist struck out three and walked four in going the route.

Both center fielder George Verber and shortstop Humay had two hits each for the winners.

Maine township scored twice in the first inning and was never headed in its 5-2 win over Prospect.

TOM POLZIN worked for the Knights and was touched for 10 hits, walking three. Kerr registered the victory and fanned five over his seven inning stint.

Prospect was blanked for five frames until pushing over a single run in the sixth thanks to an error and one in the seventh thanks to key hits by Mark Thorne and Fred Empkie.

Dave Hamman had three hits for the victors while Fred Lussow, Keith Voigt, Thorne, and Empkie registered Prospect's safeties.

Arlington's Sophs Win Two Games

John Lane's fourth inning single drove in Ross Retterer with the only run last Friday afternoon as Arlington's frosh-soph baseball team edged York, 1-0.

The win gave 'Bus" Ormsbee's nine a 5½-5½ mark this season.

Lane fanned 10 but walked five and hit one batsman in gaining the decision over York. Mike McDonald slammed a triple for the Cards.

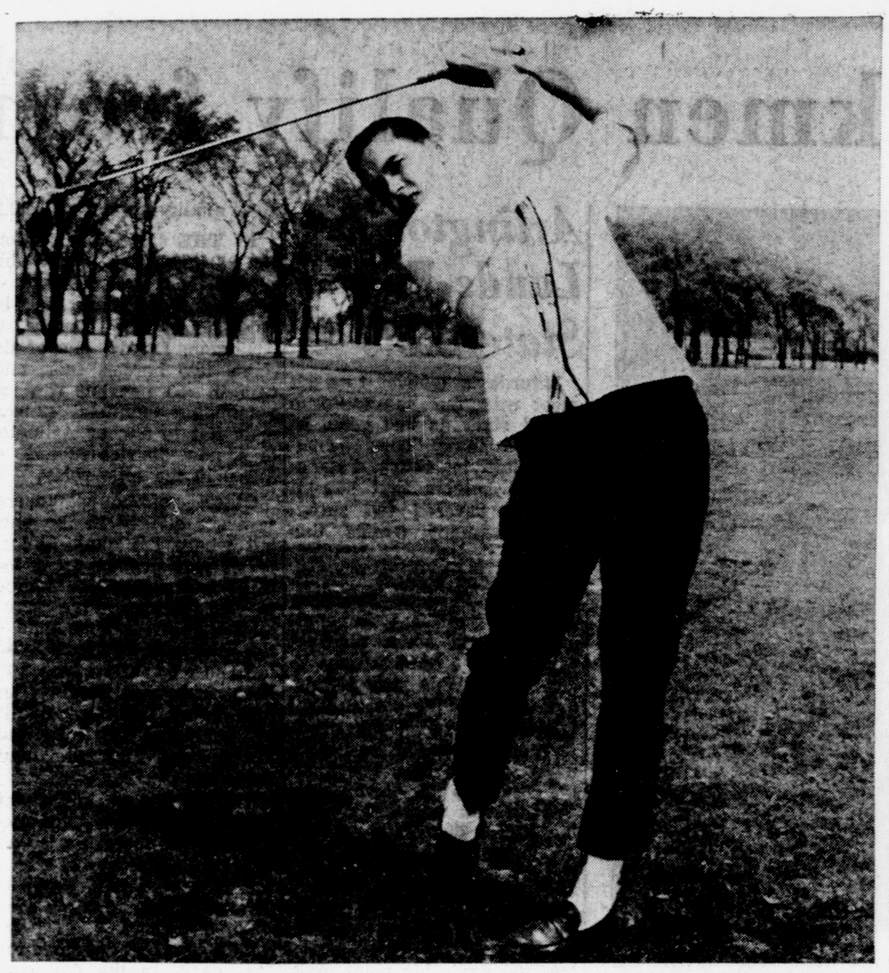
In a West Suburban encounter against Glenbard, Arlington countered two runs in the fourth inning in a 2-1 victory.

A strong relief performance by Lane saved the game for Arlington as he relieved starter Retterer in the last of the seventh.

Downers' Frosh Nine Blanks Cards, 4-0

Both teams collected only two hits but Downers Grove came out in front in the important column last Thursday in a freshman 'A" encounter with Arlington's Cards.

The visiting Trojans tallied once in the first, twice in the fourth, and once in the seventh in rolling to a 4-0 decision.



TOM JACOBSEN, former golf and basketball star at Arlington high school, has made steady progress on the Northwestern University golf team this spring in his sophomore season. Jacobsen earned the No. 1 position for the Wildcats' final tune-up match before the Big Ten meet, shooting Northwestern's best score in a triangular match against Wisconsin and Wisconsin and Michigan State. The Wildcats of Coach Sid Richardson will compete in the Big Ten championship meet at Michigan State today (Thursday) through Saturday.

65 Boys Qualify For State Track

Rawson of Lake Forest ran a 1:56.5 880—he was 1.4 seconds off his record of last year—but his nearest competitor was a good 25 yards behind at the finish.

THEN DUNDY ran his :50 flat 440. Back in the pack at the end of 220, Dundy won going away over second place Bill Gibson of Maine Township.

Weymouth Kirkland, troubled for the first two laps by Jim Weinert of Highland Park who set a fast pace, romped home by 30 yards to win the mile in 4:28.0, just one second off the district record.

It remained for the final heat of the mile relay to bring the crowd to its feet. Actually the crowd had to wait until anchor man Mike Dundy took the baton. Though the three previous Cardinal quarter-milers had run their laps in less than 52 seconds each, Arlington was in third place 20 yards off the pace set by team champion New Trier.

WITH THIS handicap, Dundy didn't waste any time. By the end of the back stretch he had supplanted Maine Township's Bill Gibson in second place and was challenging New Trier's Wendy Carpenter. Dundy wouldn't be denied. He had the strength at the finish to edge Carpenter by a yard in record time.

Three watches — all unofficial since there is no timing of individuals — clocked Dundy in 48 seconds flat.

The glamor of Dundy's feat didn't last long. Minutes later Chuck Mohr, Maine Township junior, cleared the high jump bar at 6-5¼ to break the 1957 mark of 6-4¾ set by Bill Palmer of Arlington.

WITH THE running events finished, all eyes turned to Mohr. In his first attempt at 6-6, he brushed the bar off. Using his usual rock and big step as he starts his takeoff, Mohr tried again and this time sailed over perfectly without brushing the bar.

Precise measurement of the jump, judged from the point where his foot last touched the ground, saw officials rule the jump as 6-6¼. The bar was upped to 6-7, but Mohr was too tired to be a threat. As he missed for the final time, the Maine trackman received a loud round of applause.

In the din of the two records, New Trier's team victory almost went unnoticed. expected to come out on top, Coach Ben Almaguer's boys piled up points so consistently that what had been expected was never challenged for a moment.

NEW TRIER scored points 13 of the 14 events, missing in only the discus. In five events, two New Trier boys were among the top five finishers. Yet, New Trier had only three individual champions, Kirkland in the mile, Sidney Marland in the broad jump and Rich Gritschke in the pole vault.

New Trier piled up 60½ points, far ahead of Highland Park which finished second with 25, mainly on the strength of hurdler Mike Walton. It was John Ross' point in the final event — the pole vault — which gave Highland Park second place over Maine Township which came on strong with 24 points.

Libertyville, behind Mike Hill's first in the discus and second in the shotput, finished fourth with 15 1/7 points, the 1/7 being created when seven tied for fifth in the high jump.

ARLINGTON'S strong finish in the mile relay gave Russ Attis' team fifth place, 1/7 of a point over Zion-Benton which scored all 15 points off Theo Cox's two first place finishes and the 880-yard relay title.

There was only one small school champion, Ken Truelson of Antioch who won the 180-yard low hurdles in :19.9. Not a real good hurdler, Truelson more than made up for it with his speed between the hurdles.

Three champions, Gritschke in the pole vault, Rawson in the 880 and Jeff Armstrong of Barrington in the discus, defended their titles. Only Armstrong was unable to retain his crown. Armstrong, on a late finish, took third place.

HAVING MORE trouble than Armstrong in the discus were Dan Pollack of Highland Park and Ron Leafblad of Waukegan. Both consistent 150-footers, neither one was able to achieve 140 feet and as a result failed to qualify.

Waukegan's Joe Lauraitus, one of the hurdle favorites, knocked over a hurdle in a preliminary heat, lost his balance, dislocated his shoulder and saw his chances for a trip to Champaign disappear.

If Coach Tom Gallivan didn't have enough trouble, Waukegan's star dash man, Jim Carter, failed to put in an appearance. Carter was Lake county 100-yard dash champion and a consistent :10.2 man which would have qualified him for the state.

As a reult, Waukegan scored just 3½ points, one of its lowest point totals in years.

In addition to Dundy and the mile relay unit, Arlington had two other qualifiers in Chuck Phelan and Dan Striegel. Phelan finished fifth in a strong 880 field with a 2:00.6 clocking and Striegel placed third in the shot. Both boys easily bettered the state qualifying marks in their specialties. Steve Van Doren and Tony Stavros join Dundy and Phelan on the mile relay team.

PALATINE, which had lost most every boy after finishing second in the state last year, scored more points than Waukegan. Dick Welty's team had four points. Bill Smith scored two with a fourth in the discus, Don Smith one for a fifth in the shot and Brad McCreery one for a three-way tie for fourth in the pole vault.

Both Smith boys qualified for the state. The Pirate mile relay team ran a creditable 3:33.5. This would have allowed them to qualify for the state meet last year but not so this year. Andy Merutka, Pirate sophomore shotputter, found himself in the same category. He was eight inches short of qualifying at 50 feet. Last year he would have qualified by four inches.

Prospect scored its lone point when Daryl Boyd placed fifth in the discus. Although freshman Gary Marks ran last in the fast 440 heat, he turned in a :53.3 time, outstanding for a freshman.

Qualifying from the Morton district were Willowbrook's Fred Falkner in the 100 and 220, Rich Janssen in the 880, and the Warriors' mile relay unit.

Summary

120-yard high — Won by Walton (Highland Park), :14.8; 2, Claire (New Trier), 15:0; 3, Sindt (Maine Twp.), 15:2; 4, Goldman (Niles), :15.3 (all qualify for state); 5, Luzietti (Maine West), :15.7.

100-yard dash — Won by T. Cox (Zion-Benton), :10.2; 2, Klingbeil (MT), :10.3 (qualify for state); 3, Timm (NT), :10.3; 4, Mandel (NT), :10.4; 5, Albertson (MW), :10.4.

Leyden Raps Two Homers

Exploding for nine runs in the second inning, Arlington's frosh-soph baseball unit coasted home with an impressive 19-3 victory over Riverside - Brookfield last Thursday afternoon.

The young Cards collected three homers, two by Ken Layden and one by Vince Furlong, the sophs' leading swinger with a .375 average.

Buzz Williams picked up the mound victory in a relief role. The Cards' Vogt and Ross Retterer banged out doubles.

Arlington added a pair of runs in the fifth to its second inning outhurset and sent home eight more in the sixth.

Booster Banquet May 26

The Cardinals Booster Club of Arlington high school will hold its annual spring banquet on Thursday, May 26 at 6:45 p.m. in the high school cafeteria. All boys who participated in the baseball, golf, tennis and track programs this year will be honored guests.

Coaches will be on hand to briefly review the season and to present school letters and numerals to outstanding athletes and their team managers.

Parents and friends of the athletes are cordially invited to attend the dinner by John Newhard, 418 Banbury, newly elected President for 1960-61.

Cards to Play Maine If...!

The regional tournament holds the key to whether or not Arlington will play Maine Friday afternoon in West Suburban baseball.

If the Blue Demons have been eliminated from the tourney or if the tournament has concluded by Friday, Bob Baker's Cards will host the Maine outfit at 4:15 at Recreation Park.

The unpredictable weather was playing havoc with the Arlington Heights regional at the outset of the week and it was questionable when the tourney would get underway.

Arlington needs a win over the pace-setting Blue Demons if it hopes to stay in the WSC title picture.

Track and Field Meet Is Saturday

Striegel has a 56-5 toss indoors but hasn't reached that mark in outdoor meets. The all-state football tackle is not to be counted out in the shot although Hinsdale's Pete Martin rates as the pre-meet favorite.

A Cardinal mile relay of Dundy, Phelan, Tony Stavros, and Steve Van Deren recorded the second best district time with a brilliant mark of 3:25.0. Moline had the best district standard of 3:24.7 but Bloom is still rated the favorite off its 3:27.8--without Higgenbottom!

WILLOWBROOK'S Falkner hasn't broken 10 seconds in the 100 or 22 seconds in the 220 this spring, but then the bespectacled little sprinter hasn't been running in ideal conditions. Falkner isn't given much of a chance on the pre-meet form cards but he could surprise in both dashes.

Sycamore's Bill Smith and Moline's Dick Schluter turned in :09.9 district efforts in the 100, but Sycamore's all-state football halfback appears to be the century favorite. Alton's 18-year-old sophomore B. B. Gater has a wind aided :09.7 and could finish in front of the pack.

An amazing 15-year-old sophomore from Roanoke, Bob Wheelwright, jumped into prominence in the 220 with a :21.7 district mark, but this race rates as a definite question-mark. Glenbard West's Ron Menely placed in the 220 in '59 and has a :21.8 this spring.

HIGGENBOTTOM, Wheelwright, Tommy Thomas of Rock Island, and Thom Walters of Urbana have all bettered 50 seconds in the 440 and Arlington's Dundy is a definite threat.

The 880 could produce a new record when Phillips' Joe Simmons, Lake Forest's Bill Rawson, and Gibson City's Glenn Cothern among others get together. The mark is 1:55.1 and Simmons has a 1:55.7 effort. Rawson finished second in the half last year with Phillips' Rudy Morgan set the state record.

Morton township's Al Carius is the mile favorite and the 5-9 senior is a definite threat to the state mark of 4:20.7. Carius has already turned in a 4:18.4 mile and he won the district in 4:19.8, topping his nearest competitor by 22 seconds.

DEFENDING state champ Larry Howard of Proviso East heads the high hurdle field and Howard and Smith of Sycamore should battle it out in the lows. Howard has the form; Smith the speed. It should be an interesting race.

Centralia's Gary Wolff hit 13-0 in the pole vault last Friday evening and this effort is only one-eighth of an inch off the state mark. Wolff's strongest competition is expected from East Leyden's Hal Palishen and Alton's Ed Dancey.

When Maine township's Chuck Mohr cleared 6-6¼ in the district high jump, he topped the existing state record by one inch. With favorable conditions Mohr should put his name in the record books Saturday.

THE BROAD jump is a toss-up with East Aurora's Tom Hayden the honor roll leader all spring. However, Hayden will have some stiff competition from East Moline's Orbie Giles and Rockridge's Rickey Fox among others.

Hinsdale's Martin rates as the shot put favorite and three boys--Collinsville's Bodie Redmon, East St. Louis' Don Brooks, and Moline's John Anders--should rule the discus. The discus mark of 172-3 could fall to a crack field.

No real standout appears in the 880 yard relay and Alton is rated the favorite off its district and season showing. The Redbirds turned in a 1:30.2 in the district, four-tenths of a second better than the second best performance of 1:30.6.

Four Area Men To Serve As Meet Officials

Four area men will serve as officials at the Illinois Interscholastic track and field meet Friday and Saturday in Champaign.

Wally Grace, athletic director at Arlington high, will serve as an official timer and Earl Stutzman, athletic director at Palatine, will be a high jump judge.

Hale Hildebrandt will operate as head discus judge for crew No. 1 and Ron Helberg will be a broad jump judge. Helberg will take over the varsity track squad at Palatine in 1961.

Soph Nine Bows, 7-5

Scoring a pair of runs in the first, third, and fifth and adding a single counter in the sixth, East Leyden's frosh-soph Eagles toppled Prospect last Thursday afternoon, 7-5.

Coach Dick Kinneman's Knights held leads of 3-2 and 5-4 but the East Leyden unit came from behind on both occasions and held on for the victory.

Lohr's Pharmacy In Twilight Lead

The Arlington Heights twilight golf league resumed play Friday the 13th at Roselle Country Club after it was cancelled out the week before by the monsoon-type rains. The course was dry, cold and bright -- conducive to the best efforts of all players.

Lohr's Pharmacy added another nine points to its 8½ points of the previous week to leap ahead of the pack in true Kentucky Derby style and leads by 1½ points over the second place Stan's Standard Service team.

Birdies were shot by Chuck Staadt - 13th - 350 yds. and Cecil Jamison - 3rd hole on Yellow Flag Course, 255 yds.

THE MEMBERS are still settling down to their proper games as evidenced by the changes in handicaps. Of the 60 members, 25 increased their handicap by one point, five decreased by one point and 30 managed to hold their positions.

Tee off time has been moved back to a deadline of 6:00 p.m. This will enable many of our friends who were not able to meet the earlier deadline to rejoin our group and we are looking forward to seeing them again.

Anyone interested in joining this league should contact Mr. Ralph Clarbour at CL 3-1425 or William Dobbelaere at VA 4-5086.

Canadian Trips for Boys Set by Coaches

Would you like to fish for walleyes and northerns, or hunt bear in northern Canada? Or how about trout hunting in Arizona? If this sounds like idle dreaming or the pleasures of the ideal rich, you haven't heard of the co-operative camping trips being organized for teen-age boys by a group of Suburban prep coaches.

It was back in 1949 that the idea was conceived, when Bernie Fleener, former cage mentor for Riverside-Brookfield high school and now boys counselor at Proviso East High School, made his boyhood dream come true.

With a group of scouts pooling their money and with Fleener himself as a counselor, a 21 day trip to northern Ontario was so successful that during the past summers, Fleener along with 20 other suburban coaches have been promoting the summer journies with other groups of teen-age youngsters.

THE SOUND supervision, besides Fleener, include Jim Vopicka, veteran Suburban League basketball coach at Morton high school; Ken Zimmerman, athletic director and football coach at West Aurora high school; Bill Beckman, varsity football and assistant track mentor at Prospect high school; Ted Repsholdt, who tutored Highland Park high school's golf team to the Illinois state title last spring; Art Sandusky, varsity basketball and baseball coach at Lyons Township high school in LaGrange; Chuck Cacek and Harold Boyd from Oak Park and River Forest Township High School. Cacek is varsity grid mentor for the Huskies while Boyd is also on the villagers coaching staff.

Others include Bernie Brady, varsity basketball coach at Maine East high school; Jim Carnahan, who formerly headed the Chicago Chapter of the American Red Cross; George Napier of the Riverside-Brookfield high school Physical Education Dept.; Everett Compton of the New Trier Township high school Science Dept.; Jerry Ostrom of North Shore Country Day school; Stephen O'Racko of the Downers Grove high school coaching staff; John Boley of Glenbrook high school's faculty; Tom DeHaven of the Proviso West faculty and Tom Kulkar of Lincoln grade school in Maywood.

LAST SUMMER the group traveled to northern Saskatchewan in the Lac La Ronge area. Going by station wagon and pulling a trailer loaded with their camping gear, the boys drove to the foot of Lac La Ronge. From there they flew to areas such as Lake Athabaska, Black Bear Island, Waterbury, Besnard and up the Churchill River, getting almost to the tundra country of the far north.

Learning wood lore, water and forest survival techniques, getting an unparalleled chance for fishing, (and hunting if they receive their parents permission to do so) the boys have an experience of the type they'll never forget.

All of the 20 of the selected staff act as counselors on these trips and have had extensive experience working with this age group. All of them being qualified in Red Cross Water Safety instruction.

PAST TROPHIES include besides the fish and game the ordinary camper brings home, a 39 pound lake trout and a 37 pound 11 ounce northern. Seven black and eight brown bear have been shot.

Because safety is a constant preoccupation with both the guides and counselors as well, no serious injury or illness has marred the previous trips and though radio contact is always maintained with air transportation availability, they have never had to be used.

After two weeks in the unspoiled wilderness, the groups return home, usually stopping at various places of interest along the route, such as Regina, Saskatchewan where they visit the new seven million dollar Nature and Wild Life Museum.

The cost of such a venture under the co-operative system the group manages to hold the cost to under $16.00 per boy a day or about $350 per boy for the trip.

Boys who are interested in this type of a summer trip should contact their closest supervisor mentioned above or Bernie Fleener at HU 5-9328 or by writing Mr. Fleener at 3737 Harrison, Brookfield, Illinois.

The cougar hunt in Arizona and New Mexico will be handled by the famous Lee Brothers of Tucson, Arizona.

Three Women Bring 190 Averages into Tourney

Three women will bring 190 averages from six previous tournaments into the seventh annual BPAA Women's National Doubles Championship in North Kansas City, Mo., May 21-22.

Marge Merrick of Detroit, according to statistics released today by Tournament Director Dick Nethaway, has the top average of women returning to battle for the top duo bowling title in the nation. Last year's leader, Kay Bowen of Kansas City, Mo., dropped to ninth position.

Mrs. Merrick has a 190-47 mark over the 80 games she has rolled in five tournaments. Right behind her is Marion Ladewig, one-half of the defending championship team two years running. Mrs. Ladewig, rolling in every tournament, has a 190 - 22 average for 96 games. Entering select company is Arlene Eck of St. Paul, Minn., who has a 190-12 average over 32 games in the past two years.

ALL WILL be vieing for honors when competition opens at NKC Bowl in North Kansas City, from among the record 144-team field in the Bowling Proprietors' Association of America sponsored tournament.

Mrs. Ladewig once again will team with the tournament's leading money winner, LaVerne Carter of St. Louis. Mrs. Carter, wife of Pro Don Carter, with her half of the $1,000 first prize money last year at Rego Park, Long Island, N. Y., boosted her earnings to $1,235. Mrs. Ladewig upped her total to $1,127.50 but failed to surpass last year's leader, Elvira Toepfer of Detroit, whose winnings in the BPAA Doubles Tournaments stand at $1,207.50.

Pins were difficult to topple in last year's tournament and no records were broken, though Marge Burton of Detroit rolled a record-equalling 277 game in her final try. The 277 mark was originally set by Marion Turash of Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1957.

THE NAME OF Marge Merrick, another Detroit product, entered the record book when she bowled a 3,175 series over 16 games to place fourth in that category. None of the top five team records was eclipsed last year.

Mrs. Toepfer pushed Pat Dreyer of Indianapolis out of first place in the number of 800 series. Mrs. Toepfer racked up two last year to up her total to six, one more than Mrs. Dreyer, who did not compete. Olga Gloor of Chicago came on fast with a pair of 800's last year to tie four others for third spot with four each.

Besides defending champions Marion Ladewig and LaVerne Carter, Elvira Toepfer, Marge Burton, Kay Bowen, Arlene Eck and Olga Gloor all are entered again.

Arlington LL Opens 1960 State Saturday

The Arlington Heights Little League program opens this Saturday with three leagues slated for action. A full schedule of games is listed with starting times at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m.

The Varsity and Senior divisions are scheduled to play their first games on Saturday June 4.

This is the seventh year of the Arlington Heights program with a record number of 1100 boys registered in the league.

TWO NEW TEAMS, the Colts and the Stags, have been added to the Southside Junior league. This year the league consists of 61 teams with 10 southside juniors, and 10 northside juniors; 7 southside intermediates and 10 northside intermediates; 6 southside majors and 6 northside majors.

The majors have increased their number from 15 to 17 boys per team. The 12 teams in the varsity and senior league have also been increased from 15 to 17 boys per team.

Registration is still being taken for boys 10, 11, and 12 living south of the North Western tracks within the village limits. All other leagues are closed.

A COMPLETE program book will be given to each boy in the league the first week in June.

Howard Jarvis is president of the league with Frank DeRosa as vice president; Newell Crockett, treasurer; Leland McKay, secretary; and Fred Jasper and Paul Splittorff assistants to the president. Mrs. John Jarecki is the president of the Mother's Club, and Mrs. Ed Bebber vice president.

Johnson Captures Speedway Victory

Wheeling his powerful modified stocker around the fast quarter-mile oval in near record time, Erik Johnson, Highland Park, Ill. captured the twenty-five lap main event at the Waukegan Speedway Sunday night, May 15, with an average speed of 49.40 m.p.h.

On hand for the opening night's action were some 2,800 persons, the largest crowd to ever witness an opening program at the local proving grounds. The prize purse paid to drivers also set a new high for an opening night event, when drivers took home some $1,350.

Johnson had started near the rear in the main event, but took over the lead position on lap number 8 from Len Kannie, Kenosha, who was running first at the time.

From here on through the 18th lap, it was a see-saw battle between these two well-experienced drivers.

STILLMAN WENT on to place second while Frost beat out Kannie for third spot with Bob Ratajczyk, Milwaukee placing fifth and Ronnie Crane of Round Lake taking the sixth place honors.

Track manager Mike Kaishian added an amateur race to the card in view of the large turnout of automobiles for the event despite one not being scheduled. The fans were pleased at the action and after the "ball" was over, Tony Volpe of Waukegan emerged victorious.

Some 40 cars and drivers were on hand for the action, but many were forced to scratch because of various degrees of car trouble. Among them was Gordon Gorman, who hopped into fellow driver, Art Reeves' car and placed third in the semi. A few of the cars were disqualified as being unsafe, but with necessary improvements will be back in the action again next week.

Next Sunday night, the championship battle goes into its second big week. The same scheduled events will take place with an amateurs' race being formally added to the card. Time trials will be at 7:15 and races at 8:30.

Peterson, Arlington Win, 2-0

Southpaw Fritz Peterson fashioned his second shutout of the West Suburban baseball season last Friday afternoon as Bob Baker's Arlington Cardinals rolled to their eighth straight loop victory with a 2-0 decision over York.

Peterson fanned seven and walked only one in picking up his fourth win of the 1960 campaign. The little southpaw has a 1.43 earned run average for his 34 1/3 innings of work this spring.

Arlington's offensive attack, a high point in the winning streak, suffered its second straight ineffective afternoon, but it didn't make any difference as Peterson handcuffed the host Dukes.

The Cards picked up four hits off the York hurlers with singles by John Lind, George Bork, Dick Goeltz, and Peterson.

Arlington waited until the sixth inning to punch across its initial marker when Peterson led off with his hit. A balk sent the pitcher to second and he rode home on an error.

A walk, error, single, and two fielder's choices figured in the final inning.

South Dakota White Tail

In October of 1954 at about 5 a.m. my husband, Bill, our son Billy, 26 months old, my mother and dad and I left for a deer hunt in the Black Hills of South Dakota. As we were driving in the eastern section of South Dakota, about sundown, we saw the beautiful sight of hundreds of pheasants feeding in the fields along the road. We also had a good view of some of the deer of South Dakota as we were stopped a few times when they remained in the middle of the road, blinded by our car lights.

After we reached our destination, a large three room cabin, located in a wooded section outside of Deadwood, we spent the rest of the day getting our licenses and sightseeing. We went into the place where Wild Bill Hickok was shot and also a few wayside museums.

The next morning we got down to the business of hunting. We had joined some friends and local people. Our group of 14 climbed into jeeps and trucks and set off. When we drove out into open country near Spearfish, we couldn't imagine how there could be any deer out there as you could see for miles. We approached a patch of green which seemed to be grass; however, when we got closer it turned out to be a "gash" in the ground and the green was the tops of the trees showing.

SOME OF US sat near well-worn deer paths at the end of a half-mile wide canyon and some drove about three miles to the other end of the canyon, where they started their walk, making noise, trying to drive some deer ahead of them. After a few hours they arrived at our end of the canyon, but no deer had been moved out by the "drive."

As we were sitting down to a mid-morning snack and coffee, talking over what was to be our next hunting strategy, we saw seven deer come up out of the same canyon and head across the country.

Since the deer were out of the range of our lever action carbines, there was a mad scramble for the trucks and jeeps and then a wild drive across rough, sandy and stony ground to a road. After traveling the road for a couple of miles, we turned into a ranch yard. One of the men who knew the rancher spotted him shelling corn and asked to go back into his land, explaining that seven deer were coming this way.

"Of course," he replied. "Just be sure you aim at the deer, not my cattle!"

OFF WE WENT on another wild scramble, this time on foot to the top of a long sloping ridge. The first man to reach the top peeked over and then backed down a little, while telling us to stay where we were as the deer were headed right for us.

In a few minutes they topped the ridge, not twenty feet from where we stood. Shots rang out and all seven deer fell. Now, half the licenses were filled.

As the temperature was about 70 degrees, the deer had to be taken to the local locker plant to be frozen, to keep the meat from spoiling. This ended the first day's hunt.

THE NEXT MORNING we went into heavily wooded area that was more like the Eastern country we had previously hunted. The local men said that there was a large horseshoe - shaped valley, with steep sides affording only a few spots where the deer could readily climb.

The seven men who had their deer walked the valley, making a drive. Five deer came up the sloping wall by Bill, myself and Billy, who was quiet but wide eyed. We waited until the deer were right in front of us, not 30 feet away, and dropped our two. While Bill was field dressing the deer, we heard other shots ringing out. Later we found out that all the licenses had been filled.

The rest of the week we spent seeing the majestic Borglum sculpture of the presidents on Mount Rushmore and the surrounding park. We also did the usual sight seeing through the Black Hills of South Dakota, a state which seems to invite you back once you have been there.

Obtaining a fitted shotgun

Some people can go into a large gun shop and have a custom made gun fitted to them. The majority of us are lucky if we can afford any gun at all. Since I'm not fortunate enough to have a custom fitted gun, I try by a simple test to find a gun that fits me, when I change guns.

The test is simple. Throw the gun to your shoulder, take deliberate aim at some object. Then, close your eyes, and do not change your position, other than lowering the gun and raising it again. Upon opening your eyes, the closer your alignment is the better the gun fits you.

If your aim is below the object the stock could be too long, or the barrel too long, making the gun "barrel heavy." Try another gun with a shorter barrel or shorter stock.

In the old days of black powder shells you lost power with short barrels, now the barrel length affects the shell very little. A 20" barrel shoots as well as a heavy 30". So don't let a barrel length affect your decision.

Most novice hunters also go for a semi-automatic weapon for quick shooting. I have found, with a little practice, you can shoot with a pump gun or even the more reasonable priced bolt action, just as fast for an aimed shot.

Simplified Small Game Dressing

After shooting a bird or catching a fish, the job of dressing is thought by some sportsmen to be quite a chore. We have found that skinning birds and fish is easier than scaling and plucking pin feathers.

To skin a fish you make a shallow cut along the backbone and around the gills, catch just the skin, no meat, and peel off, then eviscerate. It is then ready to cook in your favorite way.

With birds (whether pheasant, duck, quail, etc.) cut off the head and lower legs, catch an edge of the skin and peel it away and eviscerate. This eliminates the tedious job of picking and singeing pin feathers.

Using this method of cleaning, the bird should be coated thoroughly with oleo, lard or butter. With any small birds, wrap them in bacon. Occasionally, basting them with the melted grease is used.

With this easy way of cleaning game and fish even the woman of the house can do it without getting fish scales or feathers all over the house.

Fencing Meet At Elgin High Over Weekend

The Elgin Turner Club will host the Midwest Fencing Championships Saturday and Sunday at the high school.

The event is significant as it is a qualifying event for the U. S. Olympic team which will fence in Rome in August. At least three members of that team may be selected from the fencers competing in Elgin.

All foil and epee fencing in the Midwest Championships will be judged with electrical equipment. The weapons are wired, and a button at the tip is depressed when a hit is made, and records the touch by means of a light and buzzer on a central machine.

White Pines To Host Golf Test

A thirty-six hole qualifying round for the USGA Public Links Championship will be held at White Pines Golf Club in Bensenville on Thursday, June 9.

Dr. John Walters, Chairman announced entries will close at the Chicago District Golf Association in the LaSalle Hotel at 5 p.m. on May 19. Tee entries will not be accepted. Entry fee is $8.00.

The 35th Amateur Public Links Championship of the United States Golf Association will be held July 11 through 16 at the Ala Wai Golf Course, Honolulu, Hawaii.

After 122 golfers worked their way around Woodridge GC in the 1959 qualifying test, Chicago's team in the championship at Denver proved to be Remo Crovetti of Highwood (71-69-140); Marshall Strauss of Highland Park (73-68-141); Roy McDowell of Chicago (73-70-143); Bob Menary of Northbrook (71-72-143); Mike Stolarik of Waukegan (75-68-143); and John Thorington of Joliet (72-71-143).

Season Record

Dave Fahs, Michigan State's 5-9 basketball guard, holds the Wisconsin high school Badger Conference scoring record for a single season with 416 points.

Augie Pabst Heads Meadowdale Field

Augie Pabst, Milwaukee brewery heir and 1959 U. S. Automobile Club road course racing champion, heads the list of entries for the season's inaugural sportscar race program at Meadowdale International Raceways May 28 and 29.

Pabst's entry is one of 29 received thus far for the 100 mile feature event on Sunday (May 29). The 25 year old Pabst triumphed at Meadowdale's closing race last fall, winning the spectacular Formula Libre event against a potent competitive field.

Ironically, Pabst will drive a Scarab owned by Peter Hand Brewing Company and will compete against Harry Heuer, Jr., son of the President of the Chicago brewery. Young Heuer will also be behind the wheel of a Scarab.

The Program of five races will include all displacement classes of production and modified sports cars. After trials on Saturday, the first race on Sunday will begin at 11 a.m., a 10 lap event over the challenging 3.27 mile winding trace four miles north of Elgin at Carpentersville.

Advance ticket sales are being handled by the Northern Illinois Region of Lions Club International for benefit of the Mentally Retarded Children's Fund.

Prep Honor Roll

Outstanding Marks In District Meets

by BILL BECKMAN

The ideal weather of the past weekend produced some of the best district performances in state history. If this is a prevew of things to come this Saturday, track fans may see the most outstanding state meet ever.

Many of the performances deserve comment: Chuck Mohr of Maine twp., provided fans at the Evanston district with the satisfaction of seeing the second highest jump in state history when he high jumped 6 feet 6¼ inches for a new district record. This was just a half inch short of Dwight Eddleman's 6 foot 6¾ inch leap in 1942. Mohr, a junior, could easily become a new state record holder with a similar performance this Saturday.

At the East St. Lous district last Friday night, Centralia's Gary Wolff became the third boy in state track annals to clear 13 feet. Wolff has been close to this mark for the past three seasons. The pole vault record is now held by Jim Wright of Lawrenceville at 13 feet - inch, set in 1950.

LITTLE ALLEN Carius of Morton Township ran under the state record for the second time this season when he recorded a 4:19.8 in the Peoria district. Carius has a season best of 4:18.4. The closest miler to him in time is New Trier's Weymouth Kirkland with a 4:28.0.

The 440 provided some excellent times - defending state champion Elzie Higgenbottom ran a fine :49.2 15 year old Bob Wheelwright of Roanoke presented a new challenge when ran a :49.5 in the event and then came back with a blistering :21.7 in the 220. This is the best time recorded in ths event. Tom Thomas of Rock Island ran :49.7 and Tom Walters of Urbana, a :49.9. Over at Evanston Mike Dundy of Arlington ran a :50.0 and then anchored the mile relay with a sensational :48.0. The 440 looks to be one of the best in years.

The 880 will be strong again with Bill Rawson of Lake Forest running 1:56.5 and Jim Simmons of Phillips turning in a 1:55.7 in the Chicago qualifications. At the Evanston district last Saturday the fifth boy was timed in 2:00.6.

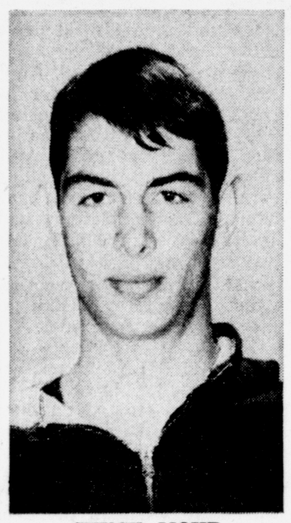
BILL SMITH, the All-state halfback from Sycamore, turned in the best times in district competition in the 100 a :09.9 and a :19.5 in the 180 yard low hurdles. Larry Howard of East Provso, the defending state champion in the 120 yard high hurdles, ran a :14.5 and a :19.7 in the lows.



CHUCK MOHR

Bogie Redmon of Collinsville, Don Brooks of East St. Louis, and Moline's John Anders continue to pace the discus event with throws over 165 feet.

The mile relay indicates that it will be one of the best in years with nine teams under 3:28.0

This will be the final honor roll of the season. Following the state meet Paddock Publications will publish its annual AllState track team.

LAKE FOREST'S Bill Rawson is all alone at the finish of the 880 yard run in last Saturday's district track meet at Evanston high school. Rawson won the event for the second straight year in an effortless 1:56.5, second best half mile time posted in district competition throughout the state.

Prellberg Fires 36 in Links Play At Old Orchard

Friday the 13th held no terror for the golfers of Old Orchard's Scratch League as many of the scores attested to a fine evening of golf played on an ideal evening weatherwise, and over a course that was in excellent condition.

If greenskeepers use a standard, the course was in par condition and made golfing a pleasure for Marv Prellberg who was the only golfer to tour the nine in par. Marv started with pars on the 1th, 11th and 12th, then slipped to a bogey on the difficult 13th (Friday the 13th - Bogey). After a nicely played birdie on the 480 yd. 14th, Prellberg closed his round with four straight pars and a very creditable round of par 36.

The par round coupled with Martn Gilmore's one over par round of 37 swung the point total in favor of the Pitzen Movers Team and they collected 6 of 8 points. Gilmore amassed 2 birdies and 4 pars in his round.

WAYNE ROLFS was another who found the course and weather to his liking, and after playing six holes found himself even par and yet had not a par on his scorecard. Wayne had bogeys on the (par 4) 10th, 11th and 13th (Friday the 13th again). Then he evened the score with birdies on the (par 3) 12th hole and the (Par 5) 480 yard 14th hole and the 540 yard 15th hole.

Rolfs then bogeyed the (par 4) 16th and 17th and finally settled with a par on the 230 yard 18th hole. This probably rated the merit round of the evening and also the most unusual one played by Wayne for quite a spell.

Fred Fassnacht and Bob Reiland continued their steady stroking game by conjuring their third straight rounds of 37. Both golfers now lead the low average scorers of the league. Fred played the back nine with a one over par 37. Again birdies on the (par 5) 14th and 15th helped his round while Reiland collected seven pars and two bogeys for his two over par 37 on the front nine.

MOST UNUSUAL match of the evening was scored by "never say quit" Blaar who found himself three down after the first 4 holes but continued to win the next four holes from his opponent "lefty" St. Germaine.

Frustrated St. Germaine still is puzzled over the way the match ended. The preceding match was quite different than the one played by Cully Berlin and alternate Hendricks as each player won one hole and they played dead even on the other seven. "Deliberate Mike" Graft is of the opinion he has solved a point in his golf game and decided to prove the theory by edging Gordon Otto's 38 with a very consistent score of 37.

May 20 Schedule:

Front nine (4 vs 6), (5 vs 10) (9 vs 12).

Back nine (1 vs 8), (2 vs 3, (7 vs 11).

Hinsdale Netmen Triumph

Hinsdale scored a tennis sweep over Arlington high school last Thursday afternoon with the varsity Red Devils winning 4-1 and the frosh-sophs, 3-2.

Coach Ken Schaller's Cards picked up its one point thanks to Tom Benson's 7-5, 6-2 decision in No. 3 singles.

Defending state champion Marty Riessen had no trouble with Bob Inman and dumped the Cards' No. 1 singles player, 6-0, 6-0.

In the frosh-soph division the Cards collected victories from both doubles teams but lost all three singles tests. Winning for Rog Steingraber were the units of Gary Elledge and Rusty Walters and Jim Tindall and Chuck Vlcek.

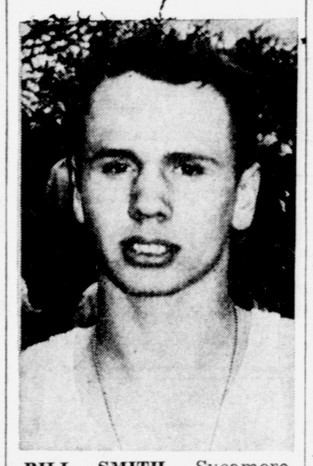
Linksmen Win Two

Rain cut short the match but it didn't affect the outcome Monday afternoon as Arlington high school's two golf squads stopped Glenbard West in West Suburban conference encounters.

Ralph Meyer's varsity registered a 9-6 triumph and Sid Brown's frosh-sophs rolled to a 10-5 decision.

Al Kruse, Ralph Ibbotson, Al Grotefend, and Rog Haenggi picked up victories for the varsity with Kruse registering a 40 for nine holes and a 3-0 conquest. Ibbotson fired a 44 for nine, Grotefend a 44, and Haenggi a 46.



BILL SMITH, Sycamore high school senior, posted the best district times in two events last weekend. Smith recorded a :09.9 100 yard dash and came back with a :19.5 mark in the 180 yard low hurdles. He has a season best of :09.8 for the century and ranks as one of the favorites in both his specialties for this weekend's state meet.

Four Birdies Despite Bad Golf Weather

The Friday night league at Arlington country club got off to a rather shaky start.

The weather was bad but it did clear up long enough to enable the loop members to play the required nine holes.

Four birdies were recorded: Ruggeri, Bud Haut Noble, and Ken Auer.

It is only possible to get seven points per night. A point for each match won and one point for low gross and low net. The top five teams are only 1½ points out of first while the second place unit is only one out of first.

Red Owl Stores Tell Expected Sale s Goal

"Sales of Red Owl Stores, Inc. for the fiscal year ending February 25, 1961, are expected to increase 30 per cent to achieve a sales goal between 290 and 300 million dollars," Ford Bell, Red Owl chairman of the board, stated this week at the annual stockholders meeting.

Sales amounted to $226,589,016 during the fiscal year completed February 27, 1960, and increase of 13½ per cent in retail sales and 14 per cent in wholesale sales.

"This past year has been one of the most significant in Red Owl's history," Bell said. "During the year our company entered two new major metropolitan centers by opening our first three stores in Chicago and acquiring a 17-store chain in the Denver area.

"This action, together with our recent successful entry into the Milwaukee market, and our continuing growth in the Twin Cities paves the way for futher large scale expansion."

Bell indicated that future expansion plans call for 50 new supermarkets within the next three year period.

THIS YEAR'S construction program also calls for an addition to Red Owl's headquarters plant in suburban Minneapolis.

To carry out this high rate of growth, Bell pointed out that long-term debt financing will be concluded about midyear. However, no equity financing is contemplated.

"Retail and wholesale sales year are up 38 per cent," Bell continued. "This reflects the added volume secured through the past year's expansion, the purchase of Denver's H. A. Marr Grocery company and the increase over last year in the Twin Cities, when a four week work stoppage occurred."

DIRECTORS re-elected were Ford Bell, Alf L. Bergerud, Merrill Cohen, John C. Cornelius, Glenn R. Grife, Richard L. Kozelka, Goodrich Lowry, Pierce H. McDowell, Donald G. McNeely, Erling Rice, and Lawrence W. Rixe.

Red Owl Stores, Inc., is engaged in the retail food business in a ten state trade area, including Minnesota, Colorado, Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Iowa, North and South Dakota, Montana and Wyoming. The firm operates 163 retail stores and services 439 wholesale accounts.

Instant Paint Hits Market

INSTANT PAINT introduced by Jewel Paint and Varnish co., Chicago, gives extraordinary ease in decorating. No turpentine or solvents are needed. Paint may be wiped from floors with only a damp cloth. (BB

By now we're all accustomed to instant coffee, instant cereals, instant puddings and instant cake mixes, to name just a few.

We're even marveled at "Instart Europe" (via jet airliner)! But now along comes a new entry in the "instant" sweepstakes—Instant Paint.

So named because it's so foolproof and so remarkably easy to use, Instant Paint is the most recent and most advanced development in the field of rubber-base paints.

A product of Jewel Paint and Varnish co., Chicago, it gives a luxurious flat finish to walls and ceilings — almost in an instant!

Going through the various steps in a typical painting project, the extraordinary ease of using this paint will become instantly apparent.

First comes color selection — no problem here, because Jewel Instant Paint comes in a choice of 1,322 Colorizer colors—all available instantly, right over the counter.

Next comes preparation: No "home chemistry" is needed; no turpentine or solvents to buy, mix, or run out of. Jewel Instant Paint is instantly ready for use, just as it comes in the can. Simply open the can, stir and you're ready to begin.

NOW FOR THE actual painting — and this is wonderfully easy, even for the gal who can't hang a picture straight! If you use good quality applicators (brush or mohair roller), you can't miss pleasing results.

Almost every bugaboo familiar to do-it-yourself painters has been overcome in Jewel Instant Paint. As one startling example, you can brush it on up near top wall moldings, and then roll it onto the broad wall surfaces — without visible overlap marks!

AND FINALLY — the clean up job — the step most universally disliked by amateur painters: Tere, too, Jewel Instant Paint lives up to its name. Spatter and drippings wipe clean instantly, with just a water dampened cloth.

And brush or roller is cleaned (also instantly) just by rinsing under the kitchen faucet. When the job is done, you notice happily that no painty fumes have caused irritation and discomfort, and that Jewel Instant Paint is dry in an hour or so — almost instantly!

Designer's Shop Has Big Grand Opening

Over 7,000 square feet of good design, containing samplings from the world of contemporary furnishings, has been unveiled by the Designer's Shop, a division of Petersen Interiors, Inc.

To mark the completion of its current remodeling and expansion program the store, located in the Elms shopping center, Arlington Heights, held a grand opening beginning Thursday, May 12.

A hospitality house was observed and the public invited to browse and to take advantage of the opportunity to win prizes.

"MORE THAN ever, our policy will be to merchandise good design to the public," says Art Petersen Jr., vice president of the corporation. "Sensibly priced and the best available from a design standpoint, our merchandise will have wide appeal."

The Designer's Shop's growing plans were made possible by the acquisition of an adjacent store. The store first began announcing its new plans early in April with large signs reading "Spring is for growing" across both building fronts.

Area Men Promoted By Firm

Charles T. Hoyt and Einar G. Peterson, United States Gypsum company, have been appointed assistant business manager and distribution supervisor, respectively, of the company's publications department. The announcement was made by C. A. Wayman, general manager, publications.

Refuse Costs To Rise

The cost of private scavenger service in this area is going to go up, reports from members of the Chicago and Suburban Refuse Disposal association to John Vanderveld Jr., of the Barrington Trucking co., Barrington, indicate this week. Vanderveld is secretary of the association.

The reports follow completion of a survey disclosing that operating costs of private scavengers have increased as much as 456 per cent in the last five years, Vanderveld said.

A typical increase is the 456.4 per cent rise in the cost of the state license fee for trucks used by many scavengers five years ago compared with licenses for trucks now in use.

Other increases in the cost of operating scavenger services as well as other businesses include wages, taxes, and equipment replacement and repair.

The reports indicate a wide range in the size of increases that may be expected.

"It is too early to predict even an average for the increases," Vanderveld said, "because they will vary between individual firms and indvidual customers." (BB

How to Plant , Care For Your Evergreens

Most Evergreens needs soil that has been enriched with decayed vegetable matter if you expect good results.

Good drainage is also essential, and heavy soils must be lightened by mixing peat moss, sand or well-rotted manure. However, the first and most important thing is to select climate-proven, hardy plants that will thrive best in the Chicagoland area.

If it is inconvenient to plant your Evergreen immediately on arrival, be sure to keep the burlap ball soaked with water, or better still, dig a small trench and set the plants in rows with the burlap still intact. Cover the ball of earth with several inches of soil and thoroughly soak the trench. Plant as soon as possible so they will get a good start before summer.

WHEN YOU are ready to plant, dig a hole about double the size of the ball of earth and half again deeper. Partly fill the hole with good loam and set the plant properly in position. Do not remove the burlap from the ball. The top of the ball should be level with the surface of the earth.

Fill the hole up two thirds of the way, then soak with water and permit it to settle. After settling, fill the hole with soil allowing a small saucer-shape effect so that water will collect around the plant.

Large Evergreens which may sway in the wind need bracing with guy wires supported with large stakes located in solid ground. Wrap a piece of old hose or leather around the wire to prevent injury to the bark.

All plants under all conditions need fertilization. Much of this fertilizer is present in most soils, but often you will see skimpy looking Evergreens that would be greatly improved by the frequent addition of small amounts of any type of fertilizer. There are too many types of organic and inorganic fertilizers offered today to make specific recommendations.

ALL ARE GOOD and can usually be expected to improve the growth and health of your plant. To be on the safe side, apply about ½ the amount suggested by manufacturer and apply twice as often. Always follow dry fertilizer with water.

Junipers are one of the few that will get along on drier soil, however, most of the Evergreens like the Yews, Arborvitaes, Pines, Spruce, and Hemlock like moisture. During the Spring and Summer, it is advisable to water once a week on newly planted areas.

If you are in doubt, visit a reliable nurseryman. Trees and plants are his business; he has the know-how to make the best of your landscape. He will help you express your individual personality through proper selection of varieties.

Rail Costs Up

Class I railroads of the U.S. spent $1,430,144,000 for fuel, material and supplies, excluding equipment, in 1959. This was an increase of $199,527,000, or 16.2%, over 1958.

Dreyer Closes Out Appliances Lines

Hank Dreyer, whose name has been synonymous with appliance sales for the last 30 years, announces the termination of that part of his business.

During this period, Dreyer has been known throughout the northwest suburbs for his sales of refrigerators, ranges, washers and dryers. His original location was in downtown Arlington; in later years, his showroom has been in his new building at 708 E. Northwest hwy., Arlington Heights.

BECAUSE OF the present-day interest in television, hi-fi and stereophonic instruments, Dreyer believes he will serve his neighbors better by concentrating on the sale of these items by Magnavox.

In order to hasten the conversion of his sales space, Dreyer is presenting his entire stock of appliances at close-out prices. He also is continuing service facilities of appliances through the Roy Thompson Washer-Dryer Service co., and Marv Schaeffer Refrigeration Service co.

Home Owners Develop Own Flavor to House

Rolling Meadows has more than 2,600 homes.

Of this number about 2,000 are of the basic "Hill Home" plan of a two and three bedroom home in a moderate price bracket - 2,000 different, but still similar, homes.

Only a trip through Rolling Meadows itself could convince non - residents each home today, after "settling in" for a couple of years, looks different, better, well-maintained and desirable.

COUNTLESS families have "up-graded" their homes through the addition of breezeways and garages, family rooms and screened patios, additional bedrooms or recreation rooms.

Landscaping can do wonders, and it has in almost all Rolling Meadows neighborhoods. After completion of a new house, mud and dust make everything look unwanted and unkept. The addition of grass, trees, shrubs and flowers can change the appearance of every home.

In addition to the well - known "basic" Rolling Meadows homes, there are a large variety of basement homes built in the community, a quantity of very large four-bedroom homes ard an almost unbelievable variety of "research" homes built in every possible architectural type.

IN THE CITY'S newest subdivisions the standardization of homes will be an object of the past. In Walbrook there will be 37 different model homes. All of the homes in the subdivision, located at Kirchoff and Wilke rds. will have three bedrooms, but there the similarity ends. Prices will range from $16,300 to $19,150. The homes will have wooden window frames, birch cabinet kitchens, carports and garages. Sliding glass doors and finished patios are featured. Some homes are built to contemporary design with the majority finished in traditional style.

In the new Waverly Park subdivision south of Central rd. and west of Wilke rd., homes will range from $17,990 to $21,000. Built to a variety plan, the homes will have three bedrooms and basements. Homes will have overhead sewers and sump pumps. Floors will be finished in oak parquet blocks, and houses will have from one to two and a half baths.

IN THE NEW exclusive Brookmead subdivion, house designs will take advantage of the beautiful rolling terrain. With many lots showing a grade variance of four to eight feet it will be possible to build ranch - basement homes with one wall of glass in the basement; multi-level homes fitted to the ground elevations, and front back split level homes. The first hodel home in the area will be opened in June on Central rd. east of Rt. 53. Because of the larger size of the homes the lots will be larger with longer frontages. Final planning of the area will depend upon the type of house people select. Prices in Brookmead will range in the mid-$20,000 bracket.

All homes will be three or more bedroom models. The houses will be engineered by Harnischfeger to designs developed by architect A. J. Del Bianco and associates. These engineered homes will be erected at the site with carpenter - built extras and custom touches. (SS

KERSTING'S GARDEN CENTER

Observe Armed Forces Day At Great Lakes Open House

Large crowds from the Chicago and Milwaukee areas are expected at the Navy's annual Armed Forces day open house at the Great Lakes Naval Training center, Saturday, May 21, and Sunday, May 22, beginning at 9 a.m.

"Power for Peace" is the theme for this year's Armed Forces day celebration throughout the country. Demonstrating this theme at the training center, the navy will roll out exhibits of some of its most advance equipment.

As Great Lakes is still the largest recruit training establishment in the country, a large part of the display will center around this recruit training. Commencing with the impressive "Recruit Review" on Ross field at 10:30 a.m. on Saturday, the Recruit Training Command will have open house in the barracks area, mess hall and recreation spaces. All guests are urged to arrive early for the review, which will feature the recruit band, drum and bugle corps, drill team, a 19 gun salute for Rear Admiral Higgins, and a massive "pass in review" by graduating recruits.

VISITORS will have the opportunity to go aboard and inspect the USS Portage, part of the Great Lakes contingent of the U.S. Fleet.

There will be many exhibits of the various types of training employed at Great Lakes. One of the most dramatic of these exhibits will be the demonstration of Navy firefighting techniques using real fires. This demonstration will start at 1:30 p.m. on both days and continue throughout the afternoon.

At the Electronics Supply office will be featured many scientific displays and demonstrations, chief of which will be the giant computer "UNIVAC II."

The Navy is hoping that many visitors will come and "make a day of it." Lake front picnic areas will be open on both days for the accommodation of the picnic-minded, and several cafeterias will be open for those who don't bring their own lunches. Band concerts will be held in the picnic area during the lunch hours. (WUS

Colleen Calderwood Cited For 'Y' Volunteer Work

Colleen Calderwood, daughter of Arlington Heights Police Chief L. W. Calderwood and Mrs. Calderwood, formerly of Evanston and now residing at 210 Princeton, Arlington Heights, was recently rewarded for her years of volunteer work at Evanston YMCA. At the "Y's" annual Brillianteen show, originated to provide two scholarships to an outstanding boy and girl "Y" member, Miss Calderwood was awarded a scholarship valued at $400. This was one of four such scholarships given this year, two more than the usual awards, because of the great success of the show this year.

MISS CALDERWOOD well deserves this honor, as she was publicity chairman for the 2-night show, called "Guys and Dolls" and held the last weekend in February in Evanston. The Brillianteen show was started nine years ago by junior and senior YMCA high school students and continues each year under their direction with a cast and crew of more than 100 members.

The scholarships are based on participation in YMCA activities, leadership, character, personality, popularity and ability to benefit from a college education.

COLLEN is an "oldtimer" at "Y" activities, having served as president of a high school club at the "Y," as a counselor at camp for two years and gives each Saturday morning to the Evanston "Y" as a leader in the Little Women program for fourth and fifth graders. She just directed and produced the "Little Women Follies," presented Saturday night at the "Y."

Besides all this, Colleen models for Saks Fifth Avenue in her "spare" time while finishing her senior year at Evanston high.

What to do with the $400? Colleen will have it forwarded to Colorado university as a scholarship toward the course in social work which she will enroll in fall.

'WAY BACK WHEN'

Compiled by Mrs. G. Rex Volz, Phone CL 5-9078

50 years ago - May 20, 1910

Arlington Heights: Hon. Louis J. Pierson, State Representative from the Seventh Senatorial District, who has served three terms in the Illinois Legislature and expects to be a candidate for re-election, did himself proud at Arlington Hall Tuesday evening in his lecture on Abraham Lincoln, delivered for the benefit of the Public Library.

The Woman's Club realized over $21.00; the entire proceeds are to go toward new books.

Married - Miss Clara Bush and Mr. John Firnbach were married May 10, 1910, at St. James Catholic Church. Miss Hattie Firnbach, eldest sister of the groom, was maid of honor, and William Firnbach, cousin of the groom, was best man. Mrs. Fred J. Sieburg, Jr. was soloist, Rev. Linden's address was just right. A sumptous dinner prepared by the mothers of the bride and groom and served by Mrs. G. J. Horcher was relished by the wedding guests. During the noon hour the groom's shopmates remembered him, and marching to the house in good army order, gave him one of the finest volleys of charivari, with their hammers on their shovels, that such implements could ever produce. After photographs and a shower of rice, the happy couple boarded the 3:07 train for an extended visit through the North and West, principally Nebraska and Minnesota.

Roselle: Mayor Schering, Louis Leiseberg and Ed Schmidt have each received a new automobile. They are fine machines, reliable Stanley Steamers that always go without stopping. Tho they arrived May 18 they had nothing to do with the Comet. They'll give their special friends a joy ride.

Schaumburg: This banner township of Cook County is composed of stalwart healthy, German-American people with progressive ideas. By honest industry they have made themselves happy and wealthy. They have more money per population than any other town in the world and are constantly seeking safe investments. They concluded that a home bank would be a good clearing house, and recently organized a corporation with a paid-up capital of $25,000.00 to be known as the Schaumburg Farmers State Bank, and the corner stone was laid May 15, 1910. Louis Menke, architect, has been awarded the contract to construct the building. Mr. Herman Freise, one of the heaviest stockholders and probable future president of the bank was master of ceremonies, and the copper box contained: Palatine Enterprise May 13, 1910, Chicago Tribune May 14, 1910, Chicago Journal May 14, 1910, Farm Journal, History of the Town of Schaumburg 1850 to 1910, History of Organization of the Bank, List of Original Stock Holders, Columbian half dollar of 1903, Silver coins current in U. S. 1910, various business cards, List of Township Officers.

Arlington Heights - from "Observer's Notes": If you were going to say what was most needed to make Arlington Heights a more ideal place to live what would it be? In Observer's humble judgment it would be a broader outlook, a kindlier community spirit, less ego and more humanity.

Arlington Heights food supplies come high: Potatoes 10 cents pound, sugar 28 cents, butter 72 cents, apples 12 cents and bananas 12 cents.

Rev. Noack, the parochial school teachers and the congregation are looking forward to the installation of what will probably be the finest pipe organ in this part of the country. The purchase of an electric-pneumatic organ at a price of over $5,000 was recently contracted for. Alterations in the church are being made to accommodate the organ; the keyboard will be placed in the gallery at the rear of the church. The seating capacity after alterations will be between 850 and 900 people. Two new pipeless furnaces will be installed.

Elk Grove: Everybody who owns a gun and knows a crow when he sees one is invited to a grand crow hunt in Elk Grove woods, Pentecost Monday, May 24. Meet at John Schwanz' old place on Higgins road between Mr. Goerger's and Paul Schramm's at one o'clock.

Palatine: To the disappointment of many school patrons and especially the Boy Scouts, Prof. Kimball has decided to refuse the offer recently given him by the high school board of $3,000 a year salary if he would remain in Palatine. This is a salary greater than paid by any of the neighboring schools, but not sufficient to keep Mr. Kimball.

30 years ago - May 20, 1930

Community: high taxes will force court action; many inequalities in assessment figures remained on the books when they were turned over to the county clerk for the extension of taxes. Inequalities in farm values are particularly evident in Elk Grove township. Single land owners with farm land on both sides of Center road found their taxes on the south side, which is in Elk Grove Township, to be double the tax per acre of land on the north side which is in Wheeling township. Farmers generally in Wheeling township were fairly well treated, the tax per acre varying from $1.70 to $3.00 per acre, depending upon which school or high school district in which their land was located. From reports around Wheeling township, village property in many instances is raised from 80 to 200 per cent. One piece of property paying $226 taxes for 1927 is now asked to pay nearly $500. Bungalows are particularly hard hit - small residences of that type built for sale and moderately priced, on medium sized lots are taxed as high as $125.00. There is one frame house, occupied by a family, that is penalized because it happens to be on Campbell street, and is taxed $225. Vacant lots were also very hard hit - some instances showed an increase of 500 per cent. A tax of $25 or $30 per vacant lot is not unusual, it appears to be the general opinion that the increase in taxes will seriously affect the further development of Arlington Heights and other suburbs. The city man will hesitate about moving out into the country, when he takes into consideration the extra cost of train fare, electricity, gas, and water, as well as many conveniences, which must be offset by certain advantages in living in the country.

Palatine: Mrs. Amandus Lohse died Friday afternoon, the funeral taking place Monday at the Lutheran church, Rev. Poellet officiating. The deceased, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Heide, was born in Palatine, Dec. 11, 1886, being confirmed in 1900. She was united in marriage to Mr. Amandus Lohse Feb. 22, 1906, and two children were born, one of whom died. There remain to mourn their loss, the husband, daughter Erna, mother, a brother, Henry Heide, and a sister Mrs. Ella Berlin.

Arlington Heights: The Business Men's Association of A. H. having determined that its policy of civic usefulness can be better served by abandoning the social features of elaborate club rooms will sell at public auction Wednesday evening, May 21, at 7 West Davis st., just east of the Printery and southwest of the C&NW Ry. depot, the entire furnishings, furniture, hangings and equipment of the Club Rooms. Uriel A. Reese, Auctioneer, William F. Meyer, Clerk. Walter Krause Jr., chairman, Julius D. Flentie, and George W. Meyer.

20 years ago - May 24, 1940

Palatine: An impromptu reception was staged at 11 o'clock Friday night, welcoming back home the victorious Palatine high school band that had carried off first honors at the national contest held at Battle Creek. It was the biggest crowd since the World War Armistice. Two fire trucks, the police car, many private autos, the sirens, red flares, auto horns and open arms received the happy youngsters as they poured out of the buses. There was little speech making, aside from a short talk by the band leader, E. G. Stiles. Palatine band competed against schools with enrollments between 250 and 750. Thirteen bands were entered in their class. The little Palatine band of 38 pieces marched against bands of sixty and seventy-five pieces.

Community: The American Red Cross again answers a call for help for war stricken refugees, and in Chicago last week a goal of one million dollars for war relief was its aim. This week the drive was opened in outlying districts. Every American is urged to do everything possible to aid innocent victims of war. Gustav Heidorn is serving as chairman for Arlington Heights; Mrs. Murray Whyte for Itasca, and local service groups and churches are acting in many communities.

10 years ago - May 19, 1950

Arlington Heights: Chief Carl H. Skoog was guest of honor at a surprise dinner given in recognition of his 25 years of service on the A.H. police force. Among the special events of the evening was the presentation of a Smith and Wesson 38 special service revolver to Chief Skoog. Police chiefs from neighboring towns were guests, and there were many telegrams and letters, including a wire from J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI in Washington, and a letter from George B. McSwain of Chicago, FBI special agent. Both commented on the marvelous record the Chief has maintained during his 25 years of service.

The Village Theatre, Inc. is a fairly new organization and this last Friday and Saturday, presented their second production - "Blithe Spirit." They did a near professional job. A. Douglas Anderson did an expert job of casting and staging and the seven persons making up the cast made the performance a natural. Kathleen and Robert Hawley had the leads, and were more than ably supported by Vi Freeland, Bobby Bjork, Marian and Dennis Malcolmson, and Virginia Bishop. Plan to see their next play in the fall, and see for yourselves what a fine group of actors we have in this "City of Good Neighbors."

Bensenville: Cornerstone laying ceremonies for the Bensenville Firemen's association's new $50,000 fire station, on York st., just south of the village water tank, will be held Sunday, May 21, at 2 p.m. Mayor Lowell Capoot will be master of ceremonies, the Bensenville Community high school band under the direction of Lynn Huffman, will play, and the Rev. Matthias N. Kauth of St. Alexis church will give the invocation. George L. Korthauer, president of the firemen's group will introduce the featured speaker, Rev. Arthur F. Elberling of Peace Evangelical church. Following the address, Korthauer and Contractor Al Kauffman will do the actual laying of the cornerstone, and the ceremonies will be completed by the benediction given by Rev. E. Bergstrasser of St. John's church. (A13 how to pay CASH ...yet keep your savings INTACT!

Your answer is St. Paul Federal's loan privilege on savings.

Let's say you have $800 in your account. You may borrow up to 90 per cent of that amount at our low interest rate and leave your savings to earn dividends. The interest you pay on a St. Paul loan, minus your current dividend, leaves a net cost to you of only 1 per cent for a full year.

When you borrow against savings, you continue to earn dividends on your money; you avoid the high interest rate normally charged for small loans and installment purchases; and you enjoy the prestige of paying cash. You may repay the loan on terms best fitted to your budget.

COMPARE THESE LOAN COSTS

Below are figures on an $800 loan for 18 months, assuming your savings of that amount remained at St. Paul to earn dividends

TYPE OF BORROWING	INTEREST YOU PAY	ST. PAUL DIVIDEND (current 4% per year compounded semi-annually)	YOUR NET LOAN COST
Loan company	$150.58	$48.97	$101.61
Installment purchase	96.00	48.97	47.03
Your St. Paul Loan Privilege	62.17	48.97	13.20

Please remember—we encourage saving, not borrowing. But when the need arises, your St. Paul savings account is ready to help you borrow with economy.

District PTA Officers Elected, Installed May 5

The annual meeting of the Northwest Suburban Council of PTA was held May 5 in Pioneer Park field house, Arlington Heights, and marked the final meeting of the council as it still encompassed the greater half of PTA district 21.

Since February 4 when delegates to the council voted to separate into three councils, the change has been completed and respective officers were elected and installed at the May 5 meeting.

These three councils will be known as the River-Ridge Council, Randhurst council and Northwest Suburban council. River-Ridge will include units within Maine township while Randhurst will include units within Wheeling and Elk Grove townships. Northwest Suburban will include units within Barrington, Palatine and Schaumburg townships.

PRESIDENT of the River-Ridge council is Mrs. E. T. Odden of Des Plaines; president of Randhurst is Mrs. C. L. Rezner of Mt. Prospect; and president of Northwest Suburban is Mrs. Rodger Taggert of Palatine.

All officers of the new councils were installed by Mrs. R. B. Yadon of Arlington Heights, who has been an active PTA member for eight years and who served on the steering committee in the separation of the original council.

When Northwest Suburban council meets at 8 p.m. Tuesday, May 24, in Winston Park school, Palatine, members will hear Mrs. Mary K. Satinover talk on problems pertinent to parents. Mrs. Satinover, director of parent education and leadership training at the University college of the University of Chicago, completed her graduate studies at the University of Chicago, where she also does clinical work in parent-child relationships in her schedule of teaching and lecturing.

OF SPECIAL interest to parents will be her first hand observations on the educational philosophies of southern Europe and Israel, based on a continental tour. She will discuss new discoveries about child growth and behaviour, the effect of these discoveries on children and the ways in which parents may keep themselves informed.

PTA membership is not a requisite for attendance at the meeting; anyone interested in children is invited. (B9

City Growth Won't Reduce Farm Output

City growth, new highways and industrial development are taking about one million acres of land a year from agricultural use. But even at this rate it will take several decades before agricultural output is affected significantly, a University of Illinois agricultural economist reported this week.

Harold G. Halcrow stated that the time may come when the United States will have a shortage of good productive farm land. But, more likely, he expects that scientific advancements will enable farmers to keep production in pace with the growing population.

THERE IS AN urgent need, however, for better planning of land use, Halcrow emphasized. The migration of non-farm families into the open country is largely unplanned. The result is many problems for both new and longer established residents. The need for schools, highways and other facilities present tax and revenue problems for the developing community.

Halcrow also pointed out that not enough planning is being done for using land for recreational purposes. People in growing cities place a high priority on recreation. Use of some land adjacent to population centers for this purpose should receive high priority in our planning, he concluded.

Halcrow spoke before the Illinois State-Wide Planning Conference meeting on the University of I'linois campus this week.

FARM FAMILIES who plan to build a new farmhouse this summer should be sure to select a plan that caters to the special needs of farm living, warns Keith Hinchcliff, University of Illinois farm housing specialist.

Hinchcliff says most home plans now published are for city lots. These plans may need some alterations before they meet the special needs of farm living.

In most city lot home plans, space is lacking around the back entrance for work clothes storage, wash-up, farm business records and between-chores relaxation. Also, family rooms are too often inaccessible from the rear or service entrance.

The guide book, "Contemporary Farmhouses," and other farmhouse plans that take most of the special farm needs into consideration are available at your county farm adviser's office and at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture in Urbana.

Farm families who are having trouble locating a new bathroom where it will have an outside window may want to consider an interior location, explains Keith Hinchcliff, University of Illinois farm housing specialist.

Hinchcliff says an electric ventilation exhaust fan will more tha nmaeukp more than make up for the loss of a window. And better light can be provided artificially.

Many interior bathrooms are being equipped with a single all-purpose ceiling fixture that will heat, ventilate and light the room.

Down On The Farm

CARL F. MEES

with Your Farm Adviser

Are we mortgaging our future for present production?

The Morrow Plots on the campus at the University of Illinois are the oldest experimental plots in the United States. These plots were established in 1876. From these plots have been demonstrated practical lessons in soil management, exemplifying both soil improvement and soil depletion. Corn yields on the plots range from 22 to 113 bushels per acre according to the way the land has been handled in the past.

The average corn yields from 1907-1955 are as follows: On the plot that grew continuous corn the yield was 26 bushels per acre. If manure, limestone and phosphate were added during the period the average yield was 54 bushels per acre. This yield is in contrast to a corn-oats-clover rotation where the yield was 57 bushels per acre for the period. When soil treatment was added the yield jumped to 80 bushels per acre. In other words, in a good cropping system the average yield was 26 bushels per acre more than with continuous corn.

A FEW YEARS ago it was decided to apply an adequate amount of fertilizer to the continuous corn plot, so that maximum yields could be obtained. With favorable weather, the yields jumped to extremely high levels. But in 1959 when it was a very dry year at Urbana, the picture changed. It was interesting to note that on the continuous corn plot with adequate fertility treatment during the past five years but no fertility treatment previous to that time the yield was only 56 bushels per acre compared to 95 bushels per acre on the continuous corn plot that had a long history of good soil treatment. This yield difference illustrates the point that intensive grain cropping systems are likely to suffer less in unfavorable years if the soil has been well treated.

A question then that one should consider is whether it is necessary to grow continuous corn on the land, when it will yield fewer bushels per acre, and the excess corn is not needed. It is really a burden on the market.

Economists at the University of Illinois calculate that it costs $62.32 in 1958 to grow an acre of corn. If the yield would have been 54 bushels per acre as it was on the continuous corn plot at the University of Illinois last year, it would have been necessary for the corn to sell for about $1.15 per bushel to break even. It is questionable whether corn netted the farmer $1.15 per bushel in 1959. If it did not, I ask the question whether we can afford to grow corn and add to our already burdensome surplus, if we cannot receive the cost of production plus a small profit in return.

Cite Manganese Soil Deficiencies

Manganese deficiency symptoms in soybeans and oats are becoming more common in Central Illinois, according to S. W. Melsted of the University of Illinois agronomy department.

The plant needs manganese in order to develop chlorophyll, which gives the green manganese, plants cannot color. If there isn't enough make this chlorophyll and yellow areas develop between the leaf veins.

Melsted points out that yellowing appears first in young leaves. If the manganese supply is at the borderline of what plants need, the symptoms may appear only in cool weather, since the plants are more sensitive to manganese levels under such conditions.

Poorly aerated, wet, neutral to alkaline soils are apt to be low in manganese, Melsted continues. Leaf analysis and plant symptoms are the only practical ways to tell whether a soil is deficient, since there is no soil test.

THE MOST successful way to correct a deficiency in Illinois is spraying the plants with manganese sulphate, says Melsted. A suitable rate is 10 pounds in 25 gallons of water per acre. The total costs is around $3.

Last year deficiency areas were observed in west-central Illinois in Mason, Logan, Hancock and Adams counties; in eastern and central Illinois in Iroquis, Kankakee, Will, Ford, Livingston and Woodford counties; and in northern Illinois in Whiteside, Lee, Boone, and McHenry counties.

Melsted urges farmers to watch soybeans during early growth periods for signs of maganese deficiency.

4-H Club Youth In Talent Finals

Over 400 Cook county 4-H'ers are holding their dress rehearsals for the County finals of the Share-the-Fun festival to be held at Arlington high school, tonight, Thursday, May 19, 1960.

Competing for top honors with thirty-four local acts will be the Sift 'n' Seam 4-H club from Park Forest and the Palos Heights 4-H club from South Cook, who have already won their divisional contests.

ALSO, IN THE thick of things will be the Prospectors 4-H Club of Mt. Prospect who were state winners in 1959. Leaders of the Prospectors are William Ryan, 512 N. Maple, Mt. Prospect, and Elmer Oehlerking of Palatine, who report that in their act, club members will humorously depict famous men of history.

The winning act this year will again represent Cook county at the State Festival with runner-up acts gaining the right to appear at the 4-H Fair this fall.

Much singing, dancing and fun making spell out good entertainment for all.

Festivities begin at 7 p.m. The public is welcome; there is no admission charge.

Variety of Talks for Sewing Susies

Talks and demonstrations on making toothpaste and brushing teeth were highlights of the May 9 meeting of Sewing Susies 4-H group. Margaret Gross told how to make toothpaste while Roselyn Deu demonstrated the lyn Deu demonstrated the proper way to brush teeth.

Mary Jo Ebel's subject was "How to Make Biscuits" and Joanne Basil talked on "Babysitting."

Before adjournment, the girls held a dress rehearal for "Share the Fun."

Sheep Talks For Palatine 4-H Group

Bill Engler was chosen as king candidate and Georgia Bergman as queen candidate at the May 10 meeting of Palatine township 4-H.

The June meeting was changed to the third Tuesday, June 21, instead of the second Tuesday. Mr. Bergman explained the "Chicken of Tomorrow" contest.

"Selecting Good Rams" was the title of Mike Biddle's talk. Dick Biddle talked on "Care of a Ewe During Pregnancy" and a demonstration was given by Bill Engler on sheep equipment.

Next month, talks will be on poultry. (Fm

Hay Is Added To Cow Ration

University of Illinois research indicates that dairy cows on corn or sorghum silage should also receive at least one pound of hay per 100 pounds of body weight.

By adding alfalfa hay at this rate to a ration that had previously consisted entirely of corn silage and ground shelled corn, U. of I. researchers boosted production of 10,000 - 12,000 pound producers by as much as 1,600 pounds of milk per lactation.

Dairy scientist J. H. Byers says cows on the corn silage—ground shelled corn ration had digestive trouble when fed only ½ pound of hay per 100 pounds of body weight.

Roselle Man Buys Top Cow

Lawrence Wilkenning of Roselle, recently made an initial purchase of one registered Ayrshire cow from Forke Bros., Itasca, according to the Ayrshire Breeders' Association Secretary, David Gibson, Jr., of Brandon, Vt.

The transaction was recorded in the National Office of the Ayrshire Breeders' Association in Brandon, Vt., where complete registry records on all purebred Ayrshires in the United States have been maintained since 1875. Because of their ability to purchase an abundance of 4% milk economically, the Ayrshire breed continues to become increasingly popular with dairyman throughout the country.

Hints To Home Owners

James Fizzell

Assistant Farm Advisor

The presence of moss in lawns can be due to a number of factors, all of which can be traced to environmental or soil conditions which are detrimental to the good growth of turf grasses.

If moss is present in a lawn it is a good indication that something is preventing the grass from growing. The most common factor is depleted soil. Moss is much better adapted to growing in poor soil than grass. Fertilizing with a good lawn fertilizer in spring and early fall will help the grass to grow and eliminate the moss.

Poor drainage can also be responsible for moss. Low spots in the lawn should be filled in to provide natural runoff of water. In some cases, tile will be necessary to get proper drainage.

EXCESSIVE shade is a factor which is common in city lawns. Thinning tree branches can be helpful, but a grass such as creeping fescue or Poa trivialis which is adapted to shaded areas should be sown.

Few lawn grasses grow well in acid soil. The only way to tell if soil is acid is to have it tested. Contact the Farm Bureau Office in Arlington Heights for information on soil testing. If the soil is acid, the results of the test will give instructions on how to correct the situation.

In areas where there is a dense mat of moss on the lawn, it should be killed by spraying with a 5% solution of iron sulfate.

This will stop the moss from growing while the lawn grasses become established, provided that the factors responsible for the moss are remedied.

Bathe Dog When Needed in Spring

Don't rush out and dunk your dog in a tub of sudsy water during spring cleaning, says University of Illinois veterinarian Dr. Erwin Small.

Make sure he needs a bath before washing him. And when it is time to bathe him, use a mild soap or medicated shampoo. Before using a shampoo, however, dab his eyes with salve to prevent painful stinging. Also, put cotton in his ears to prevent ear infections sometimes caused by water and shampoo getting into the ear canals.

One of the main reasons for thoroughly cleaning a dog is to rid him of any hitch hikers picked up over the winter. If you use a mild soap, spray or dust the animal for fleas and ticks shortly after bathing. Then wrap him in a towel for about ten minutes to prevent fleas and ticks from escaping while the spray or dust does its work.

A CLEAN DOG, free from fleas and ticks is not only more comfortable, but stays healthier, says Dr. Small. He is less likely to have a skin condition caused by continual scratching. He is also less likely to get tapeworms.

Fleas spread these worms by eating them, and the worm eggs become larvae in their bodies. A dog swallowing a flea can wind up with anything from a mild to a severe tapeworm infection.

No clean-up is complete without getting rid of fleas in the dog's bed. Either wash the bedding or burn it. This together with frequent dustings will keep the dog comfortable.

One more point, says Dr. Small: Inspect both the house and the yard for areas where the dog may contact a source of fleas. Once a source is located and cleaned out, keeping the dog free from fleas will be easy.

Upward Trend Is Seen In Hog Market Prices

By L. H. SIMERL

The hog market made a good recovery from its early winter low. Some further rise is likely during the next 60 days, but the timing and extent of the advance are uncertain.

The biggest share of the 1959 fall pig crop has been marketed. Eighty percent of these fall pigs were farrowed before October 1. The youngest were seven months old by the end of April and will be eight months old by the end of May. Most hogs are marketed at seven or eight months of age, although some are ready for market at six months or even less.

ONLY 13 PER CENT of the fall pigs were farrowed in October and 7 per cent in November. The October percentage was less than normal, and the November share was about average. These figures point to small market supplies of barrows and gilts during the next 60 days.

Marketings of sows increase during May and June, partly offsetting the decrease in the marketings of barrows and gilts. Total output of pork typically declines to around July 4 and then increases as the winter pigs are sent to market.

The number of pigs on farms in nine corn-belt states was 18 per cent less on March 1 than it was a year before. This indicates that market supplies may be 10 to 20 percent smaller this summer than they were last year. Prices may be correspondingly improved over 1959 levels.

LAST YEAR prices of barrows and gilts at Chicago averaged $16.09 a hundred pounds in May, $15.91 in June and $14.40 in July.

This year prices are expected to trend upward during the summer, somewhat as they did in 1958 and in 1957. In 1958 the monthly average price went up from $22.03 in May to $23.12 in July. In 1957 the rise was from $18.24 in May to $20.79 in July. Since we start from a lower level of prices this year, the peak may not be so high as it was in those two years.

The present market outlook suggests that it will be profitable to feed hogs to 220 to 230 pounds for sale at most markets. It seems to be a good gamble that the general price level for hogs will rise enough to offset any price discounts on account of weight up to 230 pounds. This may not be true, however, of all markets.

Last year in May and June at the terminal markets used by Illinois farmers, prices for hogs averaged 15 to 30 cents a hundred pounds lower for 220 to 240 pound weights than for 200 to 220 pound hogs.

Looking further ahead, prices seem likely to hold up well for several months, probably through all of 1961. But this hog cycle may be shorter than the previous one. In that cycle, hog prices stayed above the $16 level most of the time for 38 months, from May 1956 through June 1959.

Cook Lesson For Wheeling Home Bureau

Becaue of facilities, the May 26 meeting of Wheeling unit of Cook County Home Bureau, is being held at Pioneer Park, where a cooking program on "Using Green and Yellow Vegetables" will be given by the local leaders, Mrs. Arlene Mees and Mrs. Rose Blanc. The group usually meets at First Federal Savings building, Arlington Heights.

Hostesses for the 11 a.m. meeting will be Mrs. Adelaide Sesterhenn, Mrs. Lillian Gappert and Mrs. Mary Sidor.

Monday, May 6, a "come as you are" coffee was held with most of the members, participating. Coffee and sweet rolls were served at the home of Mrs. Fern Anderson and Mrs. Ruby Gans, 614 N. Beverly lane. (Fm

Ex-Farm Adviser Revisits Suburbs

A former Cook county farm advisor who wrote a column for Paddock Publications from 1926 to 1937 revisited his old habitat of Arlington Heights last week and stopped in to greet friends at the suburban newspaper chain.

O. G. Barrett, 75, now operates a farm with his son near Morenci Mich. It straddles the Michgan-Ohio line. Farm buildings are located in Michigan, but most of the 200-acre farm lies in Ohio.

When Barrett was farm advisor he also edited "The Countryside," paper published by the Cook County Farm Bureau.

OCCASION OF his return was the 25th anniversary celebration of the Arlington Heights PEO, celebrated last Wednesday. His wife was a member when they lived here and she wanted to be present for the anniversary celebration.

When asked if he has noticed any change in Arlington Heights since 1937 he said: "It has changed from a village to a metropolis. There are more places gone than are left."

Barrett was asked if he is satisfied with prices being paid farmers for their products. He said: "As a general principal farmers are never satisfied."

He listed these advancements in agriculture in his lifetime: hybrid seed corn, higher hog production, higher milk yields, meat-type hogs which produce less fat and labor-saving machinery.

Mr. and Mrs. Barrett returned to their home last Thursday. (Fm

Federal Gaming Stamps Are Sold

Twelve out of 22 suburban Cook county locations which have purchased federal gaming or slot machine stamps since April 7, are in the northwest suburbs, according to a list issued Friday by the Internal Revenue Service. The stamps cost $250 per machine for a fiscal year, which ends June 30.

This brought the Cook county total to 38 for the present fiscal year including one in the city of Chicago.

Two northwest suburban locations also bought $50 wagering stamps, used for bookie and policy operations, and requiring payment of 10 per cent of gross receipts also to the government. Total for the county in this category is now 109, while the entire district comprising 26 northern Illinois counties is 150 in each category.

THE NORTHWEST suburban gaming stamps went to the following:

Howard H. Beadell, Ralph's Lounge, 7452 Irving Park road, Norridge;

Dan and Frank Giamalva, Norridge Bowling Lanes, 7414 Irving Park road, Norridge.

Mary Giamalva. Frank's Sportsman's Inn, 7620 Irving Park road, Norridge.

Betty Mendell, Betty's Lunchroom, 1605 River road, Des Plaines.

Joe Filardi, Ridgemoor Gardens, 6357 Gunnison ave., Harwood Heights.

SOS Club, Inc., 9500 Higgins road, Des Plaines.

Fred Hamilton, Jan's 24-Hour Grill, York and Higgins, Elk Grove.

Henry Elter and Mary Wiedemann, Henry's and Mary's Hofbrau Inn, Route 68 and 12, Palatine.

Anthony J. Taglia, Jr., Trio Lounge, 8555 Grand ave., River Grove.

Joe Femali, J. and S. Drive-In, 2212 North ave., Melrose Park.

Karl Bock, Ann and Karl's Place, 83 South Milwaukee, Wheeling.

Joe W. Brandt, Nick and Al's, 807 West Baldwin, Palatine.

FOLLOWING are the wagering stamp buyers in the northwest suburbs:

SOS Club, 9500 Higgins road, Des Plaines.

Philip Catania, 10140 Grand avenue, Franklin Park.

The reason so many places, especially privately-owned establishments as distinguished from clubs, were reported as buying stamps so late in the fiscal year does not necessarily mean that a surge of new gambling has occurred, it was pointed out.

Generally the names announced late in the year are principally those of operators who failed to buy a stamp voluntarily, which would advertise their gambling to local law enforcing officials, but were discovered by internal revenue agents and forced to buy one retroactively for the period they have been open, good until June 30. The $250 per machine cost is pro-rated by months, for the months of operation.

IN MEMORIAM

In Memory of
Mrs. Clara M. Devermann
How often do I tread the path
That leads me to the grave
Where rests the one I loved so well
But whom I could not save.
Long days, long nights, you bore your pain
Waiting for cure, but all in vain.
God saw that you were suffering
And the hills were hard to climb
So He closed your weary eyes
And whispered "Peace be thine."

Industry Welcomed By Rolling Meadows

Designed for light, desirable and well-landscaped industrial development, the Rolling Meadows industrial section is a pattern for older communities to follow.

Containing 200 acres, the major section of the industrial area is owned and being developed by the Northwestern Industrial Park, Inc. A new industrial area of about 15 acres adjoining the older section has just been added to the city.

Presently erected and operating are four modern plants. The first plant built in the city was Acme Gravure Service, Inc. Groundbreaking was held in May, 1958, for the plant which manufactures gravure plants and cylinders used for color reproduction of packages and other types of printing.

THE SECOND plant in Northwestern Industrial park was M.R.P. Fabricated Products. The metal stamping firm specializes in the manufacture of transformer and ballast cans as well as other metal stampings.

Two other plants are currently in operation in the industrial area - Molon Motor and Coil corp. and Magnet Cove Barium Corp.

Last month plans for seven additional plants in the industrial area were announced at the Rolling Meadows city council meeting by William Dean, vice president of the industrial park firm.

THE SEVEN new films for the city industrial area will "freeze" the planning of the area until final survey plats are released by the state highway department for the new combination Rt. 53-Rt. 83 highway which will run through the industrial area. This highway will cut about 20 acres from the total land available. As soon as final plans for the new super-highway are released additional lots in the industrial area will be laid out.

Present plants run along the wide, fully-paved Industrial ave. which connects Rohlwing rd. on the east with Hicks rd. on the western side of the industrial area. A new 600,000 gallon standpipe is under study by city officals to assure full water pressure for all future industries. This improvement to the water system will cost approximately $60,000 and probably will be paid for by a surplus earned by the city water department according to city officials.

Another facility for the industrial park development will be the construction of a railroad "spur track" for direct railroad swiitching of freight. Construction of the track should start soon, Edward Smith, president of Northwestern Industrial Park, stated.

THE SEVEN new plants for the industrial area include Elgin Micronics Division of Elgin National Watch company. The initial unit will be a 15,000 sq. ft. building on an eight-acre site on Hicks rd. Tobe uef odsr on Hicks rd. To be used for research and development at first, the plant is designed for expansion for some production if orders justify. Products will be for defense orders. Building plans for Polymar corporation are nearing completion. The Reading, Pa., has purchased a five acre site.

A new office and central sales division of Chambers Built-ins, a division of Chambers Ovens, will be built at the southeast corner of Hicks rd. and Industrial ave.

Spotnails, an Evanston manufacturer of staples and stapling machines for construction work, has bought a 16-acre tract immediately north of the Elgin property on Hicks rd. Fairmont Foods, processors and distributors of milk products and ice cream, will locate a plant on Industrial ave. Another new plant is to be built by Master Metal Strip Service, which purchased land last fall and is expected to start construction this spring.

Largest of the new companies is Hallicrafter, which has negotiated for a 30-acre tract. (SS

Lutheran Hospital Sets Up Blood Bank

Reclining in comort a blood donor can cheerfully give his blood to the Blood Bank of Lutheran General hospital.

Since the hospital opened in January of this year, more than 25 donors have given blood to this blood bank, either as a replacement for blood used for a friend or relative, or as a professional donor giving blood at regular intervals to build up an adequate blood bank for emergency use.

UNDER THE cooperative blood replacement plan, of which Lutheran General hospital is a member, each pint of blood donated will provide unlimited blood benefits for an individual for four years, or for a family group for one year. In company groups or fraternal organizations, one donor can name three others as "benefit members" and all four would be protected for one year.

The blood replacement plan operates like insurance. The donation pays the "premium for a policy" which provides this unlimited blood replacement anywhere in the United States. Blood banks must have ample supplies of blood of all types, and this plan was established to furnish an incentive to the public to help meet this need.

In addition to this plan, there is the professional blood donor, in other words, a donor who is being paid for his blood. According to Miss Lona Jacobson, medical technologist in charge of the blood bank, the professional donor is definitely needed to maintain an adequate supply of blood in the bank. Professional donors receive $15 a pint for their blood, paid at the time of the donation.

ANY ADULT in good health between the ages of 21 and 60, or an unmarried minor between the ages of 18 and 21, who has the written permission of his parents or guardian, can be a professional blood donor. At the time of the blood donation last minute checks of blood pressure, pulse, and temperature will be made to be sure that no condition exists for which a donor must be rejected, either for his own physical welfare, or for the protection of the patient receiving the blood.

The actual donation of the blood takes 5 to 8 minutes, after which the donor rests for 20 minutes while enjoying coffee or juice and a sweet roll. Donations may be made at intervals of not less than 10 weeks, with the final decision of acceptance or rejection being made by the blood bank.

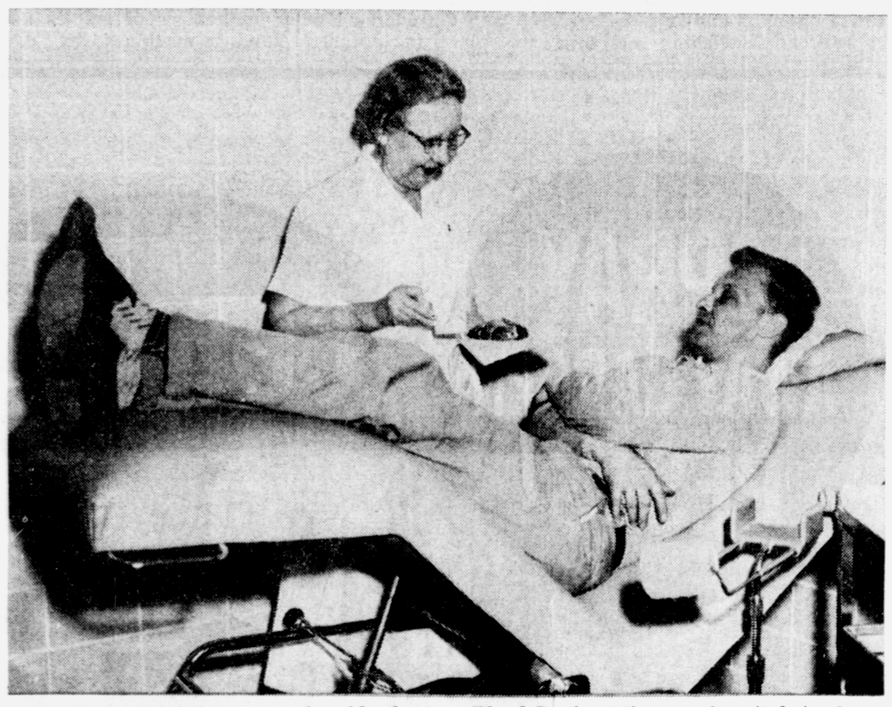
MISS JACOBSON has supervised well over 10,000 donations and has been in blood bank work since the beginning of World War II. She organized the St. Luke's hospital blood bank of Chicago, under the Civilian Defense program. She also organized the Danville Elks blood bank and was in charge of the mass blood-typing of the Civil Defense Border blood bank of International Falls, Minnesota.

Any person desiring to donate blood, whether it be as a professional donor, or under the Cooperative Blood Replacement Plan for himself, family or company or fraternal group can do so by making an appointment with the Blood Bank. Call the Lutheran General hospital, 1775 Dempster street, Park Ridge, TAlcott 5-4434, ext. 327 and make an appointmeny any time on Mondays through Saturdays, between the hours of 7 a.m. and 2 p.m. (B8



"IT IS A PLEASURE to give blood at Lutheran General Hospital," stated William S. Pischke. Miss Lona Jacobson, Medical Technologist in charge of the Blood Bank at the new hospital, is shown serving the customary refreshments following the donation of blood.

CITIZENS
BANK & TRUST COMPANY

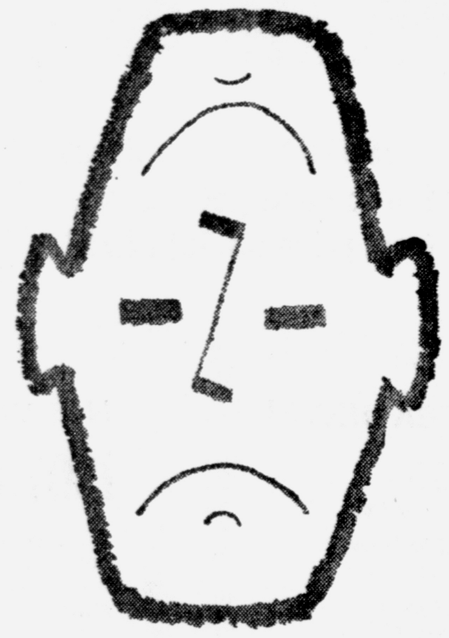
A banking institution with full trust powers. Deposits protected by Exceptional Reserves plus Federal Deposit Insurance. Member of the Federal Reserve System; depository for Public Funds of the United States Government. Worldwide radio and cable transfers; cable address: CITIZENS-CHICAGO.
Assets in excess of fifty millions of dollars.

Frank Foresight (see above) heard about the 4000-or-so of his neighbors in Park Ridge who always (yes, always) know where they can find their valuables — safely reposing in Citizens' 40-ton, underground, steel-and-concrete Vault. Superman himself couldn't get at them. So Frank called on Art Findall at Citizens Bank and rented just the size vault box he needed. Now Frank goes around with this happy, secure look all day long. Sleeps better at night, too. And what does Frank pay Citizens for his rich transquility? Exactly three-fifty for a whole year!



Norman Nosense (see above) thought he knew it all. Kept his valuables — like titles, military records, tax returns, contracts, jewelry, mortgage papers, insurance policies, etc., etc. — right where he could always (well, almost always) find them — in his desk drawer at home. Then one day a burglar (or was it a fire?) came along and all was lost — and at what a cost! Now Norman goes around with this sadder-but-wiser look because he learned too late that . . .

Wheeling was well represented at the Illinois Federation of Women's club's annual convention May 11, when 15 Wheeling Junior Woman's club members attended the Junior night banquet at the Sherman hotel, Chicago.

The Wheeling Junior Woman's club received three awards, one a certificate award for being a 100 per cent club, another which was the most outstanding award of the evening, a sterling silver inscribed bowl, which Mrs. O. Just Around the Corner from Patty McArdle

My Favorite Columnist

Dear Peg:

And then there's another man in my life — a columnist whose entertaining and informative columns I read every evening. I don't always agree with him, but I always enjoy him. With unusually fine perception, Sydney J. Harris has that wonderful ability to interpret people and their actions and to point out candidly and with good humor the great similarity between all human beings.

In a recent column he wrote about the need for humor in the home, especially in the rearing of children. He was not writing this time of the sense of humor a mother must retain while rearing the brood (although we all know this is one of the absolutely necessary qualities of a "good" mother) but rather he was referring to the need children have for just plain silliness — humor with no point or goal to produce anything more than the giggles.

"Even a home of economic poverty or physical neglect does not seem so bleak and chilling to me as a home that is glum and matter-of-fact. A young child can stand almost any adversity, for he is stronger and more resilient than we think — but he can be utterly crushed by a lack of genuine playfulness in the home environment. I have seen many cool and efficient and attentive mothers who look with scorn upon their flightier neighbors who cook badly, keep house poorly, and let their children run around half dressed. Yet efficiency and attention cannot make a child bloom when the sportive element is lacking; when silliness is frowned upon; when all must be ordered and organized and spotless and serious; when every action must have a purpose and every trip must have a goal" . . .

He goes on to say that many parents worry about the trivial problems of toilet training, thumb-sucking and nail-biting — which time will eventually take care — while never giving thought to the humor quotient in the homes. "They think that merriment is a luxury they can afford only after the more serious matters have been settled — when, in truth, the playful aspect of a family determines how quickly and easily these matters become resolved in a natural manner" . . .

This last paragraph contains the most important thought of the entire article. Have you ever noticed when, at some time, you've suddenly and unpredictably said or done something to a child that was utterly ridiculous, that a relationship is immediately established which appears at almost no other time? Suddenly adult and child are of one mind and one emotion and from this brief moment of unexpected closeness there springs a warm feeling between the two that will add to the knowledge of each other and last indefinitely. And when there exists this warmth and understanding, the job of guiding and being guided is made less difficult and more pleasant.

This is not only true of the parent-child relationship but of teacher-pupil relationship also. I've had many wonderful experiences while teaching music to the kindergartners in our school. Among the most rewarding has been the discovery that a few moments of pure silliness with the children once in a while does not bring about any loss of "control" but rather creates a friendly atmosphere and establishes a rapport between myself and the children which makes teaching music and learning music a delightful experience.

My love,
Patty

Here's HAUGH to Plan a Party

by DOLORES HAUGH

A Graduation Buffet Party

The big day is drawing near when with "Pomp and Circumstance" our wonderful children-of-our-future will achieve their long struggled for aim, GRADUATION.

Almost every lucky graduate will have some kind of celebration whether it be 50 people or "just the family" so here are a few suggestions flexible enough to serve either type of entertainment.

Invitations

Usually formal graduation announcements are sent out from high school but don't make the mistake one person did, she wrote the invitation to her open house following the exercises on the back of her graduation announcement and half the invited ones did not see the invitation. So avoid having left over sandwiches and punch by making sure a separate invitation is included.

* * *

IF YOU care to be formal include a printed card with the graduation invitation or announcement but for informal and family affairs a tiny calling card with a miniature mortarboard hat and tassel in one corner, with the time, place and date, is charming and effective, plus we guarantee it will not be overlooked.

Decorations

The local gift shops and party shops are overflowing with decorating ideas for a lovely table. Napkins, paper cups and plates to help Mom in this ever so busy time of year, tall dolls dressed in cap and gowns with the theme repeated on nut cups and place cards are available. These can be made to order in your own school colors; use candles to match and your table will be a beautiful setting for your day of days.

Be sure to order enough napkins for the punch bowl, the cocktail size to match the ones used on the main table.

Menu

A simple menu such as tiny sandwiches, homemade cookies, small creampuffs, buttery nut bars, all arranged on large silver trays or crystal serving plates need little garnish as they are so lovely in their own rights.

You may add a miniature of the centerpiece to the center of each tray or a mock diploma tied with your school colors, this theme being repeated on the top of your decorated cake. If Mom is handling the operation-graduation, help her by pitching in on the funds if you can and if you can't how about lending a hand with the pre-party and after-party clean up.

And here's a small clue from a hep mother, a little, brief, one sentence, 2-word note of thank you is something to make your graduation party extra meaningful to Mom. It's funny how sometimes we think manners are just for outsiders. Punch or coffee and or tea, mints and nuts round out the menu.

Entertainment

If you are planning a buffet lunch, open house or an after graduation get together, there will be enough food for thought to provide conversation to last quite a while. If you plan a pre-graduation buffet supper, a fortune teller who has removed all of her bad luck cards from the deck provides a lot of fun.

Naturally dancing and just one game is the most with most kids so you know your gang best, decide accordingly.

ONE MORE word of caution, watch the time. On the open house idea, be sure to stagger the time if your home will not accommodate comfortably the invited guests at one sitting. If it is an evening affair, break up on the early side as this, too, will please parents.

But no matter how you celebrate it — the main thing is, you made it! Good luck kids. The future is yours.

Quite Contrary by Mary

Our One-Track Father

EVERYONE HAS HEARD the old saw about the absent minded professor who put his wife outside and kissed the cat goodnight. I don't think my lord and master is quite that absentminded and anyway we don't have a cat, but he can give the old prof. a run for his money.

I wouldn't exactly say that Father was absentminded. He just has a one track mind. The track runs as the crow flies between his house and his office. He's just fine as long as those are the only stops on the agenda. Just don't ask him to make any detours or stops while he is on his run.

One fine day I went to the beauty parlor to see what they could do to improve. In vain I pleaded to drive myself. No, no, no, Father would be more than glad to pick me up on his way home. After the beauty operator had gone as far as she could, or would, I decided to wait for Pappy out on the street to facilitate his picking me up.

So I stood and stood and pretty soon, up the street came our chariot with Father grimly at the wheel. Down the street went our chariot with Father still grimly at the wheel. And, I went running down the street after him shouting for him to wait for me, wait for me. He did not wait for me. He went home where he was very surprised not to find me.

Eventually he remembered where I was. He always eventually remembers where we are but apparently it isn't easy. Only the other day he was asked to pick up the youngest female at her dancing school. He came winging home like a pigeon in a race leaving poor dearie to stand and stand wondering if we had decided to get rid of her.

And, so it goes. However, the other day he really outdid himself. I asked him to take me to the doctor's office. A seemingly simple enough request. First I went to the office. When I did not leap eagerly from the car, he recalled that it was the wrong kind of office. Then, I started home from whence I had just come. Mildly, I mentioned the DOCTOR'S OFFICE PLEASE.

We whizzed off again on the right road this time. And, we kept right on whizzing past the D's office on our way to another state, I think. If I had not captured his attention by the simple expedient of grabbing at the wheel, we might have shuttled up and down that road forever. Sort of like the Ancient Mariner.

Wheeling Juniors Named State Community Achievement Winner

Clubwomen from seventh district of Illinois Federation of Women's clubs will be interested in the report given May 11, at the 65th annual convention held at the Sherman hotel by the Community Achievement contest chairman, Mrs. L. A. Clark of Martinsville.

This is a national contest sponsored by the General Federation of Women's clubs and the Sears Roebuck foundation. Winners in each state are judged on the national level, for which a coveted first prize of $10,000 is given.

FIRST PRIZE winner in Illinois is the Wheeling Junior Woman's club. The Wheeling community is an area building up rapidly on farm land where taxation for their many needs is opposed by farm interests.

The club of 61 young women was able to overcome these difficulties by securing cooperation and instigating the following: a library district; a class for the perceptually handicapped in the school district; a united community Christmas project; a public relations program in the school district; and helped form a School Caucus Plan; sponsored dance instructions for Junior High students; conducted a transportation survey; participated in a Park District steering committee; and just completed organizing a community council which includes representatives from all organized groups in Wheeling.

THE Community Achievement contest is judged on the basis of community development which means the general improvement of the quality of the community life as a whole, such as civic unity; interest and responsibility toward solving the problems of a given community; also, improved skills in group decisions and group leadership.

Officers recently elected to serve the seventh district during the 1960-1961 term are: Mrs. C. A. Hendrickson, Arlington Heights, president; Mrs. Harold V. Northway, Park Ridge, first vice president; Mrs. Arthur P. Murray, Edgebrook, second vice president; Mrs. A. Irving Goux, Chicago, recording secretary; Mrs. William C. Wilkinson, Park Ridge, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Edward Schoessling, Chicago, treasurer; and Mrs. Myron R. Hartley, Mt. Prospect, junior director.

APPOINTMENTS as new chairmen of departments of work included Mrs. LeRoy Koelle, Prospect Heights, civil defense; and Mrs. Donald O. Noah, Hoffman Estates, Park Ridge School for Girls. (S

PETER SELLERS is shown in the three roles he portrays in Columbia Pictures' "The Mouse That Roared," in Eastman Color, co-starring with Jean Seberg. Opening Friday at Des Plaines.

ERNIE KOVAKS listens apprehensively to the wacky resort-hotel building scheme advanced by Robert Strauss and Dick Shawn in Mervyn LeRoy's CinemaScope Deluxe Color production, "Wake Me When It's Over," opening Sunday at the Catlow Theatre in Barrington.

Movies

"The Big Fisherman" and "The Mouse That Roared" will be the featured attractions at the 53 Outdoor theatre, highway 53 and 12 in Palatine, beginning Friday, May 20.

The story concerns the biggest man involved in the founding of Christianity: Simon, so huge, he was known throughout the Holy Land as the Big Fisherman until he became St. Peter.

"THE MOUSE That Roared," with a spectacular run of over four months at a Chicago theatre, is co-featured.

Russian Ballet Film Is Excellent 'Art' Fare

by JIM PHILLIPS

In the past, I have hesitated to review the so-called "art" films because (1) you never see them in your local neighborhood theater, and (2) there is a strange attitude among certain classes of people, including the critics themselves, that "art" films are only for the elite and well-bred movie fans. This latter point is a damaging one because it establishes an entertainment wall between the "classes" which is cemented with the mortar of snobbishness and characterized by the following brickbats, extracted from the column of one Chicago movie critic:

". . .although this film has musical value, it will only appeal to the genuine theatergoer or patron of the Ballet Art. . ."

THE FILM referred to in this case was Russia's cultural exchange presentation, "Swan Lake," which is showing at the World Playhouse in Chicago.

You will read many criticisms of this picture — the Chicago papers (and others) have generalized that the film is not the greatest since it is not as colorful as a live-stage performance of the ballet. What they really mean is that it wasn't shot on an MGM soundstage, in a dazzling burst of technicolor, accompanied by the music of the Hollywood Bowl Symphony Orchestra.

My reaction to "Swan Lake" is quite different: I thought it excellent. But not because of the behind-the-scenes authenticity, the unusual photography, and the audience mannerisms. These are interesting, to be sure. But more than that, the film brings a fine example of Russian Ballet to us; the music of Tschaikowsky takes on further meaning.

"Swan Lake" gives the audience a glimpse of such artists as Plisetskaya, Fadeyechev, Levashev, and Khomyakov performing as they would perform, under the usual Russian Ballet atmosphere. The filming of this actual performance is not what we Americans are accustomed to — the lighting is low-key, the color photography doesn't have the splash or razzle-dazzle of "An American In Paris," or "Can-Van" — But actually, it shouldn't have!

THESE FACTS are all the more reason the picture should be shown to everyone from grade school on up! The film is an education in itself. It is meant to be. It's unfortunate that we, in the Paddock area, will probably not get to see it without fighting the Chicago traffic. Even more tragic is the fact that pictures like "Swan Lake" are sometimes ignored by Educational Institutions. An example of this is the series of films I previewed not long ago at a leading midwest university. One of the films was a "recording" of a European symphony orchestra performing excerpts from Tschaikowsky's Fourth Symphony. When the board of critique was asked the film had any educational value, they replied with the following remarks, (and these are educated people!):

"I see no particular use for the film. . ."

"All the film shows is a piece of music being performed. . ."

"Perhaps a college curriculum could us it. . .I think younger people, say of high school age, would be bored. . ."

"I see no use for the film in a high school or grade school. They already have music classes. . ."

NEEDLESS TO say when my turn came to speak, I was almost thrown out bodily. Why! Because I saw a great deal of value in the picture, just as I do in "Swan Lake." This Bolshoi performance is not just "a night at the Ballet," but a peek at what goes on behind the scenes of a full-scale Russian musical production. The dancing represents the work of an outstanding Ballet group. It would be a shame if young people missed it, let alone grown-ups! But we probably will — after all how many "Swan Lakes" can you squeeze in between a double feature which includes "The Fugitive Kind" and "The Gazebo?"

Tickets may be purchased at all public elementary schools and the Minor and South junior high schools, also St. Peters and St. James schools on Friday, May 20, before school hours in the morning and during lunch hours. Tickets may also be obtained by calling CL 5-3494.

Offer Tickets For Production

While actors and behind scene workers are sharpening their roles in the Palatine Players June presentation, "Arsenic and Old Lace," the time has come for Players members to sell tickets so the house will be full opening night -- and succeeding nights — of the performance. The play will be given two successive weekends, June 3 and 4, and June 10 and 11.

Tikets are $1.50 apiece. Lovers of amateur drama may get tickets from Mrs. Forence Conforti, Flanders 8-2419, or any Player member. Tickets will also be sold Memorial Day weekend in front of the Palatine triangle.

Fireworks Fete

There will be holiday fireworks displays May 27, 28, 29, and 30 at the 53 Outdoor theater, Rand rd. and route 53, Palatine, in connection with the movie scheduled for the weekend, "Don't Eat the Daisies."

BOTTOMS UP — only that isn't an ordinary glass of wine being offered to an unsuspecting male guest, as theatre-goers will learn when they see the comedy "Arsenic and Old Lace" to be presented June 3, 4, 10, and 11 by Palatine Players at 8:30 p.m. in Cutting hall of Palatine high school. Pictured in this scene from the play are Ralph Goebel, Alice Linde, Joe Rogers, and Dorothy Daniels. Jean Bonesteel is director of this production for the community theatre group.

Touring Art Fanciers Offering Vacation Tip

Just about this time of year the after dinner conversation eventually hits upon the magic phrase, ". . . two weeks with pay." Perhaps you've decided on the East coast. Good! Just bring an easel or sketch pad, sun glasses or camera, and we'll see what Massachusetts has to offer the Art World.

Boston's legacy of 300 years of history is kept alive in its many museums and libraries. The most celebrated, of course, is the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. Don't miss their French Impressionists! You'll find Matisse, Renoir, Degas, Cezanne, and Monet well represented. Also a large collection of silver by Paul Revere.

Visit Old South Meeting House, the store around the corner where Ben Franklin learned his printing trade, Back Bay Library with Sargent's famous murals, and in the evening stroll along the Charles River Mall as the Boston Pops Orchestra fills the night air with music.

SPEND A DAY at Jack Gardner's Palace. This interesting place is the home of Isabella Stewart Gardner, one of the great art lovers of the nineteenth century.

Both the Gardners had the leisure and means to travel all around the world and bring home many great treasures. When their Beacon Hill home overflowed with their acquisitions, they planned and built an imposing home on the Charles River, incorporating many of the lovely things they had purchased abroad.

The floors are Italian tile, waxed brick, or Florentine mosaics. A wall designed to display a lacy bit of Arabian marble or early English wood carving catches your eye as you head towards the focal point of the first floor. And that is a glass roofed courtyard, filled with poinsettias, orchids, sparkling fountains, and ancient sculpture.

YOUR EYES FOLLOW a flowering red trumpet vine, cascading down from a third floor balcony, splashing its color along the wall near a Greek statue. There are benches where you may relax, catch your breath, or just lean back and listen to the music of a Sunday afternoon concert.

Mrs. Gardner was John Singer Sargent's patroness, and you'll find a large collection of his work here. The walls are covered with the wonders of many artists from Rembrandt to Whistler. And speaking of Whistler — his birthplace was Lowell, Mass. His home is now the Lowell Art Association.

MARBLEHEAD — a seaport haven for boat lovers, historians, and artists— an art colony known all over the world. This is the place to spend your mad money on thong sandals, silver and copper jewelry, good pottery, and fine original paintings.

Visit CONCORD and LEXINGTON, the homes of the American Revolution's Minute Men, the meeting place of the first Provincial Congress, and see the homes of Emerson, Thoreau, Hawthorne, and the Alcotts.

GILOUCHESTER has a colorful wharf, always loaded with painters and sketchers. Fishermen and their fleets are blessed in the Portuguese Church, and flowers are cast on the waters off CAPE ANN as a memorial to, "They that go down in ships."

IF YOU ARE creative, or would like to learn how to be, join one of 4,320 art classes expected to flourish this summer on the coast. If you collect, wander down Newbury Street, the gallery row of Boston, and shop to your heart's content. If you're an avid historian, two weeks just won't be enough! Have a pleasant trip. I'll be home soon — I miss you.

Aurora's Fiery Mayor Visits Suburbs

Controversial Paul Egan Offers Advice on All Issues

by BRUCE LADD

Aurora's controversial Mayor Paul Egan places more value on his life than on the need for conformity.

Mayor Egan, in a special press conference with Paddock Publications' editors last week, defended his unorthodox political record by summarily announcing, "My life is important to me.

"I want to live. If all the rest of the world wants to die, I still don't want to."

THE SQUAT, portly Egan has been the recipient of much attention in recent months for carrying on violent disputes with his city council, for forcibly ejecting "undesirables" from council meetings, and for hiring a female police chief.

But the resulting adverse publicity and hometown criticism do not deter the 62 year-old dynamo.

He is convinced the United States is "being sold down the river" by its leaders and is determined to expose the country's behind-the-scenes "war mongers." He fears war and does not hesitate to say so.

ONLY 10 DAYS ago he directed a letter to President Eisenhower, Secretary of State Christian Herter, and other Washington bigwigs, chastising the government for sending the ill-fortuned U-2 jet plane over Russia.

In part, the letter read, "Our Intelligence and State departments have been exposed without question in a cold, designed incident of unfriendliness to a country at peace with us . . . therefore I suggest that an apology be given Russia by the President . . ."

Such are the actions of the Illinois mayor. The Ottawa, Ill., born Irishman does not mince words when speaking of world peace and international relations. Nor does he withhold his opinion on other topics.

WHEN ASKED what he thought of suburban life, Egan quickly retorted, "I think it's wonderful. Cities are the most corrupt things in the world.

"You boys (the suburbs) are the future of the world, but you have to take the bull by the horns and run him, not let him run you. The suburbs are made for people, not for the dirty corporations."

Egan, first elected Aurora's (pop. 61,000) mayor in 1953, commented freely when informed Wheeling's Mayor A. R. McIntyre was recently forced to retract three appointments to key village posts.

"THIS IS too bad. It's open insurrection, revolution. I never would retract. The mayor has the right to appoint, and if they (village trustees) disapprove, he can appoint for 60 days.

"One of my police captains in Aurora is the most crooked man I ever saw, but also one of the smartest. He says there are too many chiefs and not enough Indians. This is true.

"Mayor McIntyre should have stuck to his guns and gone through the courts for a quick decision. And then to the governor.

"Those six trustees are trying to usurp executive power. The mayor can call on the people to come down and be sworn in and armed. They can then walk in and throw out the lousy chief of police (one of the contested appointees) to establish law and order."

EGAN, WHOSE education ended after third grade, pointed out that Mayor McIntyre is "facing terrible frustration," and that "next he'll be in the booby house and some guy as nutty as he is will be trying to analyze him."

The loss of a village trustee, which has caused a seemingly hopeless deadlock in passing legislation in Palatine, brought a philosophical reaction from the outspoken Egan.

"This town needs a good lawyer to find out what the law prescribes to break the 3-3 impasse," he opined.

"The people put in trustees and they're obliged to have trustees. I think it's well-defined in the state statutes. A successor should be appointed immediately.

"Maybe they should get the priests and ministers together to solve the Palatine problem."

THE EX-NEWSPAPER publisher called upon his executive experience when asked whether he would allow the Arlington Heights board of trustees to finance a new village hall from cash on hand or present the issue to the people in the form of a referendum.

"You mean they have enough cash in the bank to build a new hall? Adlai Stevenson and John L. Lewis must live here," Egan joked.

He then became serious, saying. "Allow the people to decide. In the charter of municipal ownership of the water and sewer system it probably says excess funds are to be reflected in the immediate reduction of rates.

"There well might be criticism of the village fathers here. The people have the say. It might be they have to refund all the surplus to the people.

"IN AURORA we have a water department that is terrifically profitable. The city council takes out $100,000 a year for other purposes and I feel that isn't right. The charter says profits must reflect in water rate reductions.

"They (the council) also took $300,000 out of taxes for an airport and the last thousand feet of the strip goes downhill. What's more, these select commissioners of mine have mortgaged the people of Aurora for $650,000 for parking lots and meters.

"This money in Arlington Heights should go back to the people in reductions, and if something goes bad and you have to raise the rates next year, then raise them."

Egan, the father of five, excitedly described his impromptu trip to Cuba a month ago. A few of his more profound remarks follow:

—"I thought I'd like to see what Castro was doing, so I hopped on a bus. Stopped to see my brother in Ft. Lauderdale, too.

—"I don't think Castro is a Commie. He comes from one of the oldest Catholic families in Cuba. He just got hot about Batista's atrocities.

—"The people love him. The only ones that hate him are the big corporations, the prostitutes, and their boy friends.

—"Castro walks around with all those bearded ladies who carry machine guns that fire 80 rounds. I'd like to have them at an Aurora council meeting.

—"I'm reminded of the old society editor I once knew. She hated pay toilets; would crawl under the door every time rather than pay a nickel. Castro lowered the pay toilets from a dime to a nickel. That's progress.

—"I went to get a room at the Hotel Nacional in Havana. They wanted eighteen bucks. I offered five and told them I didn't want to buy the place, just rent a room."

When not appearing in court to answer slander or assault and battery charges, Egan enjoys reading and traveling. He spent three days in Chicago last week attending the International Conference of Mayors, mingling with the likes of Daley (Chicago) and Wagner (New York).

He doubts if he'll run for the mayor's office again, explaining this last year in office "will be rougher than all the rest combined."

HE BRUSHED aside praise after telling Paddock editors the story of two Cubans who threatened to kill him on a darkened street. "I told them to go sell their fish somewhere else," he said. "They were only trying to make a flash for some dame."

Egan labels President Eisenhower "stupid," Gen. Douglas MacArthur "brilliant," and Sen. Paul Douglas "a real man—one of the greatest in America today." Castro, too, rates high on his "good guy" list.

The fiery mayor told of his being thrown out of business by Marshall Field in 1943.

"I purchased the Merchandise Mart News," he recalled, "and this guy Field wanted to write my editorials for me. I told him he'd see the greatest reading in his life, but he suppressed the paper."

OTHER EGAN outbursts included:

—"The bombs we have now would make the atom bomb look like a watchamacallit on a fat woman's shoulder.

—"The only reason Hitler didn't beat Russia is because we helped out. Why did we do it?

—"Gov. Earl Long (former, La.) isn't as bad as you might think. He says, 'I don't have to buy politicians. I just rent them.' He's a lower type than Huey Long. But Huey would have been President if he'd lived.

—"After getting thrown out of Aurora, I came back and got elected mayor and . . . near drove them (political enemies) insane.

—"Waitresses and bellhops are good people to know.

—"I begin to talk like this to people in Aurora and they want to throw me in the ocean."

It's true, Egan admits, that many think he's all wet. He carries a thick, leather-bound note pad in a lefthand coat pocket in which he writes impressions, names, addresses, and things he wants to remember.

But even though he's eccentric and much cursed at, Mayor Paul Egan of Aurora continues to fight things he's against and supports things he's for.

"I was elected by a large majority," he laments, "but nobody will admit they voted for me. They sneak in and vote and don't tell anybody about it.

"The trouble with this country is we live in a hypocrisy, not a democracy."

"I BEGIN TO TALK like this to people in Aurora and they want to throw me in the ocean," laments Aurora Mayor Paul Egan. He was interviewed Thursday by Bruce Ladd (above) and other editors of Paddock Publications newspapers. Egan has become a national personality as a result of his violent disputes with his city council, for forcibly ejecting "undesirables" from council meetings, and for hiring a female police chief.

AMERICA'S MOST publicized, colorful and controversial mayor — Paul Egan of Aurora — held a typically unorthodox press conference Thursday with editors of Paddock Publications newspapers. "Nobody will admit they vote for me," he told editors. "They sneak in and vote and don't tell anybody about it!"

"THE TROUBLE with this country is our lousy hypocrites," declares Aurora Mayor Paul Egan (right) in a post-press conference conversation with Charles Hayes, managing editor of Paddock Publications newspapers.

Suburbs Are Silent On Liquor Zonings

Little opposition or support was voiced Wednesday at a public hearing on a proposal to cut the number of zoning districts where liquor may be sold in Cook County.

Only one of 112 suburbs in the county voiced approval of the zoning ordinance amendment introduced by Commissioner William N. Erickson. It was South Holland, a dry town in south surburban Thornton township. Erickson hails from Evanston, also a dry town.

Representatives and officials of a few suburbs attended the hearing in the County Building as spectators only. They did not speak, pro or con.

ERICKSON SAID said he filed the proposed amendment to satisfy objections from other suburban commissioners on the County Board that the new zoning ordinance, adopted in March, allows the sale of liquor in too many places.

The amendment would allow the sale of liquor only in the types of business districts where it was permitted under the old or 1940 ordinance in unincorporated areas.

It would prohibit restaurant entertainment, dancing and serving of alcoholic beverages in M1 restricted manufacturing and M4 motor freight terminal districts. It also would prohibit taverns in M2 general manufacturing and M4 motor freight terminal districts.

* * *

"MY COLLEAGUES and the suburbs don't want the county opened up for taverns," Erickson said.

Andrew Dallstream, chairman of the zoning board, which conducted the hearing, stated at the outset:

"It really is surprising in view of the furor that erupted over taverns when the zoning ordinance was adopted that nothing was said before the passage of the new code. This board held many hearings throughout the county before the ordinance was adopted and we can't find any objections on the tavern provisions in the transcripts of those hearings."

* * *

THE ONLY opposition to the Erickson amendment came from an attorney representing investors planning to erect a $1.5 million motor hotel at the southeast corner of 159th street and Calumet expressway in Thornton township. The land is zoned as a motor freight terminal district and a zoning law change would prevent the motel from having a cocktail lounge.

No one from the liquor industry or trade showed up to testify.

Walter Popjoy, secretary and member of the zoning board, said no communications were received from the suburbs, except South Holland, whose village attorney was granted two weeks in which to submit a written statement. (B

Artists Invited To Exhibit Work

Artists from Chicago and suburban areas have been invited by the Arlington Market Merchant's association to exhibit their work in the Northwest Suburban Art exhibition June 17 -18.

Plans for the art exhibition include the exhibition of paintings along the canopy covered walks of the Arlington Market.

Also underway are plans to secure art treasures which will be shown to the public inside several market stores.

William Wimmer, president of the Northwest Art center; Tom Manley, art instructor at Wheaton junior high; and Douglas Ploss, a commercial artist, will judge the works.

RIBBONS will be awarded to three classes of exhibitors, including grade school, high school, and adults. Judging will take place June 18.

A popularity contest will be conducted to select the work most popular with the public, with ballots available during the show in all market stores.

Winner of the popularity contest will be presented with a savings bond by the Arlington Market Merchant's association.

All artists who are interested in exhibiting their work in this show may secure applications at any store in the Arlington Market. Registration will remain open until noon, June 11. (B8

To Discuss Area Health Facilities

A conference on public health in Cook county will be held Friday by the Cook County Public Health Council.

The meeting at noon will be held in Farwell hall, 19 S. LaSalle st., Chicago.

ALEXANDER ROPCHAN, executive secretary, health division of the Welfare Council of Metropolitan Chicago; Herbert S. Miller M. D., health officer in north shore suburbs; and Henry F. Hoppe, assistant county superintendent of schools, will be speakers.

The public is invited to attend this meeting and learn about the shortage of public health services in Cook county. Reservations may be made with Aaron Spitzer, FRanklin 2-6911.

The Way We See It

Solicitor—New Pest Plagues Suburbanite

Along with dutch elm, mosquitoes, and crab grass, warm weather has brought another, more persistent pest to the northwest suburbs — the solicitor.

Operating from door to door and over the telephone, this hardy breed offers "deals" on such items as cemetery lots, asphalt, educational books, fertilizers, musical instruments, and appliances, to name a few.

Some of the solicitors are outright crooks, with numerous convictions for running confidence rackets. Others operate in a grey area, misrepresenting themselves and their products. Others are just high pressure salesmen.

Many make emotional appeals, urging proud parents to think of their children's minds when offering a "$300 set of books for $200 as a pre-publication sale to advertise the books in your neighborhood."

One book salesman drew a bead on the doting mother of a six-month-old and told her, "Your child is like an iceberg. Only 10 per cent is visible to you. Ninety per cent is the inner self. And this child's inner self needs these books."

Other approaches are through the pocketbook. An appliance is offered "for next to nothing" if the housewife will merely give the salesman 12 names of friends who might be interested in buying his product. For each sale, the housewife get $10 off of her purchase price. It sounds simple when explained by the glib-tongued sharpster.

But an anguished wife later finds herself trying to explain to her husband why she signed a contract for $200, plus assorted carrying charges, for an all purpose appliance.

What can the gullible homeowner do? Become less gullible, say area police chiefs and chamber of commerces.

All area towns require door to door solicitors to secure permits. A permit is issued after a solicitor's background has been checked to ensure he has no criminal record.

The first thing a homeowner should do when approached by a solicitor is ask to see his municipal permit. If he can't produce one, the police should be contacted immediately.

A permit, however, does not guarantee the solicitor's product or the veracity of his sale's pitch. Information and advice on these subjects may be obtained by calling the local chamber of commerce or Chicago's Better Business Bureau.

But perhaps the best guard against con men and high pressure salesmen is that old Latin phrase — Caveat Emptor — "let the buyer beware."

New Emphasis Is Placed On State Youth Problem

Earlier this month an 18-year-old youth on unsupervised leave from an Illinois Youth Commission camp admitted the rape-slaying of a Chicago girl.

An IYC official at a special inquiry into the matter last week confirmed what Paddock Publications has repeatedly pointed out — that the state's juvenile institutions are woefully overcrowded and understaffed.

The official noted that for 1,750 inmates in Youth Commission facilities, there is one part-time psychologist.

In many instances, he said, crowded conditions force the Commission to return youths to their communities who have made little or no social adjustment. And, as was the case with the 18-year-old, the shortage of field personnel often results in no more than half-hearted parental supervision following return to the community.

Such practices have led to the return of over 20 per cent of Commission charges after their release. They have also led to brutal and senseless crimes by juveniles after they have been identified as delinquents.

The IYC is doing a good job with its available facilities. The emphasis, however, is too often on the physical plants to the neglect of individual attention by clinical personnel.

As Paddock Publications stated six months ago:

"We are already far behind in the professional personnel needed to combat our present delinquent youth problems. We need to wake up and realize that just as an unsatisfactory relationship with an individual, such as a mother or father, made a child delinquent, so is a satisfactory relationship with a trained behavior specialist necessary to help the child adjust to society's demands."

Barrington Legislator Blasts 'Pork Barrel' Bid

State Senator John Graham of Barrington last week let himself be counted in the special session of the Illinois General Assembly.

Graham took on five downstate Democrats in a free-for-all session that almost led to physical violence during discussion of a flood relief bill introduced by Republican Senator Lillian Schlagenhauf of Quincy.

The junior senator from the third district was unimpressed by the Demo lineup and its repeated attempts to "pork barrel" the relief bill with added appropriations for their own districts.

Graham's moment came when the southern Democrats decided to add $180,000 to an original $150,000 appropriation.

The Barrington senator, who has been carrying the ball for several of his fellow Republicans all the way through the session, took the floor and told the assembly he thought the special session was called for "special things," and pointed out that he had a relief bill for Salt creek in his desk that he was holding for the regular session next year.

"Let's not sacrifice principle for pork-barrelling," the senator said.

After blasting the Democrats for forcing the appropriations into the bill, Graham was called to defend himself by one of the opposition's senators. The pair was separated by the sergeant-at-arms before anything started.

We agree with Senator Graham's stand on this issue, and, even though the bill probably will be passed with the Democratic appropriations included, we are pleased to see the third district's contribution to the assembly taking such a vigorous hand in the debate.

America Errs In Spy Flight

by WILLIAM DULANEY

The violation of Russia's border by this country's U-2 spy plane was wrong.

It was not just "distasteful" as phrased by President Eisenhower. It was a willful transgression of international law, a warlike act, a provocation that could have ended life on this planet.

Naive thoughts?

No more naive than the assumption that this country's posture in world politics is built upon the pursuit of truth and an unassailable Christian morality as opposed to the Communist lie.

OUR GOVERNMENT has for all to see, engaged in espionage, betrayed its allies, lied to itself as well as the rest of the world, and truculently served notice that it will continue as official policy to flaunt international law until Russia lets us see what we want to see.

The effect of these actions upon disarmament negotiations, the uncommitted peoples of the world, world tensions, and our survival should be of concern to everyone.

Of greater concern to me is our populace's acceptance and approval, without question for the most part, of these actions.

It appears that in our desire to be "right" and feel pure, we have let our government lead us into George Orwell's era of 1984, with its "newspeak" and "doublethink."

"DEFENSIVE" SPY flights are necessary to preserve peace, our President tells us. But if peace is seriously threatened, we might have to use our massive "deterrents" to start a "preventive" war to preserve the "free" world.

We don't, however, want to pollute the atmosphere so we'll do the trick with "clean" bombs. That is, if we haven't, in a burst of compassion, developed a "humane" gas that merely paralyzes.

Perhaps a classic example of "doublethink" is the unchallenged statement by U.S. Atomic Energy Commissioner John Floberg, who earlier this year told the American Ordinance association:

"Much has been discussed regarding the effect of the atomic bombs on concluding World War II, and one's proximity to Japan at that time has considerable bearing on his views on that question.

"Regardless of differences of opinion, however, it is indisputable that on the day following the second of these drops, there were initiated not only proceedings for peace but also for the laying of a foundation of friendship, mutual reliance, and mutual respect which finds our country and Japan closely cooperating in the safeguarding of democracy."

IN SUCH A climate it only follows that we grasp eagerly at the comforting words of our benign father, the President, when he assures us that deceit and lies are a necessary national policy in the interest of peace.

Such "doublethink" makes it easier to stomach our attacks on Khrushchev for lying about the manner in which the U-2 was brought to earth, and, in the next breath, bemoan the fact that Pilot Powers, failing to destroy himself, didn't lie.

Perhaps, as is argued, such tactics are necessary for survival of democracy.

Is it, however, worth risking a war to preserve our form of government, when it daily becomes less distinguishable from the system with which it is locked in combat?

Does Newspaper Have Future In Rapidly-Growing Suburb?

by CHARLES HAYES

Suburban journalists: pack up your typewriters and silently slip into limbo. You're not wanted or needed in the new suburbia.

So implied one publisher, at least, whose weekly newspaper in Palatine folded last week with its 40th issue.

In a front page announcement, the publishers explained that the decision to discontinue publication as a newspaper was made in order to concentrate their efforts on a shopping guide, which they find "is more in demand than a newspaper."

They continued:

"Our proximity to Chicago and the numerous daily newspapers tends to reduce the interest in weekly news publications, plus the fact that only a minority of the total population is actually interested in the local happenings of the village. Since it is the advertisers who actually support a publication, they have every right to prefer the additional concentrated circulation we can give them with a shopper. Therefore, we have decided to dispense with the news coverage."

THE FAILURE of this newspaper once again leaves Palatine with only one news medium — the Palatine Enterprise. One of 13 Paddock Publications newspapers, it has been serving that village for more than 83 years.

I was disturbed by this publisher's "death notice" because he made what I regard as shocking and irresponsible misstatements about suburban journalism. The announcement, and his reasons for it, upset me not only as a journalist but also as a life-long suburbanite.

In effect, he informed Palatine residents that he believed:

1. They were too disinterested in their family, their neighborhood, and their community to support a local newspaper.
2. Suburbanites only read adverstisements in a local publication.
3. A community newspaper cannot compete with the metropliitan daily press in news coverage.
4. A publisher's first, and perhaps only, obligation is to the advertiser.
5. Because the editorial operation brings in no direct revenue, the publisher is justified in eliminating it.
6. Merchants prefer advertising in a free throw-away shopping circular than in a legitimate paid-circulation community newspaper.

WITH THIS kind of an editorial and business policy, that newspaper was destined to flop from the start.

That weekly's demise serves to remind us of the function of a newspaper, and in particular the role and future of suburban newspapers.

First of all, a newspaper is not solely a money-making organization. It is more than just an important advertising medium. It is the journal of the activities of a town. It records the growth, life, and death of people and institutions. It depends for its existence on the support of advertisers and readers, and, in turn, it supports them.

A NEWSPAPER is an indispensable item for intelligent living and a constructive and educational force in the development of the community — urban, suburban, and rural.

In the midst of world-wide changing conditions and startling advances in methods of disseminating ideas and information, the suburban newspaper is yearly growing in stature. It is the primary visual source of information and a forum of opinion on local, county, and state issues.

The post-war population explosion has created decentralized living, and city planning experts now expect the suburbs to grow four times as fast as American cities.

These sweeping population trends have opened up a new frontier in journalism: the suburban newspaper.

The fact that the suburbanite resides in a suburb to provide a home, recreation, and life for his family indicates he wishes to become associated with the community. Such subjects as home, schools, church, recreation, club, social life, and community problems all affect the family and make a striking appeal.

THESE ARE local interests which the metropolitan daily press cannot serve and which at the same time validate the existence of the suburban newspaper.

The modern suburban newspaper helps link together the community needs with its leaders. Readers have high community identity and are more apt to recognize local leaders.

The suburban press reflects community individuality, contains much community spirit, and provides a marketplace for ideas at a level impossible for the large city daily newspaper to achieve with any degree of success.

THROUGH THE medium of their own local paper, residents can settle problems by means of public debate, and leaders can glean the views and opinions of residents.

With an interest and responsibility centered on home and family, the suburban reader looks to his own community newspaper to buttress that interest with appropriate news and feature material.

Contrary to the view of the defunct Palatine publisher, the suburbanite has an above-average interest in local affairs.

That interest cannot be satisfied, however, with superficial accounts of local events; suburbanites demand a vigorous newspaper with a lively editorial and business policy to keep pace.

IT IS SHEER folly to assume that advertisers prefer a throw-away shopping guide over a legitimate newspaper.

National as well as local surveys have proved conclusively that newspapers remain the principal medium for advertising. They provide a penetration of local markets impossible for throw-away advertising sheets to achieve.

Furthermore, a newspaper assures the merchant of delivery and circulation. Merchants have learned from experience that their advertising message carries more impact in paid-circulation newspapers.

Paid-circulation means that subscribers invest a small amount to insure regular delivery of a dependable newspaper. This means a great deal to advertisers who insist on knowing how many readers actually pay to receive their newspaper. A throw-away shopper means nothing to most advertisers, who know that "you get what you pay for."

FOR EXAMPLE: the Palatine Enterprise each week sells more single copies than the total number of homes in the village!

The investment which these Palatine residents make in the Enterprise, as well as other Paddock newspapers, helps to pay for a weekly newspaper which averages more than 70 pages. It contains the personal items about their neighbors plus the news and features about all the important occurences in the community. Professional writers, all trained in graduate journalism schools, interpret community problems in an objective way so they can get a true perspective of their environment.

On top of all this, they get eight to ten pages of classified ads, an award-winning editorial page, a page devoted to letters from readers, picture pages, a full section devoted to women's interest news, a full section devoted to local sports happenings, a section of business and building news, and a myriad of special "depth" features.

Progressive merchants readily acknowledge that their display ad influences more shoppers and offers more for the advertising dollar in a publication of this caliber than in a haphazardly distributed shopping circular.

THIS MISGUIDED publisher has rendered a disservice to the profession of journalism as well as to the citizens and business people of Palatine.

That his newspaper venture failed is no reflection on the civic consciousness or community concern of Palatine residents. Nor is it an indication that Palatine merchants are unwilling to support a legitimate newspaper.

Rather, it is another example of a basic truth: a successful newspaper must take a leading role in creating the sort of a community in which people take pride; it must exercise its obligation to inform and educate the citizenry, to spotlight community needs, and to stimulate citizen study and action.

These are professional responsibilities which amateurs are ill-equipped to adequately fulfill.

I AM SORRY that this publisher is so cynical about suburban journalism. For our part, Paddock Publications will continue to publish suburban newspapers and to be excited about the opportunities and challenges which await us in the years ahead. We shall continue to extend our investment in suburbia because we have faith in the future of Palatine — and all the other communities which we serve.

Our philosophy was aptly summed up recently by William L. Dulaney, assistant managing editor of the Paddock chain, who said: "Contributing to and protecting the public interest is the greatest service a newspaperman can perform."

Quotoons

Nothing gives a parent a shot in the arm like one of his youngsters trying to take a bite out of it.

All it takes to make a good idea generate steam is a person who can get all worked up over it.

A man is getting old when a woman mistakes his wink for a blink.

Experience is what makes a man tell his wife the truth the second time.

When it comes to a matter of speed most wives can beat their husbands at withdrawing.

Cooperation is not a virtue in a young man if the thing that motivates it happens to be your pretty daughter.

Most women are content as long as they have claim to all of a man's contents.

Editor Set For Press Discussions

Charles Hayes, managing editor of Paddock Publications, has been invited to participate in two press meetings planned for May and June.

For the Radio and Television News Clinic to be co-sponsored May 21-22 in Urbana by the Illinois News Broadcasters associations and the University of Illinois, he will participate in a panel discussion on "How Well Are Radio and Television News Fulfilling Their Responsibility?" Hayes will offer a newspaperman's viewpoint on the question. Chairman of the panel will be James Koch, news director of WHBF - TV, Rock Island.

For the spring convention program of the Illinois Press association June 10-11 in St. Louis, he will serve as chairman of a panel discussion on "Handling the Delicate News." The discussion will cover proper handling of such "ticklish" news as crime, juvenile delinquency, arrests, sex, prostitution, illegitimate births, suicide, divorces etc. Panel participants will include H. Martin Landwehr, Garfieldian Publications of Chicago; Thomas Duffy, editor of the East St. Louis Journal; Grover E. Shipton, Roodhouse Record; C. E. Townsend, Granite City Press-Record; and Harry W. Stonecipher, Arcola Record-Herald.

She Supports Top Teacher

Last Wednesday evening a token group, representing several hundred citizens, appeared before the school board to present a petition asking that Mrs. Mae Melvin be retained as a teacher for one more year. This despite the fact that we knew a rule had been passed, recently, making it mandatory for every teacher of 65 years or over to retire.

Why did we do this? We elected these extremely youthful school board members. (Or failed to elect different ones by our absence at the polls). We must have had faith in their ability to decide issues. Then why the woman who must be far too protest against their decision to retire a 71 year old old to teach?

WHY? Because suddenly, the idea of forcing a teacher to quit her job because of her age did not make sense. Not when that teacher is more than adequate to teach our children. Not when the teacher is one we all have come to love and respect for the terriffic manner in which she has given our children the desire to learn.

Mrs. Melvin is a different kind of teacher than one usually meets nowadays. At first one is inclined to look upon her as a sort of dragon who has the pupil trembling in his or her shoes. Then one takes another look and sees, not cruelty or callousness, but love and understanding handed out in a gruff sort of bluffing manner that covers up tenderness and warmth, though not completely. There is a merry sparkle in her eyes that laughs at and with the unruly child and makes him want to knuckle down and show her he can do better.

It is this quality that makes the uninitiated call her overly strict and impatient. One who has had experience with her realizes that here is more than a teacher. Here is a dedicated teacher who looks at your child with a special eye and somehow finds the inner person that is in everybody. What can this untaught child do? What are his special needs? Is he made to feel worthy at home? Is there something in the way of his learning? Does he know how much fun there is in learning how to live in the world with other people? These are her concern. This is what sets her apart.

IT HAS been said that she is cross and impatient. That she does not knuckle down to all the rules. That she does not always get along with others on the staff. There are pros and cons and denials and ahems. Taking each teacher, one by one, the same things can be said of each at one time or another. Teachers are human beings. Only a jellyfish conforms completely to every rule and every whim of a school. There are times when everyone is cross and impatient, and this does not exclude young teachers. Some days the children themselves seem cross and impatient. So do parents.

Mrs. Melvin is a courageous little woman who has had to face life with a set chin and a smile to hide her grief. Her first husband was killed in World War I, leaving her with three small children to support on a meager government pittance. She turned to teaching and managed to raise her sons and send them to college. Then she went on to earn her B.S. and M.S. degrees. Except for one year, spent teaching in New York State, where requirements are very high, she has served in various Illinois systems, at all levels, from high school to the lower grades, wherever she was needed most. Four years ago she came to our school system from Galesburg, choosing Itasca because she was given to understand that here age was no detriment. The ability to teach was the main factor our board considered as they wanted the best teachers available for the money offered and felt her experience was more important than her age factor.

Four years ago Mr. Melvin, her second husband, became an invalid. Nurses were needed and later a nursing home. These were costly. On New Year's Day of this year, Mr. Melvin passed away. Mrs. Melvin was left to face her class with grief hidden and fearful debts to worry about. She knew she could make them disappear by working for another year. Then retirement could be faced and accepted. One more year. The whole difference between fear of the future or acceptance of the future. Too much to ask for? Not when she can deliver another year of good teaching.

AS PARNTS of her pupils and past pupils, we, who signed the petition, felt she is more than qualified to teach. We would be proud to have our children in her classroom. The children themselves ask that she remain. Does this sound like she is a fearful ogre who gives children nightmares and mars their egos for life? Not in my opinion or in the opinion of the man I speak for with this letter. Our quarrel is not with the schoolboard policy but with the inflexibility (and quite unnecessary) of a rule that says sixty five is too old.

At 84 Dr. Albert Schweitzer is compared to a saint because of his work in the Belgian Congo. At 40 some persons find themselves unable to earn a living. Age is not a matter of years but of the ability to be gainfully employed and to contribute to the lives of others.

Wood Dale Has Library

May I take this opportunity to proudly announce to you and your readers that Wood Dale has achieved its goal to build a new library.

I thank you for your invaluable help in making this possible. Your unstinting cooperation brought our need to the attention of the people of Wood Dale, and most of them responded most generously. We hope that those who were unable to give during the drive won't feel their obligation ended when the goal was reached. We will need their donations to provide a fine reference section for our students.

Finally, sincere thanks to every citizen of Wood Dale who gave money or skill to our community project. Your names will be published in our Honor Roll booklet, but more important, you are part of a precious legacy that will continue to benefit and enrich our village for generations to come.

Article Was 'Eye Opener'

Many thanks to Charles Hayes for his Swivel Chair Comments on "Basic State Plight is Failing Finances."

His article was an eye opener.

Before reading his article, my concern was the unreasonableness of the personal property tax and the moral dilemma it posed. To fill out the tax form completely and truthfully would literally result in the confiscaton of one's property and penalize frugality.

On the other hand, to fill out the form for merely a token payment (to get the tax collector off your back) is still dishonest. And a frauduent return can result in a fine up to $5000 and an imprisonment of one year. However, in spite of this, a token payment seems to be the more popular alternate possible because many people believe that the tax money is needed for schools, local government, etc.

THIS SECOND alternative might be palatable if everyone made this taken payment. But everyone doesn't. And because a large number of people, don't, it must be obvious that the law is unenforceable.

The result, of course, is to lose respect for the law as well as encourage dishonesty.

And now Mr. Hayes' article throws another light on the personal property tax problem. The corporations in Illinois, numbering many times that of Wisconsin, actually pay only 10 per cent of the tax that the corporations pay in Wisconsin, and less than three per cent of the corporations of California. Incredible!

The personal property tax is not unreasonable, it's ridiculous.

Classrooms Are Needed

During the past months I have not talked with anyone who does not recognize the need for additional grade school classrooms in Wood Dale. Opinions vary about size, cost, and location, but everyone seems to realize the need.

The democratic approach to settling differences of opinion is to form a committee, investigate all possible solutions to a problem, and decide as a group which of the solutions is the correct one. With this approach in mind, the Wood Dale district 7 citizens' advisory council was organized last January. From the very first meeting emphasis was placed on the fact that there would be no pre-determination of solution. All of the recommendations were to be based on fact finding sub-committee reports, but required a majority approval of the entire council.

IT WAS felt that if this new council was to be successful, it had to have representation from all organizations, religious groups, and geographical locations. People who had opposed the previous issues were asked to serve on the council. The feeling at all times during the four months of exploratory work was that this council represented all of the people of district 7 and that any recommendations made had to be economically and educationally sound. More than 30 citizens of Wood Dale and the surrounding area who are serving on the council recommended to the school board that a building with kindergarten, eight classrooms, and an all purpose room be built on the site already owned by the district on S. Wood Dale rd. This is not a solution recommended only by people whose children are in public school. It is a solution recommended by members with children in the Catholic and Lutheran parochial schools as well. These people, although it does not directly affect their families, realize you cannot turn your back on educational problems. We cannot continue to hide our heads in the sand and hope that the school problems will solve themselves.

I urge all of the citizens of district 7 to have faith and trust in the work of the advisory council and vote "YES" on Saturday, May 21.

Housewives: Support Buses

Housewives, the buses are rolling in Elk Grove Village three times a week. The Elk Grove Merchants and Professional association has at great expense provided us with the convenience of shuttle-bus service through the village to the shopping center. And all for the small sum of 10 cents round-trip, which all goes to our local fire department.

The use of these buses so far has not been as good as expected. No doubt, due to the fact we are not used to buses yet, but those of us riding in them found it a delightful experience. We had a chance to view our whole village, meet our neighbors and know we were helping our fire department.

IMAGINE stepping right off the bus in front of the store and find it right there ready to take us and our bundles back. On the bus Friday, May 6, were 19 happy ladies and 12 children.

The ladies decided a thank you was in place for this splendid service. So ladies, come and ride the buses so they will keep on rolling.

Addison Park Vote Urged

The referendum for the formation of the "Greater Addison Park District" will be held Saturday, May 21. The citizens of the Addison area will make the decision at that time if our area is to have an adequate playground and recreation program or not.

Each of us recently received our real estate tax bills. Most of us will pay a larger tax. The formation of a Park District will mean a further increase in our taxes starting with those we pay in 1961. The Parks will add from $4.00 to $8.00 to the average bill. The Park Committee and the Park Committee general caucus feel that the increase is worth any sacrifice necessary so as to provide the parks and playgrounds for our youth and the recreation programs for our young people.

THE VOTERS OF the area must decide - the answer to the question, "Do we want parks and playgrounds?" Failure to vote "YES" at the coming election will mean that at least two and possibly five years will elapse before the question can be brought to a vote again. In the meantime the dollar will further depreciate - cost of land and equipment will increase and most important land will be subdivided and not be available for parks and playgrounds.

To sum up, nothing is static, we live in an ever changing world, state, and community. Further expansion of the Addison area depends on continuing to attract new residents and new industry to the Addison area. Parks and playgrounds and a good recreation program will help to do just this.

Plan now to vote Saturday, May 21 for the formation of the "Greater Addison Park District."

What's Village Responsibility

To the Village Officials of Arlington Heights:

Our parkway and driveway was torn up the first part of December because of needed village improvements. The first week in May three men, one of whom represented the village, came to discuss replacement of our concrete driveway.

Because there had been some cracks in the drive, I was told that what the village could replace would result in a "patchy" job. It is hard to know what cracks were there and what were added. I do know and our neighbors can testify that it took tremendous pounding to break up the driveway. I was given the opportunity to contract for supplementary work. The price quoted was $49 for our share, which my husband considered high.

WHEN I ASKED for the price per square foot, I was told it was 80 cents (for 6-inch concrete). The portion we were to pay for was 37½ square feet, which amounted to $30.40, which is what we paid to the construction company.

We would not have had any work done if our drive had not been broken up; the workers were already here and what we had done only supplemented what the village was doing. Therefore, it is our opinion that when the village representative brought the concrete workers he had the responsibility of having an agreement on a fair price (what the village was paying), and telling the property owner what this agreed price was. In this way, this kind of mistake could be avoided.

They Salute League Work

Our salute to the League Of Women Voters in Arlington Heights for a job well done. We congratulate them for their efforts in stopping the one-sided Arlington Heights cemetery issue from being passed by the Wheeling township board, thereby preventing an additional increase in our real estate tax. Also, the league's bringing about the question of the disposition of surplus funds in the Wheeling township treasury plus their efforts in the successful changing of the time of the annual meeting, and it goes without saying that we were greatly impressed.

Homeowners Praise Hanson

The Homeowners' Association of Arlington Heights Park Manor publicly wishes to thank the Village Manager Mr. Hansen, for taking the initiative in the clean-up of a former unauthorized dumping site in our area, and the placement of much needed "no dumping signs.

For a manager who is the recipient of more complaints than praise by reason of his office, we hope this thanks will begin to balance a rather lop-sided ledger.

Top Value For Tax $

Seldom do I take issue with your fine newspaper and its capable staff but in fairness to all concerned your comments about Elk Grove Village police protection must be placed in proper focus.

No one recognizes the need for extension of our police protection more than the village board of trustees and I submit in addition, that no community can have too much police protection. However, your comment concerning economy in government and its relation to police protection does not hold water when you consider that even the wealthy north shore suburbs are having their troubles. A police force twice or three times our present size would not have prevented the vandalism break-ins we recently experienced.

THE VILLAGE trustee's job is to represent the people and exercise his best judgement. We do not feel the issuance of tax anticipation warrants and their accompanying high interest rate is the way the people want us to do business although some northwest suburban communities follow this practice.

No village board anywhere gives the people more value for its tax dollar than the Elk Grove Village board of trustees and its president. We pledge to continue to do this as long as we are in office.

Charles P. Smith
Village Trustee
Elk Grove Village

Foundation Thanks Ladies

On behalf of the Cook County chapter of the National Foundation, I wish to express our sincere appreciation to all members of the Ladies Auxiliary of Forest River.

Their gift will help us to carry on an expanded program in the fields of birth defects, arthritis and rheumatism. However, the fight against Polio will continue as in the past.

Many, many thanks to all of you.

Special School Aids Retarded Children

As each star differs in brightness, so do the children of man.

This is the official motto and theme of the Clearbrook school for Retarded children. Dedicated to the scholastic and physical education as well as the social development of retarded children, the private non-sectarian non-profit school is located in Rolling Meadows but has students from Arlington Heights, Palatine, Fox River Grove, Bensenville, Mt. Prospect, Wheeling, Des Plaines, Elk Grove Village, Hoffman Estates as well as Rolling Meadows.

THE SCHOOL holds daily classes from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. including carefully supervised play periods and lunch hour. Classes are held in rooms of the Community church of Rolling Meadows at Kirchoff rd. and Meadow dr

This year for the first time the school will hold summer sessions from July 5 to August 26, keepink the training program "alive" on a year-round basis for the retarded children.

The school is supported by the generous contributions of individuals and civic groups in this area. In addition parents pay a nominal tuition. Volunteer workers aid the teachers during the class day to hold expenses down. Additional volunteers are always being sought by the group.

NEXT "BIG" program for the school is a school building designed for the needs of the retarded children. Start of the building fund came from donations by the Rolling Meadows Jaycees, Junior Woman's club and Lions, and further fund programs have enlarged the special fund. Current negotiations are underway with Rolling Meadows developer Kimball Hill for a donation of land suitable for the school.

The school for retarded children started in October, 1955, when Mrs. Arthur Krause started a Sunday school class for retarded children sponsored by the Rolling Meadows Community church. In March, 1956, Mrs. Krause contacted parents of retarded children through a series of articles in Paddock Publications, inviting them to form a parent group. In April, 1956, the daily school started with eight students. Known as the Community school for Retarded Children, classes were held in the Community church "Barn" from 9 a.m. to noon. Teacher for the school was Mrs. Mae Filloon, Palatine.

The school issued invitations to civic groups to view a film "One Lighted Candle" and hear a program on the educational problems of the retarded child. Response was very favorable, and many groups pledged their support and help.

In 1958 the school moved to larger quarters in the new Community church building. The school name was changed to Clearbrook school. A new teacher, Mrs. Russell Fredericksen, Arlington Heights, took over classes. She is aided by volunteers and an assistant teacher, Mrs. George Bombach, Palatine.

IN MARCH of this year Delilah White, child psychologist of the Levinson Research foundation completed testing of each child in the school. The examinations, conducted at the school, will be held annually. This report will aid the teachers as a basis for more effective teaching programs for the individual children, school officials pointed out.

The school is licensed by the State of Illinois. Robert Weed, current president of the school parent group, noted the school had received "very favorable comments" from inspectors regarding the discipline of children in this type of school.

Enrollment of the school is now at 16 students with five additional applications pending admission. (SS
